WRESTLING CLASS TO BE STARTED MONDAY

Different Holds To Be Taught To All Interested Three Times A Week.

An excellent opportunity for those who would like to learn wrestling will be offered when the new class is started. The purpose of this class is to develop a strong team for next year's season. The management is negotiating with some twelve colleges and expects to arrange a schedule of some eight weeks with the strongest teams of the East. These include Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, Penn State, University of Pennsylvania, Lehigh and Lafayette.

With a schedule of such difficult appointments, it is necessary to begin work this year to develop next season's team. In many classes new men must be developed and new material of any weight is welcome. There is an especial need of men in the 129 lb., 175 lb., and in the heavy-weight classes. An excellent opportunity is open to a man who is willing to work. The first team is picked

SPRING MEET TICKETS

All men who sold Spring Meet tickets will please hand in their money and unsold tickets to the management at the Track Office any noon this week or between 5 and 6 in the evening.

HARVARD TRACK TEAM WINS PRACTICE MEET

F. L. Cook Takes Only First Place For Technology—440-Yard Run Hard Fought.

The Crimson track team had little trouble taking most places in a practice meet Wednesday afternoon at the Stadium, and with the exception of F. L. Cook not one Technology runner crossed the tape in advance of the Harvard track men. The 440-yard race proved the most interesting and the hardest fought, for it was only due to the extraordinary running of W. J. Bingham of Harvard that the Crimson team captured first place. F. L. Cook and F. J. Wall put up a fine race in the one and one-half mile run and succeeded in taking first and second places in spite of the efforts of the Cambridge runners. C. W. Loomis and F. P. O'Hara failed to place in the 100-yard dash, but owing to the Prom the night before, the failure is partially explained. The field and weight events were easily won by Harvard and with the exception of J. M. Avery in the broad jump, Technology did not take a better place than fourth.

RIFLE CLUB

High Scores Tuesday Despite Wind—Trip Tomorrow.

Tuesday afternoon the Rifle Club made its weekly trip to the Walnut Hill range, and although the wind was strong and fitful, succeeded in making some very good scores.

The high score men were on the two hundred, Casselman and Brandt; on the three hundred, Brandt with 46, followed by Casselman with 44; on the five hundred, Brandt and Casselman again starred, the former with 46, and the latter with 44, with McDonald also having 44 to his credit, while Johnson came next with 43.

The Club will make a trip as usual this Saturday, all men who have not been out three times being considered eligible. Members desiring to go will sign up on the Union Bulletin board. The first ten men to sign up are requested to report at the South Armory to take out rifles and ammunition. Permits will be left at the Armory as soon as the names of these men can be secured. The Armory closes at one o'clock Saturdays, and rifles must be obtained before ten minutes after the hour.

There will be a meeting of the Executive Committee in the Union today at 12 o'clock.

CLASS DAY COMMITTEE

The Senior Class Day Committee will meet today at 4.30 in 11 Engineering B.

INSTITUTE ALUMNUS REVIEWS TECH SHOW

Gardner's Dancing And Surl's Music Receive Much Praise.

Tech Show 1915 staged at the Boston Opera House Saturday under the title of "Getting A-Cross," proved to be in general merit one of the best shows seen in recent years. Hardly a higher compliment can be paid than to say that it would lose nothing in being given by a professional company. The success of the production depended in no way upon an abundance of purely local hits, nor on the burlesque of women by men.

The music, while including no song equal to "Oh You Dear" of "Castles in Spain," was of an exceptionally high order. The finale of Act I and the overture of Act II, written by F. L. Surls, showed a grasp of musical ideas unusual in a college student. Perhaps the best of the remaining numbers were the "Como Fox Trot" and the song "I'd Love to Love Somebody," both composed by I. B. McDaniel. The whole score was admirably rendered by the orchestra

TECHNIQUE SIGN-UPS

Issue Is Oversubscribed—Sign-ups Void After May 8th.

For the benefit of men who still have sign-up slips, the Technique Board offers the following statement, as to just how they may be redeemed.

The Technique office will be open every Wednesday and Saturday noon, up to and including the 8th of May, and at these times, sign-ups will be redeemed, and books delivered. Men holding "paid up" slips, that is, men who have paid the whole $2.75, can obtain a book at any time when there is someone in the office.

There are, at present, about 200 books that have not been called for, and approximately 250 sign-ups out

FRIDAY, APRIL 23, 1915.

There seems to be a sentiment among some of the undergraduates that the communication on the Mayor's policy of theatrical censorship does not deal intimately enough with Institute affairs to warrant its publication. Such a sentiment will doubtless be removed by a more careful consideration of facts.

First, Mr. Belcher's opinion is one that is shared by a large number of undergraduates who have not had the courage or the initiative to express that opinion above their signature.

Second, as an educational institution, the drama may play an important part in the lives of Institute men. Those who will not have access to good theatres after graduation particularly are affected by the Mayor's policy.

The names of three persons will always be associated with the success of Tech Show 1915—Mr. Samuel Hume, the dramatic coach; Mr. William Howard, the musical director; and Miss Virginia Tanner, the dancing instructor. To their conscientious attention to detail, their ever-present spirit of co-operation, and their extraordinary patience under trying circumstances, Technology owes a lasting debt of gratitude for one of the best Shows in recent years.

The giving of a smoker to the Class of 1915 by the Seniors in Courses I, III and XI indicates that the "Summer Camp Trust" has possibilities of serving a useful purpose at Technology. Such an exhibition of public spirit, which is backed as strongly financially as it is morally, occurs only too rarely at the Institute. If the "Summer Campers" will continue to seek expression for their feeling of goodfellowship through channels of this sort, rather than through the various class elections, they will not only remove the stigma attached to the word "Trust," but will also do much toward establishing a true school spirit at Technology.

SOPHOMORE BASEBALL

All candidates for the Sophomore baseball team must report for practice this afternoon at four o'clock. The first game with the freshmen will be played next Monday at four o'clock in the Fenway on the field in the rear of the Art Museum.

FRESHMAN BASEBALL

The first 1918 baseball game will be played Saturday at 2.30 o'clock with Wentworth Institute on their grounds on Huntington avenue behind the school. There will be practice for the team tomorrow at the Columbus avenue grounds and the team will be picked after practice. Every candidate should come out for practice.

against these, so that the board expects to have no trouble in getting rid of the issue. In addition, a large number of applications have been filed for additional books, which will be filled in the order in which they were received, provided there are any books left over after the 8th of May. On this date the sign-up slips become void and the holders lose the seventy-five cents which they have deposited.

The idea of a reprint, which was seriously considered, is now considered inadvisable, and while it is not yet definitely dropped, it is altogether improbable that there will be any further issue.

under the direction of William Howard.

It is decidedly rare to find, in any college, a man versed in the art of dancing. The work of J. P. Gardner in his imitation of Pavlowa is something that can be equaled by few, if any, college shows in the country. His dancing was even better than last year, showing greater control and poise in the difficult toe dancing specialties. Here again may be noted the entire absence of burlesque. Gardner's act won applause solely on its artistic merits. The other solo dances also showed ability of a very high grade. The chorus and pony ballet were equal in looks to those of many current musical comedies, but it is to be regretted that the pony ballet showed such a lack of familiarity with their steps. This has been a noticeable fault in recent Shows.

J. F. Staub as Honoree was perhaps the prettiest, most graceful heroine since the days of Charley Bel-den. Down to the least gesture he was true to his part, and never appeared uncomfortably conscious of his costume. The other two principal girl parts were very ably taken by K. B. Owen and J. E. Wallis, Jr. H. C. Williamson made a very attractive Bob Scott. His voice carried well and was especially well adapted to his song in the first act, "I'd Love to Love Somebody." It was difficult to understand the interpretations of General Le Boob and Professor Cannum given by I. B. McDaniel and A. H. Waitt. McDaniel, who achieved such a great success as the author of the Show and composer of some of the best music, seemed to forget the nature of his part. No reason can be found for a French general speaking at one time with an attempted French accent and at another in American slang. Compared with the work of R. H. White as the captain the inconsistency was all the more apparent. If Professor Cannum be regarded as merely a comic character having no relation to a Tech professor, an American, or a peace delegate, A. H. Waitt may be considered to have taken the part excellently. He was always at ease before the audience and was decidedly amusing, except in the bathing song in the first act, where he inclined toward horse-play. W. A. Wood took the part of the dog "Towser," to perfection. His canine gestures were exceedingly droll, and added greatly to the life of the performance. He did not at any time overdo his part. "Useless," the negro servant, impersonated by J. M. Brown, was not at all what his name signified in contributing to the success of the Show. Both his dialect and his mannerisms were true to life. R. P. Kennard played his part admirably. His English accent was somewhat uncertain but his acting more than made up for it.

Altogether it seems that this year's performance has done much to place Tech Show foremost among other college productions of its kind.

If a man is unable to make the first team immediately he can still enter in the second team meets. There will be several of these with such teams as Harvard seconds, Andover, Allen School, Milton Academy and the Y. M. C. A. teams. Then, too, the second team will, in the course of time, become the first team. In addition to those trying out for the wrestling team, the management will welcome anyone interested either for the sake of sport or for exercise. The different holds will be illustrated by the varsity team and ample opportunity will be given for the men to try them out individually.

Following this the men will be paired up for a work out, brief at first but longer as the men get into better condition. For the next month the work will consist of a class every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 4.30 o'clock. The first class will be held in the Gymnasium next Monday.

The management wishes it understood that but six weeks of school are left and it is necessary to get in a month's hard work. This means that the practice must start promptly next Monday.

INSTITUTE COMMITTEE

The next meeting of the Institute Committee will be held in Room 8, Engineering C, at five o'clock Tuesday, April 27th, and following meetings on alternate Tuesdays throughout the remainder of the term.

CHAUNCY HALL CLUB

There will be a meeting tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in the Union. The coming out to be held on Saturday, May 18th, to Salem Willows will be discussed. The trip will be made by the members of the Club in the Institute and those now attending Chauncy Hall.

members of the Electrical Engineering Society assembled at the Union last evening. The making of the apparatus was traced from the raw material to the completed piece and the particulars and details of the manufacture were pictured on the screen as were many of the machines used in the operations. Mr. Gilman, after the talk, answered many questions relating to the subject.

This lecture concludes the course of six arranged by Dr. F. P. Jewett, the Assistant Chief Engineer of the Western Electric Co. Dr. Jewett, who is a graduate of the Institute, has had much interest in the undergraduates and their activities since leaving Technology and this year took the opportunity of giving to the students of electrical engineering pictures of some of the practical work with which they may have to deal. Few men are capable of realizing better than Dr. Jewett the slight conception of the layman in regard to the telephone industry. It was with this fact in view that he spent much time in selecting the men most suitable to present the problem to the men of the E. E. Society. The large number who took the advantage to attend the course proved that the choices were well made and the subjects of the speakers both popular and acceptable.

Besides Dr. Jewett there were two more of the speakers who are graduates of the Institute, Mr. Gerard Swope, who spoke March 10, being of the class of '95, and Dr. Rockwell who lectured April 8, was of the class of '07.

Topics of the course were: Questions of Apparatus Design, the Outside Plant, Transmission, Manufacturing and the Business Organization. From this course the attending members of the E. E. Society have become intimately acquainted with the various phases of telephony, covering the engineering and manufacturing problems connected with the subject.
