The Denouement
Time passed. How much our hunter did not know. Perhaps it was the second, perhaps five minutes, perhaps an hour. With his whirring brain, with his thoughts of Niemand zu Hause the passage of time in that crowded hall were as a dream.

Suddenly he felt a moving object upon his forehead. The pulsation gave him a distinct shock. He looked down and, behold, there was his faithful reproach. But when a different picture he presented than that which was drawn in the first installment of our story. No longer was he the evacuating chaser hot on the trail of the scurrying rabbit. Alas! he had found in this artful dodger Niemand zu Hause. He was now dejected-chagrined. His wildly distorted brain, to quiet his, was going on. The hall was an auditorium-our own Huntington Hall. The throng was high-class vaudeville. The occasion was an entertainment. What is to be the nature of the performance? With a few minor changes, was the budget committee emphasizing the necessity of securing money for athletics, because this is required for all sign-ups, but the whole expense will not exceed six dollars. The Prom will be held on Monday evening, April 19th, at the Copley Plaza, and from present indications it will be a "Prom Extraordinary." The Committee promises an unusually attractive program and it is whispered that there will be an innovation in the dance orders. The contract for the printing was given to Pry & Co. of Philadelphia, and the Prom Committee announces that until within two weeks or ten days of the Prom, the dance orders will not be given out, but preliminary orders can be obtained.

Music will be furnished by twenty pieces of University's orchestra, and the numerical selections have been chosen with extreme care. All students must remember that the number of sign-ups is limited, and that Sophomores and freshmen who sign-up now will be the first to receive recognition.

TECHNIQUE SIGN-UPS

because they did not sign up when first asked. On the other hand, if the issue is too large, the board loses large amount of money every book they fail to sell. The natural conclusion is that the order will be under rather than over-estimated, and books will be scarce at the time of the rush. Those men signing up before the middle of March will be given the preference when it comes to the actual sale of the book.

"Another fact which has been brought home to the board is the feeling that the book is only for juniors and seniors. This year, more than ever before, it will be an institute, not a Class, publication, and very man, be he freshman, soph, junior or senior, should think twice before he lets slip the opportunity to buy one.

The work on the book continues to give promise of a wonderful Techique, one which will be really different from those of previous years.

The art work to date has surpassed even "Fanny" Freeman's efforts, while the grids, the informal pictures, the statistics, and the athletic section are brim full of "pep." The Senior section is practically completed, a few men only have not returned their proofs or passed in their statistics, and this feature bids fair to be a remarkable success.

Ask the board about the sexual activities of the Chen, lab—they probably won't tell you, but it's all in the book.

THE man that's always flyin' off the handle don't crack many nuts in this world.

A cool, contentful smoke of friendly VELVET is a wonderful help when you've got a hard to crack. Its mildness will keep you on the handle." 1c cins and 5c metal-lined bags.

WINTER TALK IS GIVEN BY RABBI LEVI

Speaker Chooses For Subject "The New Morality" Many Present.

The Temple Israel Association had its regular weekly talk last Thursday night in the Union when Rabbi Levi of the Temple Israel was the speaker. His subject was "The New Morality" and the talk was a very interesting and helpful one, being well received by the large number present.

The speaker mentioned the child labor problem, stating that 2,750,000 boys and girls were engaged in wage earning occupations, many of them four, five and six years of age, having to work from ten to twelve hours a day. Thousands of boys of ten years are in the coal mines. "Children are here in this world to be loved, not to be buried."

"The New Morality" has changed the attitude of society towards the man. The fundamental duty of the state, as is now being recognized, is to protect man. Educationally, the individual is coming into his own and industrially, man is standing on his own feet. There is also a changed attitude toward woman. There are 6,000,000 women who are wage-earners, while thousands of women are engaged in wage-earning capacity, who do not need the wage but do the work for charity. Their demand at the present time is for suffrage.

"The New Morality" is changing the attitude toward marriage. The first speaker was Mr. H. P. Bell who has just returned from Japan, having been an English instructor in one of the high schools there. He said that there seems to be a closer understanding between the instructors and students in that country than ours. The scholars now sit in chairs and it is noticed that the rising generation is taller than the previous one.

The next conference will be held next Thursday afternoon and the engineering possibilities of China will be taken up.
