COMPENSATION FOR INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS

Professor Doten Tells the Story of Recent Convention in Chicago.

13 QUESTIONS SUBMITTED

By Massachusetts Commission Answered Satisfactorily and

Professor Doten, who is chief Investigator for the Massachusetts Commission on Compensation for Industrial Accidents, has furnished the following information in regard to a conference of commissioners recently held at Chicago, Ill.

This conference was called by the Massachusetts Commission, which was instructed by a resolution of the General Court, under which the Commission operates, to investigate other laws and systems in operation in other States and countries, concerning the receipt of compensation for injuries and accidents in the field to join in a conference at some future date.

It is presented from the very beginning of its work that the most important question to be done was to secure some degree of uniformity in the legislation proposed in the several States now at work upon such a subject. Shortly after the commission was organized last July an invitation was sent out to other commissions at the same general field to join in a conference at some future date and place to be settled by mutual agreement. Since sending out this first letter three other commissions have been established. It was finally decided to hold this conference immediately, after the fall session, and Chicago was chosen as the place of meeting.

On November 15th representatives of the New Jersey, New York, Wisconsin, Ohio, Minnesota, Montana, and Maine, as well as Minnesota, the United States Bureau of Labor, and a special committee of commissioners on Universal Health, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., were appointed by the Governor of Commission at Hotel La Salle in Chicago. In order that the conference might be effective and its deliberations the public and newspaper correspondents were excluded from the meetings.

Thirteen fundamental questions were submitted by the Massachusetts Commission for the consideration of the other States. These questions, with the conclusions arrived at by general consent, follow:

1. That all employments shall be covered. All employments.

2. That all injuries be covered in the respective laws.

3. That all employments shall be covered. All injuries.

4. That all employments shall be covered in the respective laws.

5. That all employments shall be covered in the respective laws.

6. That all employments shall be covered in the respective laws.

7. That all employments shall be covered in the respective laws.

8. That all employments shall be covered in the respective laws.

9. That all employments shall be covered in the respective laws.

10. That all employments shall be covered in the respective laws.

11. That all employments shall be covered in the respective laws.

12. That all employments shall be covered in the respective laws.

13. That all employments shall be covered in the respective laws.

A meeting will be held at the Union at 2:30 P. M., Monday, December 5th, to discuss the organization of a Technology swimming team. It is especially desired that all men who can swim, or are interested in swimming, be present to talk over the establishment of such a branch of activities at the Institute. Members of the Faculty and the student body believe that the formation of a swimming team would be a very decided addition to Institute life, and would tend to foster the Technology spirit. Several swimmers probably could be found who have not been in competitive swimming events so much desired as that of men with previous experience. At the meeting are probable that the services of an expert professional coach can be secured. Several swimmers have been investigated, but not yet definite will be decided upon meeting Monday. It is of prime importance that all men interested could come to the Union at any afternoon. However, in case many find it impossible to attend the meeting, he will be present at the Union and address and address at the Case for "Swimming" team will be of any action which may take place.

FINANCE COMMISSION STARTS ITS LABORS

As a beginning of its work the Finance Commission appointed by the Massachusetts Commission has sent out letters to the proper officials of the various activities explaining the reasons for which the commission was created, and asking for answers to the following three questions:

(1) Did you commence this year a balance or a deficit? If so, how much, in a case of a deficit to whom was it owed?

(2) Were the receipts and expenditures from the beginning of the year?

(3) Please tell us, according to your present knowledge and judgment, what the prospects of your activity are for the balance of the year? Are you working planned and to financial stability.

In all, the commission has been met with the men, and to have the opportunity of explaining these questions more fully, a dinner is to be given by the Finance Commission on Wednesday, December 7.

The letter is signed by Howard L. Comstock, 1895; I. W. Litchfield, 1895; Donald R. Davis, 1911, and M. R. Schaff, 1905.

J. W. LIEB, JR., ADDRESSES ELECTRICAL SOCIETY WITH TALKS ON HISTORY OF ENGINEERING AND ETHICS.

PROF. JACKSON AN ADMIRABLE HOST.

Announcement of Special Meeting of Electrical Engineering Society.

Last evening the members of the Electrical Engineering Society were given a most enjoyable entertainment. A splendid buffet luncheon, tastefully prepared by Head Waiter Alden, and his assistants was served. Professor Jackson certainly lifted up his reputation as being a most hospitable and pleasant host.

On the luncheon Monday, J. W. Lieb, Jr., Vice-President of the New York Edison Company, gave a most interesting lecture on "Electrical Ethics." Mr. Lieb is a graduate of the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, and a past president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

In the early days the professions were three in number—Theology, Law, and Medicine. The profession of Engineering, the type of work now known as electrical engineering was all included under the term architecture.

But little theoretical knowledge was available at this time, and the man practicing his art was forced to depend chiefly on his own skill and originality. Without doubt the greatest inventive genius (and probably the greatest one who has ever lived) was Leonardo da Vinci. The enormity of his genius is astounding. He was a man of many-sided mind, who has ever lived. He was Leonardo da Vinci. The enormity of his genius is astounding. He was a man of many-sided mind, and besides he must be a master of some descriptions one can not possibly limit to his inventions.

The other day, one of the boys who sells The Tech in the corridors was overheard to remark, "Ain't it funny that rich fellers who go to Tech are afraid to spend two cents for The Tech?! We think it strange, too. To see a copy of The Tech pass from hand to hand, as the football drawing room, we would certainly think that The Tech was worth the trivial price, but to note the sale returns, indicating the proportion of buyers, one might judge otherwise. Which is the correct indicator of the value of The Tech to the student body? We believe we have now practically remeasured the cause for complaint concerning the lateness of publication and the lack of convenient distribution. The Tech for some time in the past has been in good season and is on sale in the most frequented of the Institute buildings, and yet the sales are not what they ought to be. The Tech is man still close with his pennies and reads The Tech over his neighbor's shoulder. "Funny, ain't it?"

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following circular letter has been received, which has, it is understood, been distributed among the students of the Institute. As stated in yesterday's issue, it is a rule of The Tech as well as of every other newspaper not to publish anonymous communications. We have publicly offered to print S. P. N.'s letter if he properly identifies himself. Furthermore, we agree to publish the real names of both Demi Tasse and Bud Weiser, provided S. P. N. will permit his to be printed at the same time. How about BACKDROP now? For the personal edification of S. P. N. I would like to refer him to a remark of one of your "kid" sales agents, who said the other day: "Isn't it that there are a lot of rich fellers at Tech who are afraid to spend two cents for a Tech?"

Respectfully,

S. P. N.

TECH VS. CRESCENTS
AT BOSTON ARENA

The hockey season opens tonight at 7:30 P. M., with a game between The Tech and the Boston Crescents. The lineup will probably be as follows: Captain Gould, 1911, Stucklen, 1911, Scoville, 1911, Forward: Dickens, 1913, center point, Follemius, 1911, or Woodward, 1912, point, and Hallock, 1912. As this is the first game and the Crescents have been champions of the Boston League for the past two years, it is hoped that a large delegations from the Institute will turn out to witness the contest.

The women at Symphony are to hold a track meet. Their practice is held every afternoon on a special athletic field. Last year several promising track athletes were developed, and the meet formed an important part of the year's program.

The Cosmopolitan Club of Chicago devoted one of its evenings to a discussion of courting. An effort was made to have the members from each foreign nation describe the methods of love-making used in their own country.
