THE DORMITORY GOBLIN

Visits Atkinson Hall

Judging from the appearance of part of the dorms, Thursday morning might well be described as "move-out day." The dorms were crowded with students who were either leaving campus or preparing to do so. In one dorm, the occupants were seen packing boxes and moving out. In another, the occupants were seen cleaning and making repairs before they left. In a third, the occupants were seen standing around, talking and looking around,显然是准备离开。
MASSACHUSETTS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

IN MEMORIAM

EVERT HOBART WEBSTER '28 was a man and a real classmate. It does not seem possible that he has left us forever and we are sorry that we can no longer enjoy his companionship.

On behalf of the undergraduate body we extend our sincere sympathy to his parents and relatives.

"MEN MAY COME AND MEN MAY GO—"

A WELL known poet once wrote thus to express the insignificance of man and the futility of his efforts as compared to the eternal progress of a mighty river toward its goal. The history of the sciences and arts is filled with accounts of the progress in the work of their chosen. Where one has ended his labors another has begun where he left off. Such an origin has been carried on through centuries, and will continue to on forever.

Minute, in comparison, is the work we have undertaken and now have completed. Volume XLVII of THE TECH is closed and our task of making this volume, another has opened and the work continues.

As we look backward, our efforts appear to have been feasible and our accomplishments seem small, but there is comfort in the realization that new blood will take up the work where we have left it. We have had our share of successes and in them we place the trust to carry on.

During the past year we have made it our policy to give better publicity to undergraduate activities yet without going so far as to make this activity lose its publicity bubble. Some of the activities have assisted us by really trying to get the news straight. Others have let go and wonder why they were left out. Our efforts have been worth while at all. We make this a part of the board for getting better cooperation. Our staff is interested in the publication of articles in any paper and we are firmly convinced that publicity should be well known to the publicity managers of every activity.

We therefore recommend to our successors that during the coming year we improve the efficiency of the publicity system, the good of public relations. We are here to praise and the men who are to handle undergraduate news would get acquainted and make it easier for them both to get the true facts in print.

BEAVER QUINTET CRUSHES HUSKIES
Cardinal and Gray Wrestlers Will Clash With Tufts Outfit Tonight

Allen, Lawson, Reynders
Play Sensational Game;
Route Northeastern 56-25

Ending their extended losing streak by more than doubling Northeastern's score, the Cardinal and Gray basketball team won last Tuesday night's game before a good-sized crowd in the Hangar gym. The Huskies were not the equal of the team that inflicted defeat on last year's Technology squad, but they fought from the first minute to the final whistle. By breaking the jinx which has deprived them of the last games by the narrowest of margins the team satisfied the audience that it is still a factor to be considered in the remainder of the schedule.

Bea Semi was really the individual star of the game. He scored twenty-three points on ten goals and three free throws. He was well seconded by Edwin Lawson, who took enough time off from his position as guard to sneak in on his baskets and a free throw. The overwhelming pressure of the Cardinal and Gray defense made it almost impossible for any newexperimental plays to develop. Indeed, the Cardinal and Gray defense played under similar handicap.

An attempt is being made to schedule a game for Feb. 11, but if that does not remain open, the front next term will be with Union on the fourteenth, followed by the West Point game the next day. Such games will be played away from home, with Nick McNally once more in good condition and back in the lineup. It will be no surprise if the Cardinal and Gray suffer losses into a winning streak and finish the season well above the 50% mark.

Variety Crosses Swords With Graduates At Tufts

Despite the reversal of last week's losing streak, the boys in blue will be going home next Tuesday in different moods. Some are all too familiar with the disappointment of a last-minute loss, while others are already looking forward to a vacation from the grind of winter athletics.

Tufts will be the first regular opponent of the Cardinal and Gray wrestlers for 1931-32. It is obvious that the team will be able to handle themselves against the Tufts outfit, in which several alumni will take part. The majority of departees will cancel a previous date and in the remainder of the schedule.
