COMMUNICATION

Editor The Tech—
I should like to supplement Mr. Ferris' idea of having a banquet in the second week of April, by suggesting to the entire student body a torchlight parade either before or after the dinner. The Institute Committee might appoint a Sub-Committee to arrange the matter, or the first classes might each, through their Presidents, send delegates to a meeting to arrange the affair. Whatever is to be done however, should be done so as early as possible and to see that the co-operation of the whole student body, and to be worthy of the name. There will be hundreds, perhaps thousands of old Tech men here, and we want them to show to them, that we, too, hold our Alma Mater as high in our regard, as they did in their days. They will let Boston be in the sign of the "T".

COMMUNICATION

The Editor of The Tech:

Dear Sirs:

Because of several questions which have been asked me I wish to correct the impression of some fellows that the incidents mentioned in the communication of Prac. in Tuesday's issue were not actual cases. All incident, those mentioned were actual cases. Only five Tech Song Books can be found in the Union and these are in very poor condition. Seventy-five or more have been stolen (as ugly but true word.) From the December Century an important article of several pages length was torn out. It has been found inadvisable for the House Committees to furnish blankets in Union, because of the continued sudden disappearance of full boxes. In the brush and comb in the lavatory have been taken. Likewise the white-brown and the inkwells in the writing room.

The only way to stop these petty thefts is by the co-operation of all house undergraduates. It is hoped that any witnesses of dishonest acts will report the same to the proper officials, as it is for the welfare of the Institute that the perpetrators be discovered and punished. Honestly,

FIRE VIEWED BY TECH STUDENTS

Last evening a few minutes before seven o'clock a big fire broke out in the building numbered 222 Marlboro Street. The flames spread with such rapidity that it was found necessary to ring in a second alarm. At moments the flames break across the corners of the fifth story with a very spectacular effect. A large crowd collected, among whom were a number of Technology students. The sight was fascinating to the outsider, but the residents made every preparation for a hurried exit, picking up their valuables, and indeed it is well that they did so for the fire rapidly spread downward from above, by way of the stairways. The cause of the fire could not be ascertained.

TO-DAY'S JOKE COLUMN

The president of a Western college, at the opening of the first Sunday service of the year, read the number of the new students and remarked that it was the largest class the college had ever had. Directly afterwards he read the epitaph of the day, as follows: "Lord how they have increased that trouble me!"

It was during the Math. Exam. The student asked and sighed again. What would he not give to know that formulas. "Now time doth fly" he remarked philosophically, as he looked at his watch, under the desk. Then the Prof. jumped to his feet and cried: "Sir, I insist upon seeing that watch!" "Yes Sir, with pleasure," the other said, as he handed it over; and so the Prof. watched the case, he read just one word: STUNG!!

The Tech is considering a $35,000 joke contest for new and original jokes. Among the other prizes it might offer lodging for disabled jokers for what remains of their natural lives.
