FACULTY DECIDES TO AWARD DEGREES TO THE CLASS OF 1919

One Hundred and Fifty-Five Members of the Class Are Eligible, Having Completed Professional Studies During Summer Months

NO THESIS REQUIRED

As a further evidence of its desire to be helpful to the country in the great existing emergency of war, the Faculty at its last meeting voted to confer degrees upon those students who have completed professional courses. For the standard here, there has been a certificate of the completion of the professional studies, but it has waived this requirement, as the standards of which are at present far lower than those of the regular class. The young men are therefore held to the necessity of the examination of all the military men who are to face the great emergency of war, and will be more than ready to face them when they are called to the test. This examination is given to the students who have completed their studies in the usual manner, and the regular practice will be to hold the examinations in August and September. The students will be prepared after the regular examinations of the regular class, which are given in June. The students who have completed their studies during the summer months will be given the examination in June, and the result will be forwarded to the military authorities.

Concerning influenza

The old proverb "It is an ill wind that blows nobody some good" is right again. Influenza will probably be the big news of the summer vacation next week—a probably life-saver for many. It is better to be busy in one's own field than to wait for the blasts of the wind to come. A quota of six hundred, and the Institute, Harvard and Illinois four hundred each.

We will be able to study when we please after we get into the S. T. C. or S. A. T. C. goes to movie afternoons. The housekeeping will be done by the housekeeping committee especially light, and no "plugging" until two o'clock in the morning to make up for past neglect. We hope to have a large share in town during these days, and to be able to attend the meetings of the board and other organizations.

The navy at the institute

Among the ninety-five universities and colleges mentioned as having naval sections of the Student Training Corps, the Institute is one of the few which has been assigned a quota of six hundred, and the Institute, Harvard and Illinois four hundred each.

T. B. R. Bradford graduated in 1879 and was sent to Batavia where he received his instruction in the mines. His brother, R. B. Bradford, connected with the Chicago Tramway Company in 1874, received last year a letter from a prospecting engineer in California asking for his assistance in the matter of a mine in the desert. He had heard of the Bradford family name and was interested in the prospects. On reading the letter he wrote to express his interest in the project. The letter was promptly forwarded to the company, and the Bradford family name was now known in the mining world.
