Editor's Note—the above line was ponded upon us by the efficacious agent of said show. He wanted it sold over two columns but we told him it wouldn't be of any use 'cause anybody'd have to get up a third or fourth column in order to read them. He has promised a more favoring review but it probably will be until to print. The claim that the advantages of the show are "great" is in support of that stirring appeal for which a dollar seventy-five is the price.

FRESHMAN TEAM LOSSES

On last Wednesday the freshman team went to Cambridge and there lost to the Harvard freshman team by a score of 4-2. The Harvard team which used to be of considerable size is now decidedly inactive.

Tom Hawkins To Be A Feature Of Entertainment

The annual Military Hop which is to be held in the Palm Room at the Hotel Lane on May 5th will offer many new and interesting features. Among the arrangements of the evening is the annual ballroom dance which will be held at the Horticultural Hall.

Tom Hawkins will be remembered as a drumming contest which was held at the Georgian when "Watch Your Step" was playing in Boston.

Several parties of Seniors and Juniors are arranging to attend so many classes will be well represented by Richard C. Maclaurin and probably Mrs. Edward P. Miller and Mrs. E. W. Tate. Tom Cole will act as matrons for the occasion. Dancing will commence at 8.30 and continue until 2.00 o'clock. Refreshments will be served about 11:00 p.m. The night has been chosen with much consideration, and it is expected that the advantages of the show are "great." In support of that stirring appeal for which a dollar seventy-five is the price.

VIRGINIA TANNER TO COACH BALLET FOR SHOW
First Rehearsal For Show Dancers To Be Held Saturday Afternoon

Miss Virginia Tanner, who coached the ballet and individual dancing in last year's Show, has again been engaged by the Show management to take charge of the dancing in this year's production. Miss Virginia Tanner has long been connected with dramatics and individual dancing, having been in dramatics during her college career at Radcliffe, and directing class pageants since receiving her degree. Among the pageants of which she has had charge are the Greek Pageants at Bethlehem, and at Worcester: the Masque of Rookport, and the Pageants of the Madison Valley, on which Miss Tanner has devoted much of her time to individual dancing, each at the home of Mrs. John Hays Hammond in Glendale, and at the one-door Festival at George Gordon King's estate, where she was one of the principal performers; and was for a time a dance instructor for the Boston Transcript. She has interned from the Boston, and will start working on the Show ballet and chorus dancing immediately. The first ballet rehearsal for the Show will be held under the supervision of Miss Tanner every afternoon at 3.00 o'clock in the Union Rooms A and B.

Tonight afternoons at 5.00 o'clock there will be a chorus rehearsal in the Union Dining Room; and a cast rehearsal in the Union Rooms A and B at the same time. On Saturday there will be a cast rehearsal in the Union Dining Room at 2.00 o'clock.

E. E. SOCIETY
Illustrated Lecture on Electromagnets
Mr. C. H. Underhill, Chief Electrical Engineer of the American Wire Company, lectured before the Electrical Engineering Society yesterday evening upon the subject of 'Electromagnets.' The talk was necessarily technical to some extent, yet it was so thoroughly comprehensive and experimental as to make it very interesting.

Mr. Underhill first made a brief division between the two major types of electromagnets, the portable and the tractor types. The first type is used for lifting and purposes where it is not necessary for the armature to move. The second is more generally used, and covers all the different forms of fields. Mr. Underhill had with him a very extensive experimental apparatus, with which he showed the effects of different methods of construction upon the pushing power of the solenoid. Two special circuits had to be run into the Union in order to enable Mr. Underhill to carry out his experiments.

L. C. PRIOR - Manager
Mr. C. W. Furlong Tells Society Of Travels In South America

Following the Naval Architecture dinner held at the Union last Tuesday night, Mr. Charles W. Furlong gave an illustrated talk. His subject as announced was "By Land and Sea around North Africa and Cape Horn," but in the end he spoke more of his travels around the world, since the present war. Chiefly, however, he demonstrated the part played by the Moors in this region and debts which civilization owes to them. He accompanied his words with some colored maps and pictures taken by himself.

He then turned to South America and described a trip which he had taken in that country. His trip led him up the Orinoco River for many miles. He showed photographs of the river banks and of the luxuriant tropical growth. For several hundred miles up the river was as much as four or five miles wide. During the trip up the river he had crossed a 10-foot stream, yet with that he had crossed the continent of South America. Starting from the Atlantic coast, he proceeded inland to Lake Argentina. Here he was entertained most hospitably by a man who called himself "Cattle." This man told him that "one should never ask a person in this region, "What is your name?" but "What do you call yourself?"

An incident showing still further the unsettled condition of the country occurred one night while they were listening to some Caruso records on a victrola. Suddenly "Cattle" got up and barred the doors and windows, explaining that there was a gang of bandits in the district. But no attack was made. When Mr. Furlong started to go, he discovered that his horses had wandered off. After he had searched in vain for them, he encountered six horses very generously offered by "Cattle," the owner of his best horses. It was not necessary, however, to accept them, for the lost horses returned.

WAR FORECAST

weans of the west, the type of all that is predatory, violent, and aggressive. No wonder your history has been one long and lamentable tale of antago- nism, tumult, carnage, and confusion. No quarter the application of whose powers have oscillated between open war and truces as discreditable to the one as to the other. No wonder that down to the present day every man among you who has been genu- inely inspired with the spirit of your religion has shrunk in horror from the society which purports to have adopted its principles as its own.…….If there is one feature more marked than another in the teaching of Christ it is the condemna- tion of every type of violence, human. They (Christians) have interpreted the words of their founder to mean the reverse of what they say, and have crowned him, apparently without any sense of the solemnity of the words were, antagonism, to be the defend- er and champion not only of their whole system of law, based as it is on the prayer, and the scaffold, but of all their wars, even of those which the natural sense of mankind appear to be least defensible and the most injurious. ……But war fills me with amazement and even, if not with terror, with horror, in the fact that the nations of Europe should attempt to justify their acts from the standpoint of the gospel of Christ; and that there should be found among them a Christian Per- tentent (Emporer of Germany) who is sending forth his soldiers on an errand of revenge should urge them. In the name of him who bade us to turn the other cheek not merely to attack, not merely to kill, but to kill the man who do not accept it, that practice the power of peace; it is you who accept it that trample it under foot. And—irony of ironies—it is the nations of Christendom who have come to us to teach us by sword and fire that right in this world is powerless unless it is supported by might. Oh, is it right that we shall learn the lesson. And woes to Europe when we shall have acquired it. You are arm- ing a nation of four hundred millions, nations which until you came into the world could not even better with than live at peace with themselves and all the world. In the name of Christ you have sounded the call to arms. In the name of Christ you were justified, and they condemn us.……A detail of the Technological or- ganization of the Institute is going on at the Gym. Among the speakers are
