ELECTRICAL DINNER TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Speaker at Meeting in Union
Thursday to Be F. B. Jewett,
Class of 1903.

Tomorrow evening at 6.45 o'clock, the Electrical Engineering Society will have its monthly dinner in the Union dining room. At this February meeting the feature will be a talk by an M. I. T. graduate. Mr. F. B. Jewett, of the Class of '03, will speak to the members of the club.

It is not yet known what the subject of his talk will be. Mr. Jewett, who is now Assistant Chief Engineer of the Western Electric Company, has not divulged his theme, but the officers and the society itself are positive that their guest will have something of considerable interest to say. At any rate, the talk will be supplemented by a series of pictures thrown on the screen by the stereopticon. All men interested in, or pursuing electrical courses, are cordially invited to attend this meeting, and they are assured of a pleasantly spent evening. The price of the dinner is fifty cents, and the tickets may be secured from the officers of the club.

After Mr. Jewett has finished his talk the Committee on Pins will give its report. This report will undoubtedly be of great interest, for the question of pins has long been one of considerable doubt.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor-in-Chief of THE TECH:
Replying to Major Briggs' communication, published yesterday, would say in answer to his first point, that the present membership of the Institute Committee is too large, that we can not agree with him.

In the first place, it seems to us that under the conditions of student life as it now exists at Tech, twelve men could not properly represent fifteen hundred students. It does not seem to us that representatives could keep closely in touch with all the various student activities. We feel that in a meeting of the student governing body the very best information concerning the activities should be at hand, and by having nearly all the activities represented much more efficient work can be done by the committee.

Then again, since the Institute Committee is a body primarily formed to govern student activities in their relations, one to the other, and each to the whole, it seems pre-eminently proper that each activity should have a voice and vote in such legislation.

The Constitution is merely the document to form the Undergraduate Association and give standing to the Institute Committee. The duties of all officers, the Executive Committee, and all special and standing committees are stated in the by-laws of the Institute Committee.

Thanking Major Briggs for this favor of his, which is another example of the very great interest this good man takes in the students of the Institute, we are,

Very truly yours,
Com. on Const. and By-Laws.
H. D. Peck, Chairman.

AID OF THE STUDENT BODY IS INVOKED

Unknown Rumor Invades Office of "The Tech"—Peculiar Mystery.

The fond farewells of the students who left after mid-year's have hardly echoed away into the distance before we are again made uneasy by various vague and indefinite rumors floating through the ambient atmosphere in an aimless, lost-ghost sort of fashion. Up to the present time the staff of THE TECH has been unable to fathom the mysteries which enshroud these rumors, but all the men are working hard and expect to have the problem solved within a few days, always provided that they do not die of exhaustion first. They enlist the sympathy and aid of all the students of the "Stute in solving this perplexing problem. Briefly, the manifestations are as follows:

On or about February, the twenty-fifth, a strange and unheard-of rumor was seen floating around the lower TECH office. It moaned in a distressed manner and seemed about to speak when, casting the two coins which served it as eyes toward the ceiling, it espied the chute leading to the upper office, and, with a low, mournful groan, floated upward and through the opening into the editorial sanctum upstairs. The Editor-in-Chief was so startled that he was unable to make head or tale of the story told by the wraith. Thus was the mystery solved. Since that time the Rumor has said nothing definite. Its favorite speech seems to be, "Beware the Fourth of March." The Rumor apparently had read the biography of Julius Caesar and had adapted one of the momentous sentences from the life of that famous Roman to warn the students of Technology of some portentous dire, horrible, event in the near future. At first the staff was of the opinion that the Rumor was merely a little upset over the inauguration of a Democratic President, but careful thought convinced them that such was not the case. No better explanation has yet been advanced, although two of the staff have worked so strenuously that they are confined to their downy couches by exhaustion. THE TECH hates to invoke the aid of outside detectives as the disclosures may contain something which should not be entrusted to any ears but those of loyal Tech men. The staff, therefore, desires the aid of the student body in clearing up this infernal mystery and will publish any communications which anyone interested in the case may see fit to submit, upon the condition that said communications do not contain any language which would bar them from the United States mails.

SOCIALIST MEETING.

Several students who are interested in the study of Socialism and allied subjects have arranged to hold a meeting to discuss the possibility of forming a Socialist study club at the Institute. The meeting will take place in Room 9, Engineering C, next Monday, March 3, at 1.30 P. M. The students who planned the meeting hope that all men in the Institute who are at all interested in Socialism will attend.

It ought not to bother the faculty.

Maybe it's another million.

INTEREST IN THE NEW SECTION INCREASING

Freshman Workers on "The Tech" Pleased with Methods in Class.

The second meeting of the special TECH English section for Freshmen was held Monday afternoon. The class has grown to an appreciable extent, but there are still a number of seats to be filled before the full quota of twenty will have been obtained. The work is taking on new interest as it advances, and the course promises to be one of the most interesting and absorbing in the whole Freshman year. Professor Bates is bringing out the best that is in each individual man in a way that would be impossible in any other section. The recitations consist, mainly, of criticism of the work which the students have had published in the paper. This criticism is constructive rather than destructive, and tends therefore, to raise the English standard of each individual pupil in the section, the standard of THE TECH, and through it, the standard of every man in the Institute. Professor Bates lays particular stress on clearness and conciseness as applied, not only to work on the paper, but also to everyday speech and writing. He does not intend that the new course shall be confined merely to the somewhat narrow limits of journalism, but shall embrace what are known as "cultural subjects" as well. Of course, English as applied to newspaper work is the chief subject for consideration, but Professor Bates believes in a well-rounded man, and therefore, instead of turning out mere hack-work reporters, he has set himself the task of producing newspaper men who are able to recognize classical quotations when they see them. The lesson on Monday dealt with this phase of the subject. The Professor passed around slips of paper on which were printed classified lists of reference works available in the General Library of the Institute. The men on THE TECH have already found these slips to be of value in quickly locating quotations, allusions, and so forth.

As before stated, there is still room for a few more men in the new section, and it is hoped that Professor Bates may have a "full house" when the next class meets.

CERCLE FRANCAIS.

Illustrated Talk Tonight On Olympic Games.

All men interested in athletics of any kind will find it extremely interesting to be present at the meeting of the Cercle Francais tonight, at 7.30 P. M., in Room 11, Engineering A. At this meeting F. E. Stern, '15, will give an illustrated lecture on the Olympic Games at Sweden. The speaker, acting as official photographer for the American Press, was able in this way to get an excellent prospectus of the games, and his many photographs will prove of interest to all.

Incidentally, all men are invited to join the Cercle, and those desiring to do so may hand in their names to the secretary at the end of the meeting.

The spirit did not come from a bottle.

WORK ON TECHNIQUE PROGRESSING SMOOTHLY

Material at Printer's and Work
Almost Completed—Sign-Up
Books Out Soon.

During the past months material for Technique has been gathered together by the various editors and has been shaped into final form for publication. At the present time the greater part of the copy is in the hands of the printer, and the board is now busy making up the remaining pages.

The class histories have been chosen from those handed in, while the competition was open and are very creditable. Written in styles which are in themselves amusing, the histories give amusing accounts of the incidents that relate to each class, and may be said to be true records of the past of each of the four classes. It has been the aim of the History Editor to choose histories which contained real information.

The Society Editor has been collecting lists of the societies and other Institute organizations during the past two months, and his work is practically completed. Proof has been sent to every society or club that has contracted for an insert. In this way, unusual precautions are being taken to make the membership lists authentic. The Technique Board is, indeed, proud of the standard of art work, which is well above that of most drawings published in previous books. The art staff arranged their work so well that now, as the time of publication approaches, there is no need for them to rush their drawings. Sign-up books will appear next Monday, and as usual a small deposit will be charged at the time of signing up.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY.

Mr. Buhler to Speak Friday on Buying and Testing Coal.

Friday evening the Chemical Society will hold its regular monthly meeting in the Union, with Mr. H. W. Buhler as the speaker. Mr. Buhler has decided to speak on "The Buying and Testing of Coal," and he expects to treat his subject from the standpoint of the man who wants to know just what his coal contains. Mr. Buhler has kept in close touch with modern methods of coal analysis and calorimetry, and will be ready to explain the most recent commercial applications of the principles first found practicable in the laboratory.

Besides the talk there will be an important business meeting, for the committee on the revision of the Constitution of the society is to present its report, and it is expected that several radical changes will be proposed. At the last meeting of the society the matter of raising the dues to one dollar a year was discussed, but no definite action was taken. It is expected that this matter will come up for action at the meeting Friday.

THE "M. I. T. UNDERGRADUATE ASSOCIATION."

The proposed Constitution and by-laws of the new "M. I. T. Undergraduate Association" have been published and discussed from many points of view, but as yet there have been few expressions of opinion with regard to its adoption or rejection. Those not familiar with the questions under discussion should investigate the matter at once, as it is a matter of vital importance to the student body as a whole and to each individual as well. When the Constitution is presented to the student body for ratification each man should be in a position to vote intelligently.

As a means of giving the Institute Committee a firm foundation for increasing its efficiency and widening the scope of student activities, the Constitution and by-laws were drawn up and presented to the student body for their inspection and approval. The committee wishes to hear the opinions of as many students as possible and is open to any suggestions that may be offered. It is the duty of every Tech man to show a lively interest in this matter and to investigate the issue thoroughly.

UNDERGRADUATE NIGHT.

Alumni Council to Discuss Student Activities.

The M. I. T. Alumni Council, which has done very effective work in aiding student activities at the Institute, has decided that one of its meetings shall be an "Undergraduate Night." The Council desires to be enlightened in regard to the character, amount and variety of the student activities at the Institute, and at this meeting representatives from the various student organizations will briefly describe the work of each.

The active interest taken by the Alumni Council in undergraduate affairs has proved an invaluable source of help to the Institute organizations, and it is hoped that the Undergraduate Night, to be held on March 31, will be one of great benefit, both to the Alumni Council and the Institute.

The suspense is awful.

TECHNIQUE, 1915, ELECTORAL COM.

Ballots Not Issued Until Today On Account of Delay at Printer's.

The 1915 Technique Electoral Committee wishes to make the announcement that, owing to a delay in printing, the ballots will not be issued until today. On this account these ballots will not be due until Wednesday, March 5th, at 4 o'clock. Of all the names appearing on the ballot, not more than 25 must be checked off, otherwise the ballot will not be counted.

Also, in order to be eligible to vote, all class dues should be paid. Ballots will be mailed to all persons classed by the registrar as members of the Class of 1915. All those passing in ballots must sign their names to avoid any complications that may arise.

FRIDAY LAST CHANCE.

Positively No 1913 Techniques Will Be Sold After Feb. 28.

The Technique, 1913, Board wishes to announce that there will be no opportunity to secure copies of Technique, 1913, after Friday, February 28. The Board desires to wind up its affairs by that date, so no late-comers will be served. The Technique office in the Union will be open from 1.40 until 2 P. M. each day from now until February 28, inclusive, for the benefit of those who still want to get their books.

A considerable number of those who signed up for books and paid the fifty-cent deposit have not yet appeared to fulfill their agreements. The Board believes that it is only fair that all who have promised to support Technique ought to carry out the terms of their pledge, and therefore urges all who have signed up to come around and get their books.

A few extra copies are still on hand, which will be on sale at the regular prices.

Positively no books will be sold at a reduced price. Last year there was a reduction sale, but the 1913 Board refuses to follow this precedent. Copies of Technique which cannot be sold at regular rates will remain unsold.

NEW COURSES OPEN.

Boston School Offers Opportunity in Foreign Languages.

Special courses in Spanish, Portuguese and Italian, designed to be of especial and immediate value to men who intend to enter into the commercial life of the countries where these languages are spoken, or to those intending to use these languages in business here in America, are being offered in the Continuation School of the city of Boston. This school is at 48 Boylston street, and provides free instruction to any who desire such knowledge.

Instruction is given by native teachers who thoroughly understand what a practical working knowledge of language is. These courses can readily supplement any that are given at the Institute, and can be of great service in as much as special attention is given to a careful training of the ear.

New classes are being formed both for beginners and advanced students, each class to be held two days a week, from 3.15 to 4.15 P. M. Similar courses are given daily from 4.30 to 5.30 o'clock. The latter classes have been in existence since December, but pupils having some knowledge of the language may be admitted. Application should be made at once to the office of the principal, Paul V. Donovan, Room 21, 48 Boylston street.

NEW CLASS ORGANIZED.

Prof. Cross Will Conduct Class in Radio-Activity Weekly.

Yesterday afternoon, in 22 Walker, one of the new classes of the Institute was inaugurated, which, according to those in a position to know, bids fair to become one of great importance in the future. This class, which is under the personal direction of Professor Cross, will deal exclusively with Radio-Activity and Electrical Discharges in Gases. The importance of these factors in present day science can hardly be estimated. Furthermore the future seems to have numberless other uses in store for Radio-Activity of one sort and another.

The new class will meet every Tuesday at 4.10, in 22 Walker. No registration is necessary and there will be no examinations.

T. C. A. SPEAKER.

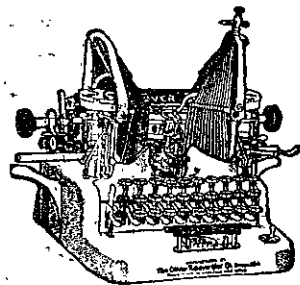

Mr. Henry Abrahams of Labor Union Fame Will Talk.

The labor problem today is by far one of the most serious problems that the engineer of today has to solve. And it is not too early for the future engineer to start the consideration of the problem now. The T. C. A. has had speakers of varied experience to talk on the subject, but this week it has been fortunate enough to get a man who is one of the best versed on the question in the country. Henry Abrahams the prominent labor leader, will address the students Thursday noon on the all-important subject, "Labor and the Church."

The theme is one of rather unusual interest, for its broadness will permit of a number of important references to various phases of the general topic. For the past twenty-five years Mr. Abrahams has done work among the alien laborers, and it is the study of these workers that is important to the engineer. Very often an engineer has difficulties with his gang of workmen which might easily have been evaded if he had had a previous knowledge of their peculiarities. This is the first time that Mr. Abrahams has spoken here, and he should prove one of the most popular of T. C. A. speakers.
