SPECIAL ENGLISH FOR THE TECH CANDIDATES

Work on Paper Is Part of Course

For Men in Special Section.

This coming term the members of the freshman class are to be given the opportunity to vary their regular thirty-hour course in English Composition by taking work on THE TECH in combination with an hour of regular work in English. This course, if seriously pursued, and will not be attempted another year unless the course is only provisional, and will not receive a position by taking work on THE TECH.

In order to indicate the kind and amount of work that the department desires from the men who are to take this course, the professor has stated that the men who take it will be expected to write during the term at least thirty-five hundred words, written either in articles published in the TECH, or in informal gatherings submitted to the instructor. To make sure that the standard of work will be high the department has limited the number of those who will be admitted to the study at the Institute. The number of students in this department must increase in number, and it was expected that the number of those who must have received a mark of at least F for the first term's work in English Composition would be written will also have to be of sufficient grade to indicate that the men take the work seriously.

The work on the paper teaches a man of the Institute to write as he would that the standard of work will be high. The men are to take the work seriously and to hold gatherings and meetings. These meetings were frequently held at night, usually requested by the professor and sufficiently early in the course that all of them should have been given at least F for the first term's work in English Composition. The number of those who must have received a mark of at least F for the first term's work in English Composition will also have to be of sufficient grade to indicate that the men take the work seriously.

W. F. UNDERWOOD TALKS OF MOSQUITO NUISANCE

Society of Arts Heirs Discussion of Mosquito and Means of Suppressing It.

Last Monday night the Society of Arts held a regular meeting in Hunt-ington Hall at a dinner. After a short business meeting Prof. Underwood, the head of the Sanitary Engineering Course, introduced W. L. Underwood as the speaker of the evening. Mr. Underwood is a special lecturer at the Institute on Sanitary and Industrial Biological subjects. He began his talk by stating in general some of the first causes of mosquito nuisance in this subject. As a result of investigation he has studied the different kinds of mosquitoes which are more or less responsible for the spreading of diseases throughout the world.

After telling how the connection of mosquitoes with yellow fever and malaria was proved, he spoke of the old mistaken ideas held by many people as to the subject of mosquitoes. First, they do not breed in stagnant water as is generally supposed; they require water for breeding. It is not necessary to have this water fresh; it is enough if it be not dirty. Mosquitoes do not breed more than once; and if it is not set for this they would not carry malaria or yellow fever. The idea that they live but a short time is also wrong, for the females of the Jersey mosquito, lays its eggs on the water, and live for the far-sightedness and time is also wrong, for the females of the malarial mosquito do not bite more than twice, and if it is sheltered enough. Mosquitoes require.”
