Lecture Decorated by King of England for Work Done During Great War

ALL STUDENTS INVITED

Gipsy Smith, internationally famed Evangelist, whose home and parlor have been the center of revivals throughout the world, has been selected through the efforts of the Christian Science Christian Association to speak to the students of the Institute tomorrow afternoon in Room 10-230 at four o'clock. It is the supposition of this man that he will have the same general audience as at any of his services throughout the world. Although he was forced to resume from time to time, he continued, after careful speaking, to speak both. Gipsy Smith arranged the highlights of his marvelous life and experiences to the students and received many thanks.

First step of all, he says, "come from my father's life in the gipsy tent."

He was converted in 1916. From that day Gipsy Smith determined to become a preacher. "Unerasable difficulties had to be faced and overcome," he could neither read nor write. His first words were "the gipsy tent." "My first idea of God," he said, "was from my father's life in the gipsy tent."

CREDIT FOR CRAINING

FACULTY opinion has long besieged the student who delays doing his work until the last few days of the semester. And justly so, for it is next to impossible for him to absorb an average amount of work in a week's time, if he is to do it with any degree of brilliancy. Of course, he is taken on a par with the rest of the class who have faithfully studied throughout the term. Such examples of procrastination meet with neither approval nor disapprobation, but they are rather a trifle late, perhaps somewhat condensed, but practically intact.

Such procrastination is a great indication that the student is in no hurry to get the grades that are consistent with what he creates without such an added responsibility for the possessor. Thus, as a whole, a delightful entertainment, which, al- though thrilling in some parts, has considerable humor and a delightful elaboration of the story.

The stage by far the most exciting is that of the train and the sabred acids. This is an unusual art and well done, and the performances by highly trained and very young ladies do a first trick in the same rank as the acrobats of the circus. Acts like these are Edna Edwards Doubting Brown on the mercurial, and a song program by Yvette Ruel.
