NEW DOCENT SERVICE AT MUSEUM OF FINE ARTS

Lecture on Wood Engraving by Prof. Harry L. Seaver Next Sunday

An excellent opportunity is being offered to members of the Tech community who are interested in the Museum of Fine Arts to attend a lecture on Sunday, March 14. The lecture will be given by Professor Harry L. Seaver, a renowned wood engraver, and will focus on the technique of wood engraving. The lecture will take place at 3 p.m. in the Museum's Lecture Hall.

"The India"

The New 'Little Umbrella With the Big Spread' is the umbrella which has aroused enthusiastic interest wherever shown.

A small umbrella having ten ribs (the ordinary one having 7 or 8), unusually sturdy, resisting the temptation to turn inside out in high winds, yet delightfully light and graceful when outspread, covering more than the usual space.

The edges of the ribs for about three inches are pliable; when extended and open a greater spread is afforded than the ordinary kind, and the ladies will not break their feathers.

Handsome mission wood handles, coverings of union silk and pure silk. Better protection from the rain and a great lessening of bulk and size.

This is in an important addition to the history of umbrella construction.

We confidently prophesy in a year or so all umbrellas will be demanded upon this idea.

The men's size is of walking length, but with a 30-inch spread overhead instead of that possessed by the 28-inch regulation umbrellas. We are pleased to state that in a very short time we shall be offering many other grades at varying prices.

WASHINGTON, D. C.
SPECIAL ORDERS FROM WASHINGTON RECEIVED

Major Golden Ordered to have Battalion Leave at Once

CONSTERNATION AT TECH

President Taft Gives Reasons for Sending Army to Texas.

Washington, D. C., March 10, 1911.

Major Louis R. Golden, M. I. T. C. C.

Issue call to arms at once for M. I. T. Battalion, and have your men ready to leave for Texas border at an hour's notice.

(Signed) P. C. NOXE

Technology's annual military hop was rudely interrupted early this morning when a breathless, bare-headed messenger boy rushed into the hall-room of the Tuileries with a special order from Secretary of War, relative to the movement of the Technology battalion to the scene of war in Texas.

The messaged was a blank sheet, addressed to the members of the battalion present at the hall, and visions of actual bloodshed and carnage were seen by all.

Immediately upon Major Golden's announcement of the receipt of the special order, a detail was sent to the freshman bandstands to prepare those not present at the hop for the probable departure for Texas. Unluckily in the face of possible death on the coming expedition the members of the Institute's standing army continued to trip the light fantastic for a few hours more, while each fair damsel gazed into the eyes of her soldier papa, as they waited slowly across the hall to the appropriate tune of "My Boy Hero!"

This morning between ten o'clock, the local battalion is ordered to report to Major Golden with full marching equipment. It is not known yet just when the start for Texas will be made, but all indications point to an early departure.

Our Washington correspondent is now at the front, having made a quick trip from the Capitol to San Antonio in a fast train. Officers of the army are working day and night rushing the preparation for the expected movement of the Technology standing army, both in a military and administrative sense, all preparations for fortifications along the border are being held up until the Institute's mechanical services are to be called to the field of battle.

The officers stationed at San Antonio have greatly relieved by the dispatches received from Secretary Knox, to the effect that the Institute Battalion is due at almost any moment. Realizing the wonderful prowess of the Technology standing army, both in a military and administrative sense, all preparations for fortifications along the border are being held up until the Institute's mechanical services are on the spot.

President Taft has finally given the orders for the movement of the army at once to the Texas border. The reasons may be summarized as follows: (1) to enforce neutrality laws; (2) to prevent independent government in Lower California; (3) to protect property of the United States.
