FAVORABLE PROSPECTS

Several Experienced Players Rejoin Club Team — Monday at Three.

Yesterday noon the men interested in soccer met in the Union. All the plans to far advanced were outlined to them by J. M. White '14 who has had much experience in playing the game, and is taking interest in the new team here at Technology.

All the men who reported have had previous experience and their dues and to judge by the interest displayed, a first class team will be turned out.

Anon the entry are: A. D. Baker '17, who has played in Riverdale, S. Parkinson of the club, played in Canada, Bagdoyan '15, who has played right half back and as a forward on the team at Armenina; W. L. Graves '16, from the team at Carteret Academy, where he played outside right, and also an outside right, D. E. Woodbridge '15, from Oscarney Hall Academy, beside three others, E. L. Edwards '15, who has played in both Switzerland and France, and O. R. Nielson '15, who has played in Denmark. T. K. Kao '15 has also reported for practice.

At the end of the practice yesterday, Mr. Kanaly is not at the Field.

At the end of the practice yesterday, Mr. Kanaly is not at the Field.

Today at 4 o'clock, Coach Kaniay will give the final touches to his machine today at the National League grounds in secret practice. The team of the year which will meet the Freshman tomorrow will be printed in the Field Day issue of the TECH.

CATHOLIC CLUB

HOLDS DINNER

C. O'C. Galvin of the Boston American-Catholic Union—Meeting Held After the Dinner.

The Catholic Club held its second meeting and dinner in the Union last evening. The speaker was C. O'C., Galvin, the Irish correspondent of the Boston American. Mr. Galvin spoke on the Irish Home Rule question. He said that he felt confident that the bill for Irish home rule will (Continued on page 4).

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

W. W. Rausch Elected Manager of Team—Schedule Started.

After the Freshman Class at its meeting yesterday had decided to support a basketball team, an election was held for the management. The result was W. W. Rausch, who has played in 6 Engineering C at five on Thursday, November 6, 1913.

Although the team has had but one game they have had several scrimmages with Melbourne Arts Association and with Boston Latin School, thus getting into good condition. The team has also improved greatly. Coach Cuddy will give the final touches to his machine today at the National League grounds in secret practice. The team of the year which will meet the Freshman tomorrow will be printed in the Field Day issue of the TECH.

1917 Football.

Yesterday afternoon the team was put through some extra hard practice, the backs, in breaking through the center. A large part of the time was devoted to signal practice and in trying out new formations. After practice the squad met and elected Parey, other captains come out to practice today so that he can give the team a tryout against a heavy lineup.

1916 Tug-of-War.

The Sophomore Tug-of-War Team held its last hard practice yesterday.

There were about 45 men out, so that practically a full team pulled against a full team. Today at 4 o'clock at the Gym there will be a light practice for those men who made the team. At the end of the practice yesterday Manager Apfel announced the team. The following men were chosen: Berke, Dickford, Blanchard, Barr, Burnup, Curtin, Ellis, Fletcher, Freeman, Fuller, Greaney, Hands, Jackson, Jewett, Keith, McKeen, Sweeney, Makepeace, Montrose, Morse, Peterson, Russeau, Seventy Sevens, Stecking and Woodbridge.

WEATHER

Fair, warmer, moderate westerly wind.

RAVILY INCREASING AS FIELD DAY APPROACHES

Enthusiastic 1916 Football Practice—Machine To Captain Sophomore Tag-of-War.

1916 Football.

Yesterday the Sophomore Football Team went through the most successful practice of the year. The work was done on the Oval.

All the men seemed impressed with the fact that Field Day will be a victory for 1916, in almost all probability, if the football game is won, and all the candidates showed a dash and fire which they have not been seen.

The game was close, steady and brisk, and the ball was handled cleanly and with precision. The passed were accurate and well handled.

Although the team has had but one game they have had several scrambles with Melbourne Arts Association, and with Boston Latin School, thus getting into good condition. The team has also improved greatly. Coach Cuddy will give the final touches to his machine today at the National League grounds in secret practice. The team of the year which will meet the Freshman tomorrow will be printed in the Field Day issue of the TECH.

BIG PREPARATIONS

Men Of All Departments Working For Special Issue

Preparations for the big souvenir issue are engrossing the attention of THE TECH Managing Board and such others as they can press into service. The candidates for Managing Editor are busy getting photographs, plans, information, etc., at the meeting of operations, chancing down to the electroplaters to see about casts, and doing such other odd jobs as will tend to throw their respective qualifications for the position.

The news men volunteered to "chase ads" for the issue, and results have exceeded expectations. The Board itself is busy writing and arranging the articles on different phases of the New Site, which have already been received, but which are awaiting publication until Saturday at eleven.

Particular effort is being put forth to incorporate in this paper such material as will be of permanent value to Tech men, making it above all else a souvenir of the great turning point in Technology's history.

THE CELEBRATION
Perhaps the most important point in which other colleges have the advantage over Technology is the number of opportunities they have for getting the students together in a body. Their formal assemblies and convocations are only a small part; much more significant are the football games, evening celebrations, and student formal gatherings.

The former are all too rare at the Institute, and the latter are almost unknown. Largely on this account we are particularly enthusiastic when an opportunity to get out of the rut and learn what Technology really means has not been offered within the memory of anyone now here, the nearest approach to it being the Founders' Day last year.

We are glad of the opportunity to print in this issue the communication regarding the Sunday Commons, from an alumnus who was editor of THE TECH more than a decade ago. We wish we might hear from some of the "old boys," particularly those who were connected with the paper.

GYM LOCKER KEYS
All freshmen should see Janitor Johnson of the Gym at once to obtain their keys. Cards may be received from him which are to be returned to the Bursar and a deposit made for the keys. All men who have keys left over from last year should return them immediately if they do not intend to use them longer.

WARREN '15 AND POLLEY '17 DOUBLES CHAMPIONS

Defeat Hurlburt '14 And Fay '14 In Finals—Mo Round Singles Close Monday.

The final round of the doubles in the tennis tournament was played at Jarvis Field yesterday afternoon and resulted in a victory for R. A. Warren '15 and E. G. Polley '17. They defeated the other semi-finalists, Hurlburt and Fay, in a four set match.

At the start of the match Warren was handicapped by using a new racket, and the two Seniors soon had the score up to 4-1 in their favor. Warren and Polley then braced and took the second set 6-2, and the fourth and final one, 6-1. This victory makes Warren and Polley the doubles champions of the Institute.

Mr. E. D. Smith, manager of the Shubert Theatre, was interviewed yesterday by the Tech's representative. The purpose of the interview was principally to get an idea of how the management of the theatre felt about Tech Night, and to find out just what they desired from the Institute men that evening.

Mr. Smith seemed very enthusiastic about the plans as outlined to him. In regard to the conduct of the meet at the theatre, he stated that he had few things to ask, and said he felt sure that the Institute men would abide by the wishes of the management. He requests that nothing be thrown on the stage, neither streamers nor confetti, nor cards. Besides the danger of injury to the members of the cast by slipping on the paper or tripping on the streamers, there is the added danger from fire, as these things are very inflammable, and when swept off the stage might easily take fire through some one's carelessness. Moreover, the smoothness of the performance is interfered with, which is a loss to the audience by causing any delay. He also mentioned that although it scarcely seemed necessary to say anything about it he hoped that no one would stand on the stage.

It is of course obvious that cards, or anything that might cause injury to the performers or to other persons present, should not be thrown. However, Mr. Smith does not care how many streamers are thrown among the audience so long as nothing whatsoever is thrown on the stage.

Members of the upper classes will see to it that these requests are obeyed and there is little reason to suppose that there will be any trouble.

All tickets have been sent down to the theatre, and all men holding duplicates can obtain their tickets by applying at the theatre.

CLASS RELAY TEAMS

The members of both the Freshman and Sophomore relay teams are requested to report in the yard of the third set, 6-2, and the fourth and final one, 6-1. This victory makes Warren and Polley the doubles champions of the Institute.

CANDIDATES FOR SOUSA’S BAND TO MEET IN UNION

Positions In This Unique Organization Eligible To All Classes.

“Meet at 4 o’clock today in the Union, ‘Musicians of Technology,’” the announcement rings out through the buildings and corridors of the Institute. Every undergraduate who can play any kind of a band instrument, who urges saying the committee of arrangements, to be present at a meeting in the Union at 4 o’clock today under the direction of Mr. George Maclachlan’s famous Sousa Brooks, a band will be selected to play at the Senior Joy Ride and Mid Day Dance. Those men, especially, who performed so nobly at the Technique Rush, are wanted for members in this extraordinary concourse.

A word in regard to Sousa Brooks, the famous leader. He is one of the shining lights in the Institute organization. He has also played before crowned heads, for at the Technique Rush last year there were many corruptions. There is no doubt that under such an able leader the band will be most successful, and it is only necessary that more men respond to the call.

Members of the band will be given free admission to the Field and free transportation on the Senior Special. It does not matter whether a man is a Senior, however, for all classes are welcome to the ranks of the bandmen and to add to the general din and to delight the ears of the colossus, Senior Special, the tickets for the Joy Ride have been going fast and will be on sale again this noon at 1 o’clock in the Union. The charge is ten cents for transportation and from the Field.

COMMUNICATION

Editor-in-Chief of THE TECH:

We want to congratulate Tech men, especially those away from home, upon having the privilege of hearing Dr. Fleischer in their own Huntington Hall on Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Fleischer is a religious leader, but he teaches the things in religion which move men, not those which divide them. He believes that religion is the practical idealism and aspiration of the everyday life of a people. In other words, his position in the world of religious teaching is what Tech’s field is in the realm of college work. Dr. Fleischer belongs to the spirits that inspired Tech, and he can fill a place in the life of Tech second in importance to none.

“A nation is in danger: whose doings and aims are not given meaning through ideal purposes.” Let us, then, long-headed friends of Tech’s best interests, do all in our power to keep him with us and among us.

Yours for Tech,

W. P. Grecy ’02.

(became a law next year). This would restore the Irish Parliament, in 1800, by Act of Union, the Irish Parliament was dissolved, and the Irish were refused the privilege of ruling themselves. It appeared from this that Ireland would become a colony in national governments. However, the Irish people have always cherished the hope of getting back their Parliament. The present movement of the nineteenth century various movements were made to bring about this movement. The movements included both revolutionary and constitutional.

Daniel O’Connell, leader of cause, caused several members of the House of Commons, and was nearly successful in an effort to have the Act of Union canceled. Up to the middle of the nineteenth century, princely institutions were interested in the movement. Next came the Young Ireland movement, supported chiefly by men who were graduates of Trinity College in Dublin. This movement was completely crushed. The spirits of the people at this time were very low; famine and emigration depleted their numbers. The population was reduced from nine million to four millions by this. At this time our Civil War broke out and many Irishmen came over and enlisted in the cause of the Union. This cultivated a spirit of action in the hearts of the Irish and they returned to Ireland to organize an army of insurrection. This movement was known as the Fenian movement. It was crushed, however, before the first, and the leaders executed or sent to Australia.

Benjamin Disraeli, then prime minister, realized the strength of the Irish movement. A lecturer, Mr. Foord, was sent to the United States to spread about the movement, and it was called back by the dissolution of Parliament. He was re-elected and became the leader of the Irish movement in the House of Commons. Gladstone was won over to the cause and introduced a bill for Irish Home Rule. This bill was defeated and the movement died for a quarter of a century. The bill was brought up a short time ago by Prime Minister Asquith. The bill passed the House of Commons, but was defeated by the House of Lords. This bill was brought again, as before was passed by the House of Commons and defeated by the Lords.

However, a bill was passed shortly before, the substance of which was that if a bill was passed three times by the House of Commons, it would become a law even though the Lords rejected it. This bill is to come up again in May, and it is felt sure that the lower house will pass it.

After Mr. Galvin’s talk, it was voted to send a letter of congratulation to Governor-elect David II. Walsh. The preliminary report of the committee to look into the matter of representation on the Institute Committee reported favorably, but action on the matter was postponed until next meeting, when more information will be furnished by the committee. A motion was passed to make Father Henry Brock, M. I., 1901, an honorary member of the society. The evening closed after Mefittoo and Maguire, of Summer Camp fame, had entertained the present with some blackface comic specialties.
