RESUME OF MUSICAL CLUBS' SEASON

Long Series of Entertaining Concerts Closed with Cash Surplus

NEXT YEAR'S PLANS

Intention is to Take a Long Western Mid-Year Trip

Last week, Wednesday night saw the conclusion of one of the most successful years, financially musically and socially that the combined Musical Clubs have had. The first concert was given under the auspices of the Auburndale Improvement Society, in Norumbega Hall, and was followed by a dance. On December sixteenth, the usual Winter Concert and Dance in Copley Hall was crowded, and was even better than the year before. On January fourth, the Glee Club entertained the Kappa Alpha Theta Fraternity, at Providence. A dance followed that January twentieth, the Clubs went to Randolph, to play for the Men's Club of the Congregational Church, and February seventh gave a concert at the Williams School, Chelsea, under the auspices of the Teachers' Association. One of the best occasions was the concert at the Wellesley Hills Tennis Club, February twenty-first, there being many of the college girls present. The dance lasted till twelve. The next day, the Clubs went to Northampton, arriving about noon. Those who went on the trip will not forget for many a day the many interesting and funny things that happened. March seventh, there was a concert at Waverley preceded by a supper and March fourteenth, one at Dorchester. It was here that Richardson made his first real debut as a soloist. March twentieth, a concert was given in Lynn before a packed house at the Congregational Church. April tenth as part of the Technology Congress celebration at Symphony Hall, the Clubs gave their most popular numbers before a large body of Alumni. Junior Week, April nineteenth, the Spring Concert and Dance was given in Copley Hall, the decorations being especially attractive. A fact worthy of mention is that for the first time in many years, both the Spring and Winter Concerts were financially successful. The clubs started out with deficit at the beginning of the year and the highest praise is due the management that they have now a cash balance with all liabilities paid. Part of money was spent in an excellent banquet after Musical Night. Next year, the call for men will be sent out early as it is planned to take a Western trip during Christmas vacation. Such cities as New York, Buffalo, Chicago, Cincinnati, and Pittsburg will probably be visited. At the banquet, the following officers were elected: President—H. K. Franzheim; Vice-President—S. W. Selfridge; Secretary—J. A. Applequest; Business Mgr.—H. H. Partridge; Asst. Business Mgr.—W. H. Brotherton.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY NOTICE

Any member of the Chemical Society who has not received a ballot for annual elections may obtain one by leaving a note at Cage for L. M. White, Sec. All ballots must be returned to the secretary at the Cage by Thursday, May 11, at 5 P. M.

ELOQUENT ADDRESS AT CONVOCAION

On "Counting the Cost" Rabbi J. L. Levi Spoke of Sacrifices of Geniuses

VERY LARGE ATTENDANCE

Prof. Dewey Presided in Absence of President Maclaurin

In the absence of President Maclaurin Professor Dewey presided over the Convocation, yesterday in Huntington Hall. Rabbi J. Leonard Levi, of Pittsburg, addressed the large audience of students on the subject, "Counting the Cost." Rabbi Levi in an eloquent address spoke of the cost of great and enduring deeds, and how devoted heroes from the beginning of time have done their work regardless of the cost or personal sacrifice. He said that progress is like a tug-of-war between two antagonists. One party is called conservative, the party contented with the established order of things, and willing to go without doubtful improvements or new doctrines rather than see that established order interfered with or modified in any way; the other party is called radical, and it looks constantly to the future and is striving for better things, and higher ideals, regardless of the cost. The radicals are constantly pulling the conservatives towards them. Where the radicals stood at one time the conservatives stand to-day, and where the radicals stand to-day, the conservatives will stand to-morrow. The history of civilization is brought before the mind by this comparison. In the struggle for political liberty, it was a few iron willed English Barons who wrung Magna Charta for the English people from King John; in this country, it was a few enlightened patriots who came forward to protest against the wrongs of the British Government and prepared the way for the Revolution. These men never hesitated on account of the cost. As with patriots so it is with heroes of the mind. Socrates was condemned by his fellowmen to drink the cup of poison, Galileo and Copernicus, were outcasts of society because their scientific discoveries conflicted with the accepted ideas of their time, while Huxley and Spencer were insulted on the street and vilified by every theological cur for the enlightened doctrines they taught. Michael Angelo was told, when painting his immortal works on the ceiling of St. Peter's dome, that lying on his back all day, and day after day, would ruin his health; but nevertheless, the great artist did his work and lived on bread and water. Raphael, for the love of art alone, lived on bread and water while he executed his work when he might have lived in ease and luxury had he devoted his talent to some material occupation. The master mind, declared the speaker, never counts the cost. It accomplishes and pays the price.

Rabbi Levi then said that this age demanded great sacrifices as did any preceding age. We would like to be able to finish our course here, he said, in four months; but four years of hard work was the price every one had to pay. To-day Parre, the greatest surgeon of the fifteenth century, would be amazed at the surgical operations performed in our hospitals. Morse would be astounded to receive the results of a league game of baseball on a transatlantic liner a thousand miles from shore, while we to-day, wondering at what we call the marvels of our present civilization, would be equally amazed could we behold the achievements of a future age.

In concluding his address the Rabbi said that there were two great painters

COMPLETE TEAM FOR DARTMOUTH MEET

Sufficient Money Has Been Raised To Take Twenty-Eight Men On Trip

COMPLETE LIST BELOW

Athletic Association Wishes to Thank Donors of Cash

A full track team to go to the Dartmouth Meet. That is what has been accomplished by the hustling of the Athletic Association men and the generosity of some of the men of the Institute during a part of two days. When it was time to select the men for the Dartmouth Meet the management found that there was only money enough available to send sixteen, which meant that if all of those sixteen men placed in the meet it would be impossible for the Institute team to win. By scurrying around the management secured donations for the purpose of over $200 or more than was needed, so that some has been returned. For this the Athletic Association desires to take this opportunity to thank the following: Dr. Rockwell, Theta Chi, Delta Psi, Lambda Phi, Delta Upsilon, Phi Beta Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Theta Delta Chi, Phi Kappa Sigma, Alpha Tau Omega, Delta Tau Delta, Phi Sigma Kappa, Chi Phi, Sigma Chi, Phi Gamma Delta, Delta Kappa Epsilon, and the Tech Chambers.

The meet will take place on Friday, May 12, and will begin at three o'clock. The list of men below is the official one for those to be taken on the trip, and the men contained therein must report to the Coach in the North Station not later than 3.45 on Thursday afternoon, May 11. The train leaves the station at 4 p.m. so that all must be on hand in good season in order that there be no last minute difficulties. The team will return from Hanover on Saturday, leaving there on the 11.19 a.m. train. For the men who feel that they must attend the Saturday classes, there is a train that leaves Hanover at 2.50 Saturday morning and arrives in Boston at 8.05.

As a final caution to the men, Capt. Salisbury states that all of them must take full regulation suits with all insignia. In each of the events each college enters five men and starts three.

The men scheduled to take the trip are Allen, Benson, Bylund, Chamberlain Cummings, Dalrymple, E. Ferry, Fox, Germain, Greenleaf, Gould or Shepard, Guething, Hadley, L. S. Hall, MacLeod, Metcalf, Munch, Nye, Ruby, Salisbury, Shedd, Thompson, Watkins, White, Wilson, Coach Kanaly, Assistant Manager Waterman, Rubber Walker.

MINING SOCIETY TO HOLD FINAL MEETING

At the last meeting of a successful year, the Mining Society will be addressed by Professor Richards of the Mining Department, at the Union at eight o'clock to-night. In his usual interesting manner, he will address those present on an entirely new subject and should prove as usually, very humorous and interesting.

Professor Richards has lately been out West and probably might talk on some subject concerning his recent trip; but to date, his talk is a secret and since it is so, will attract a number of members of the society and a number of outsiders.

Following the speech, the election of next year's officers will take place and it is therefore necessary for all members of the Society to be present. A special invitation is offered to the sophomores who have not been attending the previous lectures.

MECHANICS ARTS HIGH SCHOOL CLUB BANQUET

Head-master Parmenter, Mr. Woodward, and Mr. Howard Addressed The Society

OFFICERS ELECTED

Movement to Expand Activities of Alumni Association Described

Amid a scene of jolly good-fellowship, the Mechanics Arts High School Club of Technology opened the last meeting and big banquet of the year. There were present at the meeting, in addition to the regular members, several seniors from the High School who were receiving their first impressions of the Institute, intending to come here next year. The invited guests of the evening included Head-master Parmenter and Mr. Woodward from the school, and Mr. Howard of the Institute's instructing staff.

During the course of the evening, the assembly was regaled with musical selections by Messrs. Lewis and Richardson, of the Musical Clubs.

The election of officers for next year was first disposed of, the results being as follows:—President, A. J. Pastene, '13; Vice-President, W. J. Hauser, '14; Secretary-Treasurer, L. F. Walsh, '14; and to the executive committee, H. S. Payson, '12.

The first speaker of the evening was Mr. Woodward, one of the most popular teachers of the High School.

Mr. Woodward made a brave attempt at what he said was his maiden effort, the counselling of the graduates of the high school at the Institute, and, indeed, he succeeded admirably well. Mr. Woodward said that it was all right to work while working and to play while playing, but said that it should, nevertheless, also read "Don't play while you should be working and don't work while you are playing." His counsel was very sincere and made a very good impression upon the fellows.

The next speaker of the evening was Dr. Parmenter, the head-master. After expressing his great pleasure at again meeting the boys he said that the Mechanic Arts High School was going along in first rate style. He emphasized the fact that the school was gradually reverting to the original policy of the school. This policy was somewhat side-tracked when the membership of the school increased abnormally at the evidence of its value. The Mechanics Arts High School, he said, was really similar in type to the Institute and afforded to the man who had the Institute as an objective point a very good training.

Then Mr. Howard of the Institute spoke to the Club on subjects vitally connected with club and the fellows' connection with the Alumni.

Following Mr. Howard's remarks, the Club adjourned to the large room of the Union. Then the Union rang out with the old Tech songs, a pleasant experience for the prospective Tech men.

CORRECTION

The score of the chess match was misstated as being 4 1-2 to 1-2 in favor of Harvard. The true score was 3 1-2 to 1 1-2, Kaufman having won his match from Hadley of Harvard.

UNDER LOCK AND KEY There has been some talk concerning petty thievery about the Union and the Gymnasium during the past year. This is, no doubt, one of the most contemptible evils which is apt to show itself where a large number of men are grouped together. Perhaps, more serious is the stealing of another's time and work. Men who have perchance forgotten to write up certain Laboratory reports, or more likely are too lazy to write them up themselves, go to the cases where the reports are returned for correction and help themselves to such reports as suit their liking and the man who loses his report must write a new one or take a D as his final mark. This dishonesty is obviously unjust to all concerned. The writer knows of a case where this took place and the man who had his report stolen got into considerable trouble over the matter. Should there not be some method to alleviate this difficulty? Would it not be advisable to keep these reports under lock and key between classes? Such a custom would certainly cost small inconvenience and would protect the faithful student from the injustices resulting from the present loose system.

The annual "Cane Scrap" at Williams was won this year by the Sophomores by a score of 93-91.

BANQUET OF TECH CATHOLIC CLUB

Held To-night at Crawford House
Gift of $100 to Club

At 6.30 to-night, the Catholic Club of the Institute will entertain a number of prominent speakers at its big annual banquet at the Crawford House. Much enthusiasm has been displayed by the members during the past year and this accounts for the club's social and financial success as shown by the treasurer's report.

The speakers will include such men as Judge M. I. Murray, Mr. Louis K. Rourke Commissioner of the Public Works, and Dr. Harrington of the Boston Health Commission, who should prove interesting to every member. No more attractive menu could be prepared by the chairman of the committee, L. S. Walsh '12, and he promises to satisfy the appetite of all present.

The election of officers for next year will take place after the speeches and then plans for the improvement of the club both socially and financially will be discussed and all suggestions from individual members will be considered. The following officers will be elected:— President, Vice-President, Secretary-Treasurer, and four members of the executive Committee. A gift of $100 to the club by Mrs. M. J. Madison of this city will receive very special consideration and all should be present to offer their advice. The jovial retiring president Thomas Stephen Killion, '11 with his usual brand of good and amusing jokes will preside. All should try to be present at this affair for it will surely be interesting and beneficial and worth anyone's time and convenience.

IN THE LIMELIGHT

The Professional Societies seem to be making their final splurges, this week.

Going to Europe this summer as usual, I suppose.

That Crew story was only a fake they say. Well, The Tech has to do something once in a while to try and wake the place up to the fact that they have a crew.

FINAL BANQUET OF ARCHITECTS

Will be Held at Hotel Thorndike
To-night—Duquesne, of Harvard, Speaks

To-night, the Architectural Society will hold its last social affair of the year,—its big annual banquet. The banquet is to be held at the Thorndike Hotel. It promises to be a most fitting climax to the Society's successful season, a season replete with activity and social successes.

The splendid list of speakers that the Society has secured for the event makes it certain that that part of the banquet will be well carried off. The principal speaker of the evening will be Mr. R. A. Cram, one of Boston's most successful architects.

The other guests of the evening will include Professors Duquesne and Warren of Harvard, Mr. Guy Lowell of Boston, Professors Chandler and Gardner and Mr. Cox of the Institute.

It is quite fortunate that Professor E. J. A. Duquesne of Paris who is now connected with the Harvard Architectural Department has been secured as a speaker and guest.

At this banquet, the officers of the Society for next year will be installed. They are as follows:

- President : Albert Harkness, 1912.
- Vice-President : G. I. Edgerton, 1912.
- Secretary : Sidney L. Day, 1912.
- Treasurer : P. J. Horgan, 1913.
- Executive Committee : G. Swenson, 1912, T. R. Prouty, 1912, and G. B. Brigham, 1912.

It is expected that the evening will be made as lively as possible with cheers and songs and general good spirit. Music will probably be furnished by the Musical Clubs.

he liked to compare and to take as an illustration of counting the cost. One is called the "Conquerors" by a great French artist. It represents Rameses, the Egyptian, Nebuchadnezzar, the renowned Babylonian king, Alexander, the conqueror of Persia and Caesar, the greatest soldier of antiquity, riding side by side, while behind them ride Charlemagne and Napoleon the Great, the greatest military geniuses of all times. As far back as the eye can reach are strewn stiff mutilated corpses. These represent the price paid when these conquerors rode to victory.

The other painting also called the "Conquerors" represents Moses, Isaiah of Babylon, Isaiah of Judea, Jeremiah, the man of sorrows, surrounded by the twelve lesser Prophets, while in the background signifying that they sprang from the same race, stand the twelve Apostles around Christ. The men are clad in sheep skins and bear the staff of shepherds. The age will come, declared the Rabbi, when all mankind will point to this painting and say they were the true conquerors.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY BALLOTS DISTRIBUTED

Returns to be Announced To-morrow Night at Annual Banquet at
