SHOW MANAGEMENT SIGN SANGER AGAIN

Successful Coach of "Frenzied French" to Handle the New Tech Show.

Eugene Sanger, known to every Tech man as the successful coach of last year's show, "Frenzied French," has signed a contract with the management of Tech Show, 1912, to coach this year's production. Gen. Man, H. L. Woehling and his associates are to be congratulated for having taken this step, which will, without doubt, aid as much as any other in the success of the coming Show.

Mr. Sanger has had an extensive and varied experience in theatrical circles. He has successfully coached the productions of the Triangle Club at Princeton, the Hasty Pudding Club of Harvard, as well as those by the students of Columbia, Barnard, New York City College, U. S. Naval Academy and Union College.

The success of the enormous open-air pageant in the Stadium two years ago was due largely to his efforts and instructions. Mr. Sanger is, and has been at various times, a director of the Stanhope-Wheatcroft Dramatic School and of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City. He has also assisted Daniel Frohman in the staging of several of the greatest musical comedy successes of the present.

His excellent work in the staging of Tech Show leaves no trace of doubt as to his ability in this special work. Coming here for the first time and meeting perhaps an entirely different type of men from those in the other places where he had coached the college plays, he went directly to work in his own thorough-going manner. He practiced, drilled and coached the cast and chorus until he had moulded them into a practically perfect production.

Sanger won a big place in the heart of every man with whom he came in contact in the performance of his duties through his pleasing manner and personality. A very versatile man, he can portray at will any of the types in a college musical comedy. For the benefit of the candidates for chorus positions he can trip over the steps

BIOLOGICAL SOCIETY HOLDS FIRST DINNER

Professors Sedgwick and Porter Speak—Business Meeting Before Dinner.

Last evening, at the Union, the Biological Society held its first meeting and dinner of the year. There were only about thirty men present, but the meeting was, on the whole, successful. After the usual course of excellent dishes had been served, and the smoke from the pipes began to invade the air, the president called the meeting to order and the business was speedily gone through.

Prof. Sedgwick was then introduced as the first speaker. He praised the idea of meeting early in the evening, and the quick business-like way in which the meeting had been conducted. He followed these remarks with a talk on the litigation between New York and New Jersey concerning the pollution of New York Harbor, in which he showed the importance of today's great question of the sanitation of our large cities. Finally, he wished the society a most prosperous year, saying that though the number of members was small much could be accomplished, for, as he said, it is the way in which a problem is tackled, and not the members that tackle it, that counts.

Professor Porter, the next speaker, after expressing his pleasure at being present at the informal meeting, gave excellent advice to the men, which would serve them in the future practice of their profession. The remarks of advice were particularly good in that they were founded on the known, practical experience of successful engineers.

The short, snappy meeting then broke up at an earlier hour than that at which most meetings usually adjourn.

INSTITUTE COMMITTEE.

Finance Com. Chosen—Chairmen Sub-Committees Elected.

Yesterday afternoon the last regular meeting of the Institute Committee before the election of the Sophomore and Freshman representatives was held in the Union. It was decided to allow THE TECH Board to appoint a member of its staff to the Calendar Committee who need not be a member of the Institute Committee. The Calendar Committee is now to consist of two members, one, the chairman, appointed by the Institute Committee, and the other the man appointed by THE TECH.

The Finance Committee for the ensuing year is to be made up of H. L. Coburn, 1898; I. W. Litchfield, 1885, and R. W. Perkins, 1910.

A committee composed of D. E. Bent, C. Bates Torrey and J. E. Whitteley was chosen by the President to confer with the Faculty in regard to the establishment of the Sigma Xi, an honorary senior society.

The following men have been elected chairmen of the three sub-committees of the Institute Committee: F. H. Achard, Entertainment; P. E. Merrill, House, and W. F. Obrien, Dining Room Committee. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, November 22, at 4.15, in the Union.

Somebody was heard to mention that Field Day is coming. Yes!

ETHEL CADMAN CRAZY ABOUT "TECH NIGHT"

All Technology to Greet "The Three Romeos" On Night of Field Day.

Tech Night at the Colonial Theatre with "The Three Romeos" is already as assured of success as any of the very successful performances given by the company before reaching Boston. The management of the theatre, of the show, and the members of the cast themselves have all united with the Theatre Committee in one combined effort to make the occasion one which will be long a source of pleasant memories for all.

Miss Ethel Cadman, who as the "real" Arcadian, has already shared in the fun of one Tech Night, is full of enthusiasm and interest in the coming of Technology. In a personal interview yesterday she said that she was just crazy for Friday to come. With her least little trace of the

ETHEL CADMAN IN "THE THREE ROMEO'S" AT THE COLONIAL.

"bloody Englishman" in her accent, she was nice enough to say that she loved boys (Tech boys) and that she liked to play to a house of college men. Last year she had a good time and thought that the fellows were very well behaved, and she confidently expected that they would give the people "in back" as square a deal this year. She sent Julia Sanderson's best to Tech men on Tech Night, and said that Miss Sanderson was much interested in the coming event.

She was very much alive to the fact that local color might be introduced and was eager for suggestions and methods of working them out. The funny little song bit, "Humpty-Dumpty," in which she and Mr. Walton bring down rounds of applause is one of the places where Tech men may watch with extra interest for things to happen. There are lots of other places that it wouldn't do to mention before hand that may appeal

NO CONFETTI ON "TECH NIGHT"

Theatre Management Ask Square Deal From Tech Men During Performance.

The annual gathering of undergraduates at the Colonial Theatre on the occasion of Tech Night in celebration of Field Day depends in future years upon the conduct displayed by those present on next Friday evening. The theatre committee in charge of the distribution of seats for Friday evening have been notified by the manager of the Colonial playhouse that the throwing of confetti is strictly prohibited under penalty of expulsion from the theatre, and that if confetti is thrown on this occasion, Tech Night, at least as far as the Colonial is concerned, will become a thing of the past. The Colonial is one of the finest theatres of Boston, and by agreement with other theatres have established this rule. This means that if the undergraduates of Technology do not desist from throwing confetti this year that another Tech Night will never be held in Boston.

Tech Night has the reputation of being one of the biggest events of the college year, and is the only time that Tech men meet in a body. If this ceases to exist merely because of the throwing of confetti on the part of a few who attend the theatre with an idea of rough-house it will be a decided blot on Technology's reputation, and the utter downfall of Tech Night for years to come. It is especially imperative that the Freshmen observe this rule, since the task of securing a theatre will fall upon them next year. To them it means the sacrifice of throwing a little confetti and in exchange Tech Night will continue to be an annual event for the united enjoyment of all undergraduates. It is hoped that the thought of the loss of Tech

Night will enter upon the minds of those who at present intend to throw confetti, and will cause them to give up all idea of doing so. Remember that the forfeiture of this will not only prevent expulsion, but will mean a continuation of Tech Night.

THURSDAY, NOV. 2, 1911

As recently announced in these columns, an optional course in knot tying will be started as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made for the same. Major Cole, who is the instructor in Military Science at the Institute this year, was a teacher of Military Topography in the Army School at Fort Leavenworth for a number of years previous to coming here. At the former place he gave a practical course in the use of knots, cordage, rigging, etc. The Faculty have prevailed upon Major Cole to repeat this course for the benefit of the Tech men, although it will necessarily be much more brief than the course given to the army men.

Professor Cole will explain the way of tying the various knots, as well as the practical use to which each type is put. In regard to cordage work, he will take up various forms of temporary lashing such as engineers might desire to use on temporary field structures, such as gins, trestles, etc.

It is planned to give the course short sessions, and not very often, so that the course will extend over several weeks, as experience shows that if students are taught the knots and then drop off and forget all about them that the course will not bring the desired results. It is hoped that by having short sessions and rehearsing each type at each meeting that by the end of the course the men will know how to tie all kinds of knots, and further than that, to tie the right kind of knot in the right place.

The Technique File, of which we spoke several days ago, has not been placed in the bookcase, and is still being thrown about in the "Cage," as occasion demands and as its room is needed. The committee either are lazy, indeed we might say negligent, or else they don't care, or possibly they are cut of funds and are waiting for an appropriation for the purpose of having a key fitted to the case. If the latter is the case, we will gladly advance the price of said utensil for entering without interest. As a member of the Class of 1911 remarked last year: "If a man is unable or will not do his work, let him resign and find someone who will do it and do it well."

The Socialist students at the University of Wisconsin who are not satisfied with the policies of "The Cardinal," the undergraduate newspaper, are planning to start one of their own.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL.

Full Squad Present at Final Signal Practice.

In a fine scrimmage the Freshman football men lined up for the last time before Field Day, with every man in the best of condition. The signal work was preceded by some drop-kicking from the back field, and was then followed by one big final scrimmage against the scrubs.

The ends, Howlett and Merriscn, were in on every play, and showed a lot of speed. The centre of the line was charged hard and low, and Moore and Crowell, the guards, with Boynton, the centre, were digging big holes in the scrubs. The tackles, Lee and Proctor, were fast and rangy, with a fine sense of where the ball was and ought to be. Brown, the second string center, also showed up strong.

Behind the line both Capt. Hadley and O'Brien are fast, hard tacklers, and give good interference. Scully is a speedy little quarter, and ran the team in fine shape. He has a good sub in the man Duff, who is running the scrubs. McDevitt and Hawgood are getting in some good line bucking and clever work in picking out holes. Lee's punting continues to be first-class, and his good foot will help the team out of more than one hole.

The first team started with the ball and were able to get away with gains in almost every play. When the subs had the ball they were able to stop practically all of the plays that were sent against them. Taken all together, the team showed up in fine shape, and being in the best of condition, as it is, they will be able to give the Sophs and awful good run for their money, with the best of chances of making the Sophs do the trailing.

FIELD DAY IS COMING.

Seats for Field Day and "Tech Night" Selling Fast.

After all is said and done, and no matter which class proves itself to be the other's conqueror, Tech men are going to have a good, long, live holiday on Friday. They are going to see one of the best and hardest fought of Field days, and then in the evening they are going to see the best show in town, "The Three Romeos," at the Colonial.

The seats for the Field were more than three-quarters sold at noon yesterday, according to Max Waterman, the Varsity track manager who has general oversight of the arrangements at the Field. And as for the Show in the evening, a man on the staff of THE TECH heard the man in the box office say the other day: "No, I am very sorry but those seats are all gone. You see the Technology bcys are coming down here Friday night."

TECH MEETS HARVARD.

Cross-Country Race to Be Held Over the Tech Course.

Coch Kanaly will send a well-balanced team against Harvard Friday who should bring home a victory. Although only four men are left from last year's team, new men have appeared to fill their places.

The team has not many individual stars, but is well-balanced and should finish in almost consecutive order. According to the results of the inter-class cross-country run held at Harvard last week, the teams are evenly matched.

The race is to be held over the Tech course with the finish between the halves of the football game, so that there will be a big crowd to cheer the team around the final lap.

Wonder who whipt the cream pie in the Union the other day?

FRESHMAN RELAY WORK FOR LAST TIME
 New Suits, Last Instructions
 And Final Rub Put Men in Good Spirits.

The Freshman relay team held its last practice at the Field yesterday afternoon, in the midst of a cold, driving mist. All the men except Lapp reported to Capt. Hann, and Fulton was substituted in his place.

The work consisted of a snappy drill in passing the flag, a practice relay race, and a final 300-yard sprint. The north side of the track, where the team worked, was wet and heavy, and it slowed the men up somewhat, but they passed in their regular turn and got one last line on the men who both follow and precede them in the race.

The practice race was run by scattering the men around the track at 150 yards and giving them that distance per man. Before the final 300-yard sprint Coach Kanaly again warned the men against fumbling and making mistakes. The team finished strong with Capt. Hann leading at the tape, and pranced into the dressing room to have all the stiff places rubbed out.

Manager Spear was on hand with the new suits, which are very neat in deed. They are white, with a cardinal tash, and strips down and around the leg of the running pants. Every man left the track in first-class shape, capable and ready to do his best for his class.

MOVING PICTURES.

Harvard and Tufts Men Expected
 —Everyone Invited Tonight.

The moving picture show and stereopticon lecture planned by the Mechanical Engineering Society will be held at 7.45 this evening in Huntington Hall. There will be 6000 feet of film and one hundred lantern slides illustrating the tools used in manufacturing automobiles, the assembling of the machinery and the arrangement of the factory. The lecture and demonstration will be given by Mr. Weibgart and his assistant, under the direction of the Studebaker Corporation of Detroit, Mich.

An invitation has been sent to the societies at Harvard and Tufts, and it is expected that a large crowd will be on hand to answer to the cheers that will be sent out by these two colleges.

An opportunity will be given to anyone who have any questions to ask, and the lecturer will gladly respond.

An invitation is extended to all the men of the Institute. The admission is free to all, and everyone should attend if possible.

SOPHOMORE RELAY.

In spite of the wet weather and darkness, the Sophomores held their regular relay practice last night. Passing the flag was first practiced, and a couple of races were held against an imaginary team.

The track being wet and heavy, slow times were in order, but the passing has now been reduced to a science. The flags to be carried by the runners have arrived and suits are ready for the men. This will be the last practice before Field Day. Everybody is in excellent shape, and bad weather is the only thing that will prevent very fast time.

TECH MAN MARRIED.

James Stewart Cox, M. I. T., 1910, was married Tuesday evening to Miss Lillian S. Cushing of Norwood, Mass. Mr. Cox was a member of Course XI, taking up special work while at the Institute, and was prominent in his class. Mrs. Cox is the charming daughter of J. S. Cushing of the Governor's Council.
