Charles, and that by the attitude the class assumes it can either help perpetuate that spirit or destroy the work of years.

Major Cole was next to speak on "Preparedness"—but not military preparedness. His subject was preparedness for life, and he urged especially in this connection that in the building of character, participation in the activities of the Institute played a large part.

Following Major Cole's discourse Prof. Blachstein gave a very witty talk, which had been announced as "The Fourth Dimension." His speech consisted mainly of anecdotes and comments on things in general and the class of '19 in particular.

Pres. Griffin then introduced Mr. L. W. Littlefield, Secretary of the Reunion Committee, who explained in glowing terms the plans for Technology's great event in June. The conclusion which he has in the complete success of the affair is due largely to the fact that Technology has a larger and stronger alumni association than any other institution in the country, and be praised the showing of the class as a unit, remarking that the strength of our alumni association is due to class loyalty. In closing Mr. Littlefield bespeaks the active interest of the undergraduate body in the Reunion, driving home his point by saying that the world is coming more and more to depend upon the student and the engineer.

FACULTY NOTICE

The list of candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Science for the present year has been presented to the Faculty, and all persons whose names are on it have been notified individually. The list cannot now be changed except by vote of the Faculty or by any student expecting to be recommended for the degree. Those who should consult me if he has not been notified that his name is on the list.

A. L. MERRILL, Secretary.

ANNOUNCEMENT

President and Mrs. Macartney, who have been having a series of receptions at their home to the students, wish to announce that the reception this week will be on Friday instead of Saturday as stated in the invitations.

FACULTY NOTICE

There are more behind the movement than the feeling that a proctor is needed or that isolation rooms is an insult to the honor of those who are taking the examination. Probably the majority feel the need of a proctor to clarify the wording of examination questions. Certainly if the proctor is well prepared, some provision must be made for giving such information.

The basic reason for an honor system's strict nature is to be responsible to themselves for their personal conduct. The pre-parochial schools tend to regard the question of honesty as a faculty realm, an idea which is carried through the Institute by perhaps more than many suspect.

It seems rather a waste of time to calculate whether the honor system would work in Technology. If it is argued that there is no sentiment in favor of it, it can be equally argued that there is no sentiment against it. But that it is neither here nor there; it will be impossible to get any ideas of the general sentiment until a belief of the whole student body is taken, and it is to be hoped that the Institute Committee will have the wisdom to provide for such action at the meeting next Thursday.

The essential features of the honor system as outlined yesterday are: (a) the honor system shall apply to the conduct of students in examinations and practice work; (b) proper provision shall be made for a student to hear of a charge made against him for violation of the honor system; (c) after such examination the student shall sign a slip in effect that (1) he has not given nor received assistance, or (2) he has neither given nor received assistance nor has anyone else give or receive assistance; (d) violation of the code of the honor system shall result in the citation of the student to the honor board, the investigation shall be public or private, at the discretion of the Honor Board, and if the charges are sustained the honor board shall recommend to the faculty that the offender be dismissed from the Institute. If there is any reason why such a scheme should not be submitted to the student body for formal acceptance we fail to see it.

There is more behind the movement than the feeling that a proctor is needed or that isolation rooms is an insult to the honor of those who are taking the examination. Probably the majority feel the need of a proctor to clarify the wording of examination questions. Certainly if the proctor is well prepared, some provision must be made for giving such information.
