$90,000 MARK IS PASSED IN SENIOR ENDOWMENT DRIVE

Fifty-Nine Percent of Class Has New Scholarships, Says XIV Leads

MEETING BEGINS-CAMPAIGN

President S. W. Stratton Comments for "Looking Ahead"

Starting off with a long at the meeting to be held in the main hall of the student center, President Stratton said that the senior endowment drive was now at a total of $90,000. This mark was passed last night, and it is expected that the endowment drive will reach its goal of $100,000 by the end of the year.

"The goal of $100,000 is not too ambitious, and I believe that we can reach it," President Stratton said.

Seniors Admit Trick

Posters Really Error

The mystery of the three sights, masks or signs that have been revealed, the statement being made that the posters are "complete fraud." The posters are said to have been put up by a group of students who were tired of seeing more than usual through the eyes of the class.

"We have tried to get rid of the posters," said M. C. Phelps, chairman of the Student Council. "But the Student Council has failed, and we have been forced to use other methods of preventing the distribution of the posters.

TO BE SOLD TOMORROW

Starting off with the first issue of the year, the Thursday, June 10, the Class may be expected to sell out of the posters, which will be distributed to the members of the class.

BE YOURSELF

WE have all been hearing a lot of knockers, recently, directed at the smooth, well-dressed social lion. You know the sort of thing: "Make your own kind of music; that's what's going on in the world today!" Perhaps the knockers have a certain amount of truth in them. After all, they have done a lot of good work. They have helped to bring about a change in the standards of the world today. The world is no longer content with the old ways. It wants something new. It wants to be different. And so the knockers go on, knocking at the doors of the world, saying, "We want something better!"

The knockers have been most successful in their campaign. They have been able to knock down the barriers of the past. They have been able to knock out the old-fashioned ways of doing things. They have been able to knock out the old-fashioned standards of behavior. They have been able to knock out the old-fashioned way of thinking. And so the world has changed. It has become a world of new ideas. It has become a world of new possibilities. It has become a world of new opportunities. And the knockers have been the ones who have done all of this.

But the knockers have not been content with their success. They have been able to knock down the barriers of the past, but they have not been able to knock down the barriers of the future. They have been able to knock out the old-fashioned ways of doing things, but they have not been able to knock out the new ways of doing things. They have been able to knock out the old-fashioned standards of behavior, but they have not been able to knock out the new standards of behavior. They have been able to knock out the old-fashioned way of thinking, but they have not been able to knock out the new way of thinking.

And so the world is still hungry for more change. The world is still hungry for more new ideas. The world is still hungry for more new possibilities. The world is still hungry for more new opportunities. And the knockers are still knocking at the doors of the world, saying, "We want something better!"

THE TENNIS COURTS

ALTHOUGH the question of the tennis courts was brought up at the recent meeting of the Advisory Board, no definite decision was reached. The winter has left the courts in worse shape than ever, largely owing to their lack of foundation, and if they are to be used at all this spring some work will have to be done on them as soon as they dry out.

Since the ground has now taken up by the courts will some time be used as locations for new dormitories, the present courts are only temporary and the reason why they were built without the usual permanent foundation and drainage system which are essential to their proper upkeep. In view of this fact, it is obviously not practicable to completely tear up the courts and rebuild them with foundations, even if the necessary funds could be obtained.

The question left to be resolved is to surface the courts with sufficient additional material to put them in reasonable shape. At present the courts have become so badly intermixed with the underlying earth that the courts cannot be kept smooth, and are rendered useless by every rain. Surely this operation is warranted by the number of men who use the courts. During the season the courts are all constantly in use, and this use is heavy enough to be wearing even on the best clay courts. Consequently as a good job of resurfacing as it should be done before the courts are used, not only to make them better to play on, but to lower the upkeep.

FANTASTICAL COMEDY-DRAMA AT THE COLEY

"A Message From Mars" is one of the best plays that the Earnest players at the Lycée have given so far this year. The plot is good. The moral is clearly defined. "A Message From Mars" is brought to us by a Martian who tells us of the beautiful apricot fruits that are to be found on the beautiful planet of Mars. He feels that a great deal of pleasure may be obtained by eating these fruits. He also tells us of his wonderful kingdom which he describes as being far more beautiful than our own. But it is the Martian's wonderful kingdom that we are most interested in. The Martian is a very interesting character. His humor is dry and his language is so strange that it is difficult for us to understand him. But it is clear that he is really worthy of our attention. He is not only interesting in his own right, but he is also interesting because of the strange things that he tells us about his wonderful kingdom.

The character of the Martian is well done. The Martian is played by a very fine actor. He is able to bring out the pathetic side of the Martian's character with great success. His acting is very natural and very convincing. The audience is quite moved by his portrayal of the Martian. It is clear that he is very interested in the Martian. He is able to make us feel that he is really worthy of our attention.

The production of "A Message From Mars" is very well done. The production is directed by a very fine director. He is able to bring out the beauty of the play with great success. The production is very well planned and very well executed. The audience is quite pleased with the production. It is clear that the director is very interested in the play. He is able to make us feel that he is really worthy of our attention.
