VETERAN FORGEMAN HAS Taught THREE GENERATIONS HERE

J. R. LAMBCH Has Known Every Institute President

The old saying that a man is only as old as he feels is truly exemplified in the case of Mr. J. R. Lambirth. Mr. Lambirth has been associated with Harvard College since that time and has seen three generations graduate under his leadership. Thus he may be called the dean of the forgers and has been there to note the developments from one small frame building, situated between the old and the present buildings completed in 1884.

When Mr. Lambirth comes to the Institute in 1884, he finds the school consisted of eight forges. These later were increased to thirty-two in number. He is a graduate of the "school of experience." After serving his apprenticeship in the Atlantic shops, gained through experience, he resigned the position with the firm which employed him as a "piece worker" in the famous Manustone used in the forge shop.

The best of luck, therefore, and a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Lambirth for his years of faithful service.

ruling North Hall prepared by Robert H. S. Ford was submitted by W. J. Jones. It became 1975, but 1976, and this amount has already been spent in the immediate setting of fixtures. The rest of the money is not ed to follow as follows: $100 for the upholstering of the floor; $100 for re-decorating the walls, according to the idea of the Architectural Committee; $100 for fixtures of the Architectural Department, and $100 for miscellaneous, suitable, and useful fixtures. These improvements are studed by the Walker Memorial Advisory Committee and will be studied by the Board of Trustees at the meeting on Monday night.

Several members were opposed by the Committee, subject to the approval of the President. These improvements are studed by the Walker Memorial Advisory Committee and will be studied by the Board of Trustees at the meeting on Monday night.

The man involved were W. P. Blythe, A. W. Hume, and the newly elected officers of the Cath-Club. R. B. Davis '26 was the only absentee.

WELDERS BANQUET AT THE HOTEL SOJERSET

The Welding Company, has drawn many workers to their plant. The welding papers have taken occasion to publicize the skill and art of welding. This event caused a "near riot" Wednesday afternoon in the Custodian's Office. Mrs. McT.- Hun, the only woman member of the Welding Committee, was on hand to interview with President Walker. Mrs. McT.-Hun, who is a member of the Welding Committee, was on hand to interview with President Walker. The crowd was so large that it was necessary to move the meeting to the Walker Memorial Hall.

"Everyone here at the station was on the floor, and it was amazing to see the large audience. I think we have a wonderful show in the making," he remarked. When he heard the news of the Welding Banquet, he said he was not sure that many of the Junior students would attend.

According to the Journal of the Welding Committee, the most that has been written in the last few weeks is "the greatest exhibition in the history of welding." Everyone who is interested in welding should order Mr. Duke in room 1-13 of the office.

SHOW BROADCAST IS FAVORABLY RECEIVED

According to letters received from the radio stations a favorable reception was received of the 1924 Tech show, "The Question of a Vicarious Les," by the Walker Memorial Alumni Association. The radio presentation was well received by the students and players present.

"Everyone here at the station was on the floor, and it was amazing to see the large audience. I think we have a wonderful show in the making," he remarked. When he heard the news of the Welding Banquet, he said he was not sure that many of the Junior students would attend.

The data compiled by Harvard's De- partment of Effective Study suggests that the most popular of the shows is "The Football Strike." The show is presented by skilled factory representatives.

NUTRITION CLASS
The Nutrition Class will meet Mon- day, November 5, in room 3-330 from 2-4 P.M. All men who wish to enroll will meet at the Club and give a menu of their favorite dishes. A menu will be presented in the future.

THE COLLEGIATE SHOP THANKS YOU!

When we opened our exclusive men's furni- shings shop a short time ago it was with the expectation of doing a fair business. We knew that we would grow—our merchandise and our methods assured this. And our new famous coupon plant seemed to be a sure winner.

Frankly we're astounded at the volume of business that has resulted—a regular avalanche. The coupon plan especially has gone like wildfire. Our shops have been thronged with eager students— keen young chaps who grasped the real opportunity that this coupon plan presented—and the COLLEGIATE SHOP has, so to speak, gone over with a bang!

So we wish to express our heartfelt thanks to those who have favored us, and to promise you that we will be your future customers—that we will continue to show for their approval, the choice and unusual things in men's haberdashery, and at a sensible price.

Again, THANK YOU.
