LOST OPPORTUNITIES IN SCORELESS TIE

Harvard and Yale Before the Biggest Crowd Ever Meet Without Success.

In one of the greatest gridiron battles of the year, from every point of view, Yale and Harvard played for sixty minutes in the Stadium Saturday afternoon without coming to any real conclusion, for the score boards showed the same two zeros that they did in the beginning. The day was perfect, the field nearly so, the immense crowd, a crowd such as is gathered only at a game of football between the Crimson and the Blues, was in the best of spirits, and the teams were at their best.

In the face of this array of perfection twenty-two big, husky college men ran onto the field at 2 o'clock, and off again about half after three, without finding out which was the better. Both teams had done their best, but their best was so absolutely the same that neither was able to score the few points that would have brought the victory.

In five plays, or about two and a half minutes after the kick-off by Bud Smith of Harvard, it was Yale's ball on Harvard's fifteen-yard line, and only a misplay on the part of Ketcham, Yale's star center, kept Captain Howe from scoring the three points that would have won the game for the Blue. From this to almost the middle of the last period the teams fought and struggled, with but few chances for any kind of a score and with comparatively few violations of the rules, the ball see-sawing back and forth from one to the other end of the field, and the advantage lying with neither side. Then Harvard began to speed up and the wearers of the Crimson carried the ball by consistent gains for fifty yards into Yale territory, where Potter made a fine try for a goal from the field.

Harvard was found much more consistent in their ground gaining, although they were unable to get as many yards to their credit as the New Haven boys, and their defense was stronger though not as clever. Yale showed much more ability at following the ball, and it was this in itself that gave them their two opportunities to win the day. Both showed the greatest possible degree of sportsmanship, and the few penalties were for over-eagerness alone. Both showed the almost impossible play known as the forward pass, but was not one that could be used with any hope of success, and then only in a place where a long chance would have to be taken, for out of the ten that were tried, there was a gain of about twenty yards on one play by Potter and Smith for Harvard.

The game was characterized by the opportunities that were lost by both teams. Two for Yale and four for Harvard is the exact count of the chiefly because of the eagerness of the men to whom the little luck god showed himself. The game was on the surface, and to the casual observer, if there were any such, lacking in any signs of the sensational style of football. But there were times that came frequently throughout the game when the hearts of the Yale or the Harvard men stopped, and they waited in absolute silence to see what the outcome of some single play might be. Twice almost on Yale's

JOHN PAUL JONES IS AGAIN I. C. CHAM.

Leads Field of Seventy Men a Merry Chase at Brookline.

John Paul Jones, holder of the world's record for the mile, again romped away with the I. C. A. A. A. annual cross-country race which was run over a six-mile course laid out on the property of the Brookline Country Club, Saturday forenoon, and led the Cornell team to its fifth consecutive victory.

The race was, perhaps, the best in the history of intercollegiate cross-country running, the men sticking to the leaders all through it, and it was not until he started his final sprint, a half-mile from the finish, that Jones gained on his follower, "Tel" S. Berna, of the same team.

Harvard was a close second to Cornell and would have shown the New York team the way, in all probability, if their star man, Hervey Lawless, was in condition to run. P. R. Withington, the first man to finish, held the lead for the greater part of the race, and was only passed in the shadow of the tape by McCurdy, of Penn, and Harmon, of Dartmouth, who took third and fourth places, respectively.

The Tech team ran a good race, and as can be seen from the total score, ran a fine chance of third place, being beaten by Penn by four points, and by Dartmouth by only two. At the crack of the starter's gun A. F. Nye, 1914, took the lead and retained this position for a half mile, when G. C. Shedd, 1914, took it away from him. Jones was running a short distance behind these men and did not assume the lead until the very last.

Withington kept climbing up all the time, and at the three-mile mark he was in the lead. The Tech men had dropped behind and Shedd was now running in eighth position. McCurdy, of Penn, and Harmon, of Dartmouth, were now beginning to forge ahead and were running together in third place. Jones still followed the leader and his strong mate, Berna, was just behind the third place men.

This order was practically the same till just before the men entered the field for the last half mile, Jones burst into the lead and was forty yards ahead of Berna when they struck the track. Berna was about the same distance ahead of McCurdy, and the order of these men were the same when they broke the tape. Withington was the next to enter the field but he could not retain the lead when Harmon started to sprint, and was passed by the latter. The fine work of Taber, of Brown, is noticed here. Taber, who won the dual race between Tech and Brown two weeks ago, ran a steady race and passed several men in the last few seconds, giving him sixth place.

The rain of the day and night before the race put the course in a frightful condition, and the soft mud and swampy grass caused several of the runners to fall.

The scores of the teams were as follows: Cornell, 48; Harvard, 58; Penn, 125; Dartmouth, 127; Tech, 129; Syracuse, 151; Yale, 159; Brown, 182; Columbia, 224, and Princeton, 229.

The order of finish of the first sixteen men were as follows:

1.—John Paul Jones, Cornell.

KOMMERS' DINNER THIS YEAR TO BE BEST EVER

Dolly Carter Will Be On Hand in Makeup—Also "Blanche."

Many more plans have been definitely arranged for the sixth annual Kommers' dinner of the Show, which is to be held in the Union Saturday evening of this week, December 2nd, at 6.30 P. M. The Dean has consented to be present. Professor Blackstein is to give some of his inimitable stories. Coach Eugene Sanger will present some of the aspects of professional theatrical life, and there will be some old Show men with us in costume, notably F. Hastings Smyth, in his attractive makeup as "Dolly" Carter, the pretty heroine of "Frenzied French."

In previous years the Tech Show has been able to secure some one or two of the above features, but never before has it been so fortunate to have all of them together. The Dean is always an interesting speaker and will this year undoubtedly give an outline of the connection between the Show and the students that will prove of value to all men in the Institute. Mr. Blackstein is the friend of all the classes. There is hardly a man who has not at one time or another come in contact with him in his German and French classes, and everyone will be interested to hear him speak outside the class room. For years he has been at every Show dinner, and we know that he will have something to tell this year that will be as interesting as anything that has ever been said before.

It was rather difficult to obtain Coach Sanger. He makes his headquarters in New York and consequently any Boston engagement means quite a trip for him. Tech Show, 1912, wants him to feel repaid for any inconvenience that this trip may cause him, so it is hoped that a large number will be present to give him an enthusiastic welcome. It is due more, perhaps, to him than to any other one man that "Frenzied French" was the success that it was, and Saturday night will be the time to show him that the men at the Institute appreciate his efforts.

All of the classes except the Freshmen know what a peach of a girl "Dolly" Carter was. Everyone will want to see "her" again. The Freshmen missed this pleasure, but now is their opportunity, for she will be on hand at the Kommers. If there is any one in the class of 1915 that does not think that this alone will repay him for coming to the dinner let him ask any upper classman, and the Show feels certain that that man will not hesitate at all, but will be present.

Tickets are to be had from any member of the management at the Show office, Room B, the Union, or at the Cage. It is hoped that at least two hundred men will be present. Let everyone get his ticket now and join in to make this Kommers one of the most successful ever.

November 24, 1911.

The exercises of the Institute will be suspended on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 30.

A. L. MERRILL, Secretary.

We see by the Technology Review that Technique, 1911, had a large balance and then some. Follow the leader, 1913.

ONLY EIGHT MEN WITH HARE AND HOUNDS

Cold Weather Scared Off Most of the Regulars—Hard Course.

For some reason or other, only eight men ran with the hare and hounds at Wakefield Saturday. The weather was cold, but it probably will be colder next Saturday, when the handicap run comes off, and then the men who did not run today will have a good chance to get off the course.

Because of the few numbers, the men ran all in one squad, and the pace was slow. The trail was laid in order to facilitate the finding of the course again. The course is a fine one, except that it will be very hard at the start. The hills all come at this part, and they are surely real hills, almost small mountains. At the one-mile mark the course turns into some pine woods where the footing is very slippery. After leaving the woods the trail is over roads, where the running is easy.

Cups will be given next Saturday for the first two places and for the fastest actual time. The cups are now on exhibition in the Union. Entry books will be posted in the Union early in the week and all Hare and Hound Club members wishing to run should sign up early so the handicaps may be made out.

The men who ran Saturday were: E. Macdonald, F. H. Archard, 1913; E. M. Loveland, 1915; A. F. Peaslee, 1914; A. T. Munyon, 1915; A. B. Curtis, 1915; M. B. Lewis, Jr., 1914; L. Best, 1915; E. W. Lovell, 1915; D. B. Baker, 1915; E. Magee, 1915.

AERO CLUB TODAY.

An important meeting of the Aero Club will be held in 27 Rogers on Monday, November 27th, at 4.15 o'clock. Many interesting matters are to be brought up which members will be glad to hear of, and it is hoped that all will make every attempt to be there.

INSTITUTE COMMITTEE.

This afternoon the Institute Committee will hold its first meeting with a complete new membership for the year. All men elected to it should appear in the Union at 4.30 o'clock. It is understood that several matters will be brought up for discussion, and the action of the committee on two or three very important questions is awaited with interest. This meeting was to have been held last Wednesday but was postponed in order that the result of the Freshmen's elections might be known, and the committee proceeded to actual organization.

IN CHARGE OF TUESDAY ISSUE.

EDITOR—Pastene, A. J., 1913.
Associates—Adams, B. E., 1915; Eisenberg, S., 1915; Smith, C. L., 1914.

Last Monday we took occasion to remark that the cheering at the Arena Saturday evening was lacking, and this week we wish to speak more strenuously on the subject. Night before last M. I. T. played the Intercolonials at the Arena, and there were not over twenty Tech men present, and again the Official Cheer Leader was among the missing. If we are to have an Official Cheer Leader why shouldn't he be obliged to be "on the job" or else provide a capable man to take his place, as was done by the President of the Senior Class last year? At the game Saturday night a few of the men got together and made a little noise so that we did not appear as lifeless as we really were.

We hope that the students will soon begin to take some interest in the Hockey Team and show up at the games ready to make some noise, and if the Official Cheer Leader does not show up some one else will usurp his position and show the public that at least a part of Technology is alive.

There is a row of hooks on the Bulletin Board in the Union, at the end of which is the statement that "This row of hooks is reserved for the exclusive use of the Calendar Committee. Infringements of this rule will be dealt with by the Institute Committee." However, nothing is said about what the Institute Committee will do if the hooks are not used by the Calendar Committee for the purpose for which they are provided. Now this seems to be a very important matter, and we hope that the Institute Committee will name its penalty for the non-using of the hooks by the Calendar Committee.

There is at present no calendar on the hooks, and there has been none for some time past. We might just as well have no Calendar Committee at all as have an inefficient one, so let us hope that those in power will get busy and point out to their sub-committee just what their duties are, so that the Institute will know when things are going to happen.

NOTICE.

A meeting of the Aero Club will be held Monday in 27 Rogers.

TECH DEFEATED, 3-1.

Intercolonials Win Hard Game— No Score in First Half.

The Technology Hockey Team was defeated last Saturday night by the Intercolonials of Boston by a score of 3 to 1. The game was spectacular at times, but both sevens were sadly lacking in consistent team work.

Manager Ranney played the game of the evening. His remarkable stops at goal and his agility saved the Tech team from a much worse defeat than they received. Captain Sloan and Stucklen did good defensive work, and Sloan filled his position well at forward. It was he who shot the only goal that Tech made, and the way in which he got after Small, the star player of the opponents, was good to see.

Skilton, of the Intercolonials, played a great defensive game, and caused much trouble for the Tech forwards. The winning goals were shot by Skilton and Small.

The lineup was as follows:

Tech.	Intercolonials.
Yearance, r. w.	r. w. Whitten
McLeod, Hurlburt, r.	r. Telford
Sloan, c.	c. Foote
Storke, l. w.	l. w. Osgood.
Dce Stucklen, c. p.	c. p. Small
McLeod, Eichorn, p.	p. Skilton
Ranney, g.	g. Bray

Goals were made by Sloan, Skilton, Small (2).

LOST OPPORTUNITIES

goal line, Harvard failed with a forward pass that should have spelled a touchdown, and again, under the shadow of Harvard's goal posts, Ketcham lost another game for Yale. At the start of the second half Bud Smith got a kick-off, the like of which has seldom if ever been seen. Placed with the most accurate position in the extreme corner of Yale's side of the field it took a bounce so that Spaulding in his efforts to hold it was obliged to go outside of his own three-yard line. Then a well tried forward pass to Avery, who, unnoticed, was squatting clear at the other side of the field, failed by a few inches. Camp then got away two long punts that were recovered by his men, and from under the shadow of her own goal, Yale was within striking distance of Harvard's. There was no score and in the last, already mentioned period, the same result brought the game to a rather unsatisfactory close.

STATIONERY AT CAGE.

House Com. Will Sell Paper and Envelopes Cheap.

At the close of the Union House Committee's meeting Friday noon it was announced that it would have some Technology stationery on sale at the Cage in a couple of weeks. The Bursar states that it is too expensive to furnish writing paper, as has been done in past years, and the committee has decided to purchase a quantity of gray paper bearing an embossed Tech seal in red, and underneath it the words "Tech Union." This will be sold to students at the rate of two cents for a double sheet and envelope, or one cent for a single sheet and envelope. The envelopes will be plain gray and of suitable size.

The committee has also recommended to the Bursar the purchase of an additional section for the Technique case to relieve the congestion of the present one. Besides this it has also suggested the purchase of two more small card tables and five or six chairs.

In regard to the committee's recent request that card playing be stopped between nine and twelve and two and three o'clock, it has been noticed that the number of players has decreased considerably during those hours. The purpose of this request having been to benefit the students, it is hoped that it will be carried out to the full, and in any event card playing is to be confined to the card room—that is, the rooms containing the small tables. The social room is not for card playing, and the rights of the students in the reading room must be respected.

What are we going to do about show music this year without Dennie?

NEED A SHAVE?
Did you get one of those Tech razors? Of course you did. When you need some more blades for it we have them at THE TECH office. Six blades 50c. Twelve cutting edges. We have twelve razors left which will be sold at the special price of 35c while they last. All aboard for a smooth face and a clean one!

Some class to the new buildings. Did you see the ferry slip in front?
