MARCH-FOURTH THREATENS
POSITION OF THE FOURTH OF JULY

Undergraduate Spirit and Enthusiasm Unconfined at Enormous Gathering in The Union
Friday-Detailed Plans for Great Pageant Explained by Professor Adams Crum—854 Sigs

Technology's largest smoker was held Friday evening, which was the culmination of the work for the undergraduates in the great Reunion. Never before has the Institute seen such a gathering of students, and never before has the enthusiasm and spirit of the students been so high. The spirit of the occasion was rather a unique experience for all. It was, due partly to the conditions and partly to the students themselves. The students were the key to the whole situation. They have learned to show their enthusiasm and spirit in a way that is both dignified and proper.

On Friday evening, the Pratt Institute of Arts, which is a part of the Union, was filled to the brim with people. The hall was packed with students and alumni, all of whom were there to witness the great event. The occasion was one of the most important in the history of the Institute.

The President of the Senior Class, T. D. Brolly, took the podium and welcomed the students. He said:

"Gentlemen, we are gathered here this evening to discuss the plans for the greatest event that Technology has ever known. I have been told that you are all enthusiastic and that you are ready to do whatever it takes to make this event a success. I hope that you will all be present on Friday to see the new Technology buildings. I want you all to stay up and support all the students who will be present.

"Any Technology man who, for any reason, misses the opportunity to be present in June, will regret it all his life. Never run there, but show Technology the best of what you are, and prove to the alumni that you are just as loyal as they are. You have been planning and working for this event, and I hope you will all be present on Friday.

"In introducing Professor Cram, who is one of the greatest men in the world of architecture, I must say that I have no doubt that he will do a wonderful job. Professor Cram's conception of the subject is so imaginative and so full of vision that I am sure that he will be able to do it.

"On Friday evening, the President of the Union, Richard C. Macnichin, will take the podium and lead an enthusiastic chant."

The President closed the meeting with the words:

"I hope that the students will all be present on Friday to see the new Technology buildings. I want you all to stay up and support all the students who will be present."

 Chairs were assigned, and the orchestra led several songs. The students were in high spirits and ready to do whatever it takes to make this event a success.

"The President of the Senior Class, T. D. Brolly, then took the podium and closed the meeting with the words:
