RESEARCH STUDY OF FREIGHT HANDLING

Paper Written by Tech Professors Will Show Reduction in Loss of Time.

Tonight, at 7:30, in 6 Lowell, the Boston Section of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and the Boston Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, will hold a joint meeting to discuss the present system of handling freight at the Boston Freight Terminal, with a view to reduce the loss in time. Dr. Harold Pender, H. P. Thomson and C. P. Eldred of the Electrical Engineering Department, have made a research study of freight handling and will have interesting facts to present at the meeting in the form of a written paper, "The Advantages We Offer," which has been written by them for this occasion.

The paper will contain an interesting comparison between delays by master teamsters at railroad yards and delays in the warehouse, and also a comparison between the Chicago and New York yards. It will also present the recent improvements in the operation of the Boston freight house and the saving in time that may be given the "master teamsters." These improvements have been instituted by the railroads to eliminate certain portions of waste of time.

The study of this industrial economy is made possible in the Institute through a fund given by the New Haven and Boston and Maine Railroad Companies.

Besides the discussion there will be numerous stereopticon views of normal and congested conditions in Boston. A number of railroad officials and many of the "master teamsters" will be present at the discussion.

The public is welcome.

corn, and said that Tech men, as future and influential men in a leading profession, will have the power to suppress such actions, in doing so, they can do more for the advancement of peace than possibly in any other way.

The fact that American students are leaders in the great student peace movement is the result of their large number of cosmopolitan clubs, where men from all nations meet and exchange their views of international peace, thus benefiting one another mutually. In the eyes of the European students the United States stands for justice and peace, and the speaker said that by their direct influence and strong character American students can teach the European students their ideals of peace and the advancement. By personal contact and influence in later years and in business relations with foreign men, this spirit of peace can do much to ward peace movement.

To further the great student peace work a conference will be held at Connell next September, according to Mr. Privat, of all the cosmopolitan clubs of the United States, and of the few in existence abroad. In Europe, the speaker said, clubs of such a liberal cosmopolitan nature were scarce, due to the intense spirit existing between the different nations, and it is only recently that this modern peace movement has been aided considerably by the establishment of such clubs and societies. Cosmopolitan clubs have been successfully formed in various universities of Germany and France, between which two countries the strongest spirit exists, and this has resulted in one of the greatest successes of the peace movement.

What American students, as future men of prominence and power, can do, Mr. Privat suggested, is to resist constantly the many temptations to promote enmity and war, and by the sheer force of their will and character, to prevent any actions that would tend to injure or retard the great world peace movement. Mr. Privat stated that he recently met President Wilson, and Mr. W. J. Bryan of the Cabinet, and that these two men, as representatives of the administration, stated that the question of the advancement of peace would be one of the most important points to be considered. In closing, Mr. Privat said that he hoped that Tech men would keep this peace question in mind and would do all in their power to help this world-wide peace movement.

The last meeting and talk of the students' Union Congregational Church of this city, will answer the questions asked by any of the men. The Association desires every man who wishes to ask any questions to hand them to any of the society's officers as soon as possible. The last talk will un-doubtedly prove to be extremely interesting.
