NIP AND TUCK HAVE RACE

"Many were the heads that accused Friday night, after the Circus brawl. For many of the undergraduates, more had been done that night than could be attributed to the Circus," said one of the participants. The event began with a bottle-throwing contest, in which the contestants had to hit targets on the opposite side of the street. The contest was won by a group of students from Beta Theta Pi, who hit all their targets with perfect accuracy.

Tech Show 1927, Glorifies Life On a Dude Ranch

Tech Show 1927, which was praised as highly as any other event, was held at the end of the year. The show featured a wide variety of exhibits, including models of the latest in technology, as well as a display of the most advanced in the field of engineering. The show was sponsored by the Engineering Club, and was open to the public.

WHEN THE TECH

THE OPEN FORUM

To the Editor of "The Tech."

Everywhere people like the past few years Tech Show has been fine.

A Technical student could be blamed on the trip, because, if I am right, they are going to have their way. The fathers lives at the door of the Undergraduate Bodies, and the students have their own show at its three Boston Parks.

There have been nibbles. The advance orders have been small,

Yet the editors were promised a large crowd. And you could neither see nor hear much in the Boston Open Houses at any price one could afford to pay.

The techs of 1927 have been nibbled by the press upon their spirit and interest. The advance notices of the show from New York, and Harvard, the largest, most enthusiastic, most enthusiastic...

But they will try to remain for a long time.

And for once, thank Heaven, we are not the only ones of the big groups we can call an open house. The Tech is the only one of the two shows whose publica will be held April 13, 19, and 31.

The Open Door Policy

The Open Door Policy, we hope, will be enforced, and the honor of Tech students will be preserved.

GHOST OF HEMLOCK CANYON

THE GHOST OF HEMLOCK CANYON, by Harold Bindloss; Published by: New York: Pyneddick F. Stokes Company, 1926. 204 pages. $1.00.

Plots and forest drive are incalculable influences and may be among them. Man can battle nature and expect to gain a victory in the end with knowledge and adherence to its laws, but when the struggle is on they are almost insurmountable. Through many years of his life near nature, he understands it and can be with his partner and always fearing that he must explain the things he himself has been conscious.

This year Martin has begun to for get the mocking of the footsteps which seem constantly to follow him. The dead partner's nephew, Denis, comes in from England and a fight between the two Negroes and so on and so forth.

This is the story and Denis forgives, then the story is over...

Crimson Annexes Four Out Of Seven Bouts In Intercollegiate Debut

One of the biggest surprises of the year was Saturday evening at the Remmenau meet when a fast and hard hitting Harvard boxing team just managed to defeat Technology 4-3, in as thrilling an event as has been seen at Harvard this year. The match marked the inauguration of Varsity boxing at Harvard, the Crimson having had only intramural contests prior to this.

In the opening bout Fred Sullivan of the Crimson scored the only victory, an easy win over a very fast bout of Springfield College in the 115-pound class. The Crimson battled by Sullivan outpointed the lightning fast kid with a slight edge throughout the battle.

Captains Ewask of the Crimson opened the way when he defeated Albert C. Sack of Harvard. For two rounds the men were on even terms but in the third the Harvard leather pusher took it to a fast finish and secured the decision.

The most exciting bout of the evening was the battle between Dennis of the Crimson and Gordon of Harvard. From the opening bout Dennis started to the lead, and the referee stepped in at the close of the opening round to restart the contest. It was a draw but Dennis maintained a slight edge throughout the battle.

Coney Loses First Bout

One of the two big surprises of the year came in the 115 division when Cuny, who up to this time had not defeated the Crimson, met the Crimson in the 115-pound class. The Crimson carried off first places in the winter of 1920.

Once again the lead reverted to Harvard when Dennis of the Crimson won an easy decision over Albert Carey in the 115-pound class. The Engineer was defeated handily over Albert Carey in the 115-pound class. The Engineer was defeated handily over Albert Carey in the 115-pound class.

The opposing teams of Baptiste, graduates, also furnished exhibits.

The season:

This year's A. A. U., 40-yard dash chamionship — was won by John Carvin of the Crimson, who ran the distance in 9.8.

Springfield College, in the final bout, defeated the Crimson 3-2.

More than 800 people witnessed the competition, the first Harvard meet of the season. Members of the senior class of the Pennsylvania school at the inauguration of the meet gave an exhibition of Dramatic gymnastics. The Crimson in the mass sets and parts also furnished exhibits.

Tech Show To Use Cow Farm Rag Music

One feature, wonder-striking cow call will be the target for the big C Shale, located at Tech Field 27 on Tech Field tomorrow afternoon. The cow call was the hit of Tech Show 29 last year, and it will be repeated again this year by the excellent band of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

The cow call is a type of horn music, and it is said to have originated with the peasants of the western world. It is said to have been introduced to the United States by the early settlers, and it has been a favorite form of music ever since.

The cow call will be performed by the Sigma Chi fraternity band, and it will be a highlight of the Tech Show.

The parade was wildly cheered by an enthusiastic crowd who were carried away by sudden patriotism for the cow. The cow fight without the bull was attempted if somewhat. It was found that the adrenals of the cow were extremely sensitive to the sight of a bull. The bull fight without the cow was not quite so popular as the cow fight with the bull, but it was still enjoyed by the spectators.

The parade was a great success, and it is sure to be a highlight of the Tech Show.
