EMPLOYER'S RELATIONS TO HIS EMPLOYEE

Mr. George A. Flynn, Corporation Counsel For Boston, Will Speak.

AT CATHOLIC CLUB MEETING.

Subject of Industrial Accidents Being Studied With Great Interest by All Engineering Concerns.

At the fifth regular meeting of the Catholic Club, which will be held next Wednesday, January 11, at 6 P. M., in the Union, Mr. George A. Flynn, assistant corporation counsel of the city of Boston, is to give a very interesting and timely lecture on "Industrial Accidents and the Relation of Employer to Employee."

This lecture will be of especial interest to us on account of the recent steps taken to bring the employer and employee into closer relations, and which has resulted in better protection for the employee.

This subject is being studied with great interest by all engineering concerns, and their efforts to treat their employees fairly is shown in the Employers' Liability Act which is being framed and is to be introduced in the Massachusetts State Legislature this year. Mr. Flynn has made a special study of the liabilities resulting from accidents and will, without doubt, give a very interesting and most instructive lecture.

This meeting will be the last one before the annual dance which will be held in Whitney Hall, Brookline, on Wednesday, February 8. It is, therefore, important that all members should attend. The dance committee wishes to announce that everyone who wishes to have invitations sent to his friends must hand in the names and addresses to J. A. Herlihy, Box 30, Cage, Saturday, January 14th, at the latest. This is important as the invitations are to be sent out next week.

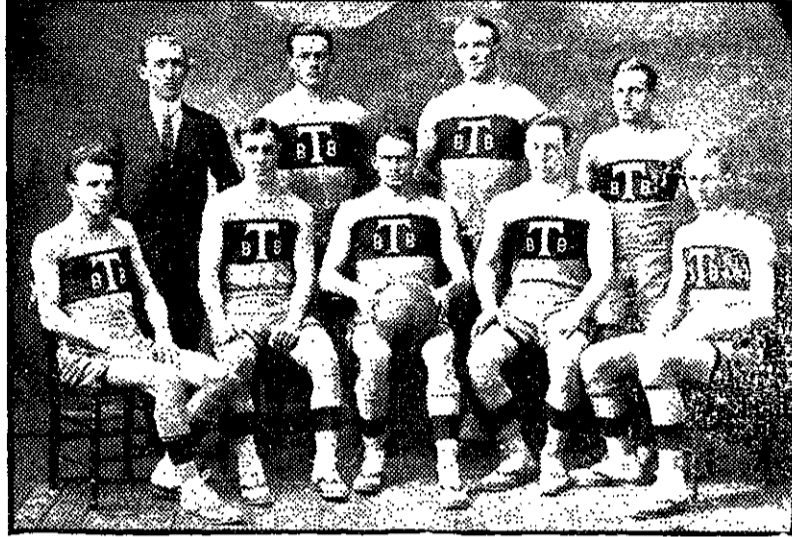

CIVIL ENGINEERING PINS HAVE ARRIVED

Long Delayed Pins Heartily Approved of by Society.

After some delay the pins and fobs for the Civil Engineering Society arrived yesterday morning. For the past few years the society has been considering the question of pins, and at the beginning of this year a committee was appointed to look into the matter. Dean Burton and Professor Allen of the Department of Civil Engineering suggested a very good design which was approved by the society. The general form of the pin is a section of a level rod in silver, with a Boston target in red and gray enamel. On the target is the inscription: "Civil Engineering Society, M. I. T.," in raised letters. The whole design is very neat and represents very well the idea of the society, as the level rod is the most universally used instrument of the civil engineering profession. The price at which the pins were furnished is also very reasonable, due to the large order, the pins coming to eighty-five cents, and one dollar for the fobs. Some dissatisfaction was expressed about the latter, due to their being mounted upon poor leather, and it is probable that they will be changed.

Are you a candidate for those theatre tickets this week? There is still plenty of time to start if you haven't already.

Tech Show, 1911, is soon to issue a call for music writers.

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM.

TECH BASKETBALL TEAM PLAY BROWN

Hard, Fast Game Expected On Saturday Night at the Gymnasium.

BROWN FAST TEAM.

Second Team Will Play the Boylston Five Between the Halves.

The next game on the basketball schedule is that with Brown University here in our own Gym on the 14th of January, next Saturday. The squad will be in fine condition for that game and will in all probability play a better game than they have at any time this season. The Second team will go against the strong Boylston five, a local team with a good reputation at present.

Brown has always been a hard proposition for the Institute teams to handle in any sport, but it dopes out that the basketball team should get away with a victory this year in their own Gym as it is. The University went against the team from Rhode Island State College last Saturday night on the Providence floor and could only pull out with a six point victory. McKay is the only old man on the team, though Snell was playing last year part of the time. Sprackling, the star football and basketball man, is not playing this year for faculty reasons, and his place is hard to fill. The new men are not as strong as they should be and the game, their first of the season, was rather slow. Captain McKay was the star of the evening, and is playing the same old game at forward that will be remembered by all those who saw the Brown game in the Gym last year.

Captain Parker gave the team a hard workout last night at the Gym, and the Seconds had more trouble than ever before in their efforts to prevent a Varsity score. All the men went through the Dartmouth game in fine shape, for there is not even a minor injury to be found on the squad. They seemed to find the basket with almost machine-like regularity, and every play went off perfectly. "Bill" Hargraves was at practice again and spoke very highly of the work the team did. He has been away for some time and he says that they have made a great deal of improvement while he has been absent. Palmer has fully recovered from his Christmas trip and is again shooting with his usual cleverness. The whole team played with a snap that has been lacking for several days, and which is very encouraging to the management.

MAN-FLYING KITES AS WIRELESS STATIONS

First Experiment Made in Los Angeles By S. F. Perkins of Boston.

MAY BE USED AS TARGETS.

Sharpshooters in Aeroplanes May Be Trained by Their Use.

In the future, the man carrying kite is going to be one of the principal instruments of warfare if the experiment of Mr. S. F. Perkins of Boston at Los Angeles, lately, is any index of the matter. The principal reason for the use of this kite is its serviceability as a wireless telegraphy station. In the experiment that is referred to the aerial was carried aloft several hundred feet, and it was easily demonstrated how quickly an emergency wireless station could be established in time of war. Another use of the man-flying kites is that of a target for the practice of sharpshooters carried in aeroplanes. The kites can be made to bob about so as to cause the sharpshooter to keep on the alert. Life-sized dummies are attached to the kites as a further target.

CARNEGIE TRUST CO. WAS UNAIDED

Conservative New York Banks Seemed to Resent Coming of New Interests.

In regard to the closing of the Carnegie Trust Company the New York Commercial comments as follows:

"When the run on the Carnegie Trust Company was started other banks and trust companies did not offer to come to its aid. The weekly bank statement yesterday showed a gain of $10,800,000 in actual cash on hand and a gain of $12,000,000 in surplus reserve, while there was a decrease in loans of $22,000,000.

"When the president of one of the large banks was asked why the Carnegie company was not helped when the bank statement showed this condition, he said:

"A farmer picks a bad apple out of a barrel to save the others."

"Here the trouble of the Carnegie company and the danger that confronted the other institutions were laid in large part to jealousy. It was said that the old and conservative institutions in the financial district resented the coming into their field of a

The men above named have in their hands the choice of those who will take charge of the 1913 Technique. The name of every man in the class is considered in this selection, and if a man to be considered is on the committee he has to leave the room while his name is before the board. The class has an abundance of good material from which to choose the editors of its year book, so the 1913 annual should be a good one.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1911.

Rumor again comes to The Tech concerning politics in the Sophomore class, this time in connection with elections to the Technique Electoral Committee. Stories of combines, of personal appeals, the button-hole system and other methods of the political lobbyist are rumored about the Institute, and they do not sound well. The political machine and the political campaign may be successful in particular instances, but they insure a forced method of selection which may or may not represent the sentiments of the voting class. Moreover, such methods are bound to react against the candidate. Forced popularity is sure to be followed by the reverse. It is but a law of human nature. Political methods among Institute men are short-sighted as well as misrepresentative, and are decidedly to be avoided.

Some time ago The Tech issued a call for candidates for the advertising department. The response to the call was disappointing, to say the least. The call is now repeated with the hope that men who intend to remain in Boston during the mid-year holidays will take advantage of the opportunity to affiliate themselves with the paper and solicit advertisements during the short respite after the examinations. Members of all classes will be welcome in this work, and especially members of the lower two classes, who will thus be in training for positions of greater responsibility later. The Business Manager will be glad to meet anyone interested and give details as to assignments, commissions, etc.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

The Civil Engineering Department looks like the milky way. Oh you C. E. Soc. pins.

H. S. Benson got the tickets for last week's "Limelight." Who next?

One man in the Union tonight and he is studying.

The luncheon served at the Women's Association last Saturday must have been great—at least the chicken pie last night was extra good.

Save Saturday night for the Tech-Brown game at the Gym.

Six more days.

Have you as many exams as the rest of us? If you haven't you might give us a little dope for The Tech. It will be highly appreciated.

ALL FOOLS ARE NOT DEAD YET!

(From one of the Boston Dailies.)
 Technology students who have been specializing in science are trying to solve a problem that arose in front of their building last Saturday evening, when the forward wheels of an electric car started down Boylston street, while the rear wheels were headed in the direction of Huntington avenue. They cannot yet understand why, when the power was reversed and an attempt was made to back the car, the rear wheels went forward. If the backing up process had been continued the car would have turned round in a circle.

FLUID CRYSTALS TO BE DISCUSSED

Prof F. M. Jaeger of University of Gronigen Will Lecture in Lowell Building.

Professor F. M. Jaeger of the University of Gronigen, Holland, will give an illustrated lecture in Room 6, Lowell Building, at 8 o'clock on Thursday, January 12, on "Fluid Crystals." This is a subject that is interesting chemists the world over, and it is an exceptional chance for Institute men to enlarge their knowledge in that direction. Professor Jaeger's lantern slides are said to be much out of the ordinary, and this will add to the interest of the talk.

COURT FOR BUSINESS ARBITRATION PROPOSED

New York Chamber of Commerce
Is to Establish Court For Honest Merchants.

The New York Chamber of Commerce is considering the organization of a court of commercial arbitration. Nearly a year ago a committee was appointed to investigate the matter, and their plan was presented to the chamber at their January meeting, which was held last Thursday. There are quite a few changes to be made in the by-laws, so that final action cannot be taken until February. There is no doubt, however, that the court will be authorized at that meeting. The feature of the plan is the establishment of a tribunal where business men who desire to be honest and who desire a fair arbitration of their differences can secure a prompt decision at a minimum expense. It is recognized that such a tribunal will not be available when either side is not desirous of being entirely fair and honest.

COMMUNICATION.

Last Friday evening the Union Entertainment Committee arranged a very interesting and instructive evening's entertainment for the benefit of the undergraduate body. This meeting was addressed by a well-known preacher who has traveled extensively and surely knew his subject. Must it not seem remarkable to a man of this type to be invited to speak before the students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at an entertainment, and at the hour set to find only fourteen men gathered to hear his discourse, this including several members of the committee? Does this not give the Institute a nice name in this man's world? Of course, we all realize that there was a track meet on this same evening, but there were 1446 men members of the Institute who were at neither place. Let us try and remedy our faults in this line with the beginning of the new term. The Calendar Committee of the Institute Committee has promised to see to it that conflicting dates are avoided as far as possible, and so now the student body will have no further excuse for their lack of support.
