I. 3.51 CALIBER
Self-Loading Rifle

As its name indicates, this rifle reloads itself, the recoil of the expended cartridge doing the work. This places the complete control of the weapon under the trigger finger, which permits rapid shooting with great ease and accuracy. The .351 Caliber High-Power cartridge, has tremendous killing power, making it heavy enough for the largest game.

Catalogue fully descriptive of this rifle, "The Gun that Shoots Through Steel" sent upon request.

FRESHMAN TELLS OF HARE AND HOUNDS

The hare started from the Hyde Park Y. M. C. A. and streaked out immediately for the open country. They led the hounds a merry chase through fields and woods. The hares covered their tracks so well, that the hounds were often baffled. This made the pace nice and easy.

The adventures of a freshman on this run are here set down as taken:

"We started from the Y. M. C. A. and lost the hounds immediately. This was my first disappointment for I had hoped to see some of the fair dames Rose Simpson tells of. My next disappointment was even greater. It was in the shape of a hill we had to climb to get out of Hyde Park. It was the longest and steepest hill I've ever seen. Hal, way up my legs were tired, my wind was gone and I wondered, this was the "easy run" advertised in The Tech. What terrified me most, was the act of the rear servant to take the hill philosophically and easily. But the hounds wanted or run at the top. When I joined them I was surprised to learn that every one thought the hill steep. Even "Watty" admitted it to be a pretty hill.

"Here, we ran along a level road.

I was feeling fine. I ran right alongside Watkins (he's the best runner in college you know) and some times I could get ahead of him. He did not seem to like to have a freshman ahead of him because every time I was besting him, he would yell, "Make it slower, fellows, wait for everybody.'

"We lost the trail at the first cross roads. Some one shouted, 'Spread out for trail' and the crowd scattered. Watkins and I ran a good ways up one road, looking for trail. Just as we were about to turn back, Ralph, the chase Captain, who was a quarter of a mile up the other road yelled, 'Trail! Trail!' How that man Watkins ran to catch up. It must have been all bluff about his wanting to wait for some one else. He was back with the bunch before I had sighted them. But I guess he told them I was coming for they were all prancing up and down in the road waiting for something.

"After that, we romped through wooded glades and orchards. We found briars and boulders to scratch our legs on and a glade and orchards. We found briars and
