HOCKEY LETTERS ARE AWARDED BY COUNCIL

Report Of Wrestling Season Is Made By Manager Of The Team.

At a meeting of the Advisory Council on athletics held last Wednesday evening at the Technology Club, a thorough discussion of the basketball situation was held. It was expressed as the sentiment of those present that the M. I. T. A. should pay the $30 guaranteed to the New England Intercollegiate Conference, as well as the $26 due the Connecticut Agricultural College, incurred by the forfeiture of the games. The team entered three college meets, won one, and lost two, and four M. I. T. A. meets, winning every one. Of the thirty-two bouts fought T. C. A. should pay the

T. C. A. is To Publish Student's Handbook To Be Given Out Next Term.

At the beginning of school last September, all the upperclassmen noticed and wondered over the absence of the Technology "Bible" or student's handbook which they had been accustomed to receiving from the T. C. A. Its absence was due to the fact that the B. T. M. C. A. and the T. C. A. did not cooperate in time to get the book out. In past years, the former institution has published booklets and the T. C. A. has done the work unsupervised. A book bound in leather of the school colors of the ordinary size containing about one hundred and fifty pages is to be issued to the students and faculty free of charge. The book will consist of a diary with the minutes of the classes and the books marked, the officers of every organization, list of the school colors, and, of course, the grades, point system, point rank list, alphabetical list of instructors, Tech songs and yells, qualifications for institute insignia or class numerals, addresses of the fraternity houses, hour schedules for each term, a map of Boston, a list of the churches, the Student's handbook which they had been practiced and wondered over the absence of the Technology "Bible" or student's handbook which they had been accustomed to receiving from the T. The attitude of doubt on the part of the Institute Committee regarding the advisability of continuing to attribute the publication of the Tech to the Magazine in yesterday's number when a strong stamp of approval was evidenced by the practically unanimous vote. This step taken by the Committee was the result of a careful investigation and it is therefore logical to assume that this action reflects the sentiment of the average student. The investigation itself has had the good effect of directing the minds of the monthly staff to greater activity and, in addition, of attracting the student body to a more lively interest in Technology undergraduate publications.

Mr. Fairbanks has introduced some radical ideas in designing his machinery that have been generally denounced by the engineering world, but which have proved most satisfactory in practice. One device of his which has saved a lot of money is the cutting of a groove about the circum-cumference of the crank pin in the middle of the crank. When the crank breaks it will fracture along this groove, and will still be supported by the connecting rod bearing.

Once when doing some rush work, which would have meant the loss of tens of dollars if the machinery had stopped, they ran for a short while with all the crank pins broken, and were able to get through.

Another interesting device of Mr.

Fairbanks is that of cutting screw threads on the inside of the cylinder walls of his engine. On the piston is cut a thread of a lesser pitch so that it will not engage with the cylinder. This retains the oil on the cylinder walls and gives most satisfactory lubrication.

The workmanship that Mr. Fairbanks puts into his machinery is of the highest order. Pistons are designed to fit the cylinder exactly so that they will bear down a surface and do not form a line. Cross heads are designed so that they may be made to fit their guides with a thousand thousandth of an inch for an oil film.
