“WAS IST LÖS?”

Only a few short hours are left before the doors of Huntington Hall will be thrown open to the eager crowds who will be without tickets and are going fast, and if sales continue as they are, there may be none left on time. The United States mint has announced that it will be open every day, but it is not unlikely that the mint will be closed at 10 o’clock. The Chinese themselves can give the reason. The cafe scene in San Francisco promises to be a stupendous one very closely related to business conditions of life. Speaking particularly of last year’s rifle team, and was represented his class. This year he is president of the Cosmos Club. H. D. Peck, of the Advisory Council of THE TECH, then spoke of the men who work on THE TECH and no man can be elected to the Executive Committee. He also stated that the paper could not be run without the financial support of the students. H. D. Peck, of the Advisory Council of THE TECH, then spoke of the men who work on THE TECH.

HARVARD OUTPLAYS TECH HOCKEY TEAM

Harvard played twice around the Tech team last night at the Arena and won by a score of four to 0. The Crimson skaters outplayed the Tech men every time, and only once did individual work save the Tech team from a bigger score. The Harvard line played together, Bortwell, Phillips and Stucklen going down the ice time and time again for shot after shot. The Tech didn’t get more than half a dozen good shots during the whole game, owing to lack of a team work. The Crimson even got the puck at the far end and rushed it towards the Institute goal. Before two minutes of play, Bortwell took a pass from Hopkins, and shot the puck just snappily for the first score. At the four minutes he again took the puck down the ice alone and this time he scored tally for Harvard’s Phillips scoared the third goal from scrimmage in front of the cage a few minutes after play began.

PRESIDENT MACLAURIN.

He Will Speak Today in Union—Subject a Surprise.

At 1:30 o’clock today, in the Union, President MacLaurin will address the students of whom he is president of the C. A. C. In his annual talk in the Union he has spoken on subjects that have proved of interest to the men, for his knowledge of technology conditions is greater than that of perhaps any other man connected with the Institute.

The men, especially the new ones, should turn out to hear the President, for it is their duty to hear him at close range outside of the classroom. As is his custom every year, he has not announced the subject of his talk, and it may be some time before he gives a clue as to his intentions. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1.)

L. H. LEHMAIER.

Vice-President and Treasurer, H. M. Lawrence, ’14, and Secretary, R. E. Wells, ’16, the Executive Committee, consists of W. L. Whitehead, ’13, and R. C. Cromwell, ’12.

The society’s president, L. H. Leh- maier, was secretary of the organization last year. He was formerly editor-in-chief of THE TECH, this year he is president of the Cor- poral Club. H. M. Lawrence, the treasurer, has been as active as any member of the society for three years. R. E. Wells, the secretary, was a member of the Executive Committee. He has connected with THE TECH show in recent years, and this year he has been a successful writer of letters for the next show. R. C. Cromwell, the other member on the committee, has been on the news team that represented this class. This year he coached the Sophomore tug-of-war team to their victory on Field Day.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY MEETS TOMORROW

Dinner and Meeting to Be Held Jointly With the American Chemical Society.

Tomorrow night the Chemical Society is going to have a meeting that will probably not be duplicated for a long time. The Northeastern Branch of the American Chemical Society has arranged to hold its annual meeting at a joint dinner meeting with the M.I.T. Society. Invitations have been sent to the members of the society, and it is expected that there will be a large representation at the meeting, even though only a few dozen men will be able to attend the dinner. The talk, which will be on the "Development of the Corbett Electric Precipitation Process," will be given by Mr. Linn Bradley, engineer of the Research Corporation of New York. Mr. Bradley will illustrate his talk with slides and experimental demonstrations.

"WAS IST LOS?"

At last December 19 has arrived and we are all going to have a chance to solve that mysterious riddle which has been tormenting our minds and disturbing our peaceful composers for many days. We are going to see "Was ist los?" But for more than that, we are going to aid all the athletic activities of the Institute. We are to help financially the athletic teams that are placing the beloved name of Technology in the foremost ranks.

How are we going to do this? We are coming to Huntington Hall tonight and are going to bring all our friends to witness a wonderful display of Institute talent, and an entertainment which will long be remembered. Let us make it possible for the management to net a handsome profit for this worthy cause in whose name it is given.

The Christmas holidays are here; let us all show our true Christian spirit as well as Technology spirit, and do one more good thing for the Institute before we go home for a short and delightful vacation. Remember, tonight is the night of nights. Everybody out to "WAS IST LOS?"

THE MASQUE MEETS.

An informal meeting of the Masque was held last evening in the Union for the purpose of considering the election of new members to take the place of those who graduated or did not return to the Institute this fall. There are five vacancies in the active membership, which is limited to fifteen, owing to the retirement of B. N. Dobie, W. W. Finney, J. T. Asa, R. H. Gray, and W. J. Snellgrove. A number of eligible men were considered, but no definite action was taken, owing to the absence of one member. This was the second meeting this year, and a third will be held early in January, when the initiations will take place for the five vacancies in whose name it is given.

The masque of Philadelphia has adopted a Tech graduate, Hollis G. Godfrey, Ph.B., '93, of Boston, to recognize the close relationship between the two Institutions. Mr. Godfrey will not occupy the position permanently as he has been called only to recognize the de-moralized system now existing there.

THE TECH DINNER.

all the advertisements they can. He closed with a little lecture on economy.

H. H. Lehmann was the last speaker of the evening. As last year's editor-in-chief of THE TECH he is in a position to know all the working details. He congratulated the paper on having such a splendid lot of new men who are taking interest in THE TECH. He said that the standard on which the paper was being run is better than that on which it has been run for many years, and that this is largely caused by the fact that so many more under-classmen are now taking interest in the paper. There is room for many more, however, and twenty or thirty more could be easily used.

President Stanlawin has estimated that dormitories for the accommodation of at least a thousand students will have to be erected on the new site.

HOCKEY GAME.

Two seconds after the second half had started Smart, who took Morgan's place at right wing, snatched the puck in front of the net and scored the last point. The Tech team then took a brace, and held Harvard to their second point. The Tech team then turned out and gave a few cheers, but as there was not much chance for even a semblance of a Harvard cheer there was considerable thought about putting him on the Varsity team.

Two German subjects, German II and German VI, follow these with fifteen each. English Literature of the 19th Century has thirteen, and Public Speaking twelve students. French Ib and IIb English Bible have each six students, while French IIIa has but three.
