TRACK TEAM ENTERED IN MANY GOOD MEETS

Schedule Gives Plenty Of Competition During Winter And Spring.

Manager Webster of the Track Team announces the following schedule for the winter and spring seasons. It is of necessity tentative at present, but the management is fairly certain that it will be able to enter teams in all of the meets mentioned.

The relay season will be especially busy, the team getting the lion's share of the competition. The season will commence with a relay race against Harvard at the Coast Artillery cadets at the South Armory on the evening of January 23rd. Most of the individual members of the track team will also compete in the various open events.

INSTITUTE COMMITTEE

Longest Session Of Year Held Last Thursday.

The meeting of the Institute Committee last Thursday was one of the longest in its history. The length of the session was due to the numerous important questions under discussion. The meeting opened with the reports of the sub-committees, following which a petition was presented by Major Tobey of the Technology Cadets that the Officers Club be given representation in the Institute Committee. The Bulletin Board Committee submitted a plan for preventing the theft of posters together with a scheme to make these a source of profit. Attentation was then turned to the proposed revision of the Point System. A vote of censure was passed upon the Point System Committee, as it was the sentiment of the Committee that the revision of the Point System had not received sufficient time and attention in its preparation, and that the Committee as a whole had been generally lax in the performance of their duties. The revised alterations to be made in the Point System will soon be published.

The opinion given by today’s communicant has recently been expressed in this column, but has never received the emphasis it deserves. It is only for the sake of our appearance in the eyes of other college men. It behooves us to show the respect we feel for our President and senior Professors.

We are glad to learn that the orchestra in the Union dining room at dinner hour is to be made a permanent feature.

The address given yesterday in the Union is a good example of the pearls that are cast before Tech men. While the attendance was good for an affair of this kind, the hearers were the same ones who attend the T. C. A. talks, and in general get the most benefit from all Institute life. The remaining ninety percent, if they would but come out of their shells, would find much going on at the Institute which is well worth their attention.

THE LABOR QUESTION
OF THE PRESENT DAY

The Rev. William T. Clark in his speech yesterday noon in the Union attracted a constantly increasing number of attentive listeners. He opened with the statement that when he had entered the field of social work among the laboring classes, his ideas had been those of the average middle-class individual, to the effect that everyone who was poor had his own shiftlessness, incompetence, bad habits, or other shortcomings to blame; and that it had taken years of work among those very classes to get those ideas out of his head.

He then proceeded to give figures from his own experience to show that deeper causes are keeping the average American wage-earner from his birthright of "Life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." He gave as the minimum income which would keep a father, mother, and three children fed, clothed, and moderately comfortable, $600 per year. Of his conclusions, comprising of course on the whole a steady and more industrious type of laborer than the average on 70 per cent had below this figure, and 48 per cent below $750. These men were not of one particularly down-trodden type, but represented 46 different occupations. He gave several telling illustrations of the extremes to which he had been observing, industrious families reduced.

Dr. Clark then turned to a consideration of the families who do live comfortably, indulge in a few amusements and luxuries, and start savings accounts. He stated that this condition exists in the case of the average laborer's family, from the time when the oldest child goes to work until the youngest reaches and leaves the home, and practically no other time. After this loss of support, the laborer, with a constantly decreasing earning power, must look forward to the poorhouse for himself and his wife as the culmination of a life of earnest effort and service to the community. The speaker characterized the system which imposes such a penalty upon the men who (Continued on Page Five)

PEACE MESSAGE COMES FROM ENGLAND'S TECH

TO THE PRESIDENT, PROFESSORS, AND STUDENTS

MASSACHUSETTS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

BOSTON, MASS., U. S. A.

HEARTIEST CONGRATULATIONS FROM THE MANCHESTER MUNICIPAL SCHOOL OF TECHNOLOGY TO OUR GREAT SISTER INSTITUTION ACROSS THE SEAS, ON COMPLETION OF ONE HUNDRED YEARS PEACE AND CORDIAL UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN THE TWO PEOPLES 1814-1914.

(SIGNED)

J. C. MAXWELL GARNETT,
PRINCIPAL.
K. SINCLAIR,
PRESIDENT STUDENTS' UNION.

This greeting from Manchester to Technology is printed on a hand-deckled sheet, garnished with a deft combination of the seals of the two schools, the mottoes of which, "Mens et Manus" and "Concilis et Labores," are interesting variations of the "brain and brawn" idea. A cover of terra-cotta art buckram, suitably lettered by hand, enclosed the whole.

The Manchester Municipal School of Technology ranks very near the top among institutions of its kind in Britain. It is distinctly a municipal undertaking, since its board of government is a committee of aldermen and a council. It is situated in the heart of the business district and specializes in the textile industry. While it is not to be rated by American standards of education, it fills the needs of just such a community, where its students must begin to earn their bread as soon as possible.

A man of his congregation obtained employment in Fall River, and was rejecting over the opportunity to work, "happy as a clam." Dr. Clark asked him how much he was to receive, and learned that he did not know. "I thought I'd better not ask," he explained. The speaker mentioned the recent advertisement of a Boston theatre for 100 supers, which was answered by 5000 men. He also cited the case of a married man, earning $12 a week. A single man, who would do the work for $9, replaced him; and was in turn discharged to make room for a woman at $6. Finally a child obtained the job for $4. Summing up, Dr. Clark described the labor classes today as divided against each other, fighting for the opportunity to work, competing even against their wives and children.

The complaint of employers that they can obtain no efficient labor nowadays must receive the speaker's attention. He mentioned a woman whom he had talked with who, worked in a nail factory. She worked by the piece, earning about $6 a week. Asked whether she could not earn more, she replied that she did, when the pipe is filled with Tuxedo. Tuxedo provides more enjoyment than any other tobacco 1 hour."
