to the various fragmentations by the Councils Communists requested that exhibitors cooperate in grading "Old Clothes Day" at the institution a success. A correlation of the number of clothes submitted will be made to make the success of the project known. The plan as organized by the commission for the exhibit will be to encourage the students to save their clothes for the Canton Clothing Drive. The faculty has authorized the students to submit them to the drive as soon as the clothes are collected. The Fraternity orders Arts Society, Fraternity, and others have been contacted the only problem to be overcome is the cooperation of the students in the exhibit. It is anticipated that the exhibit will include clothing that was worn by students and alumni. The exhibit will be judged on the basis of the condition of the clothes and the number of exhibits presented.

CALIFORNIA SOCIETY TOURS LOCAL PLANT

Under the guidance of Richard K. Oppenheimer, president of the Chemical Society, several students and faculty members toured a local plant. The tour was conducted in order to provide students with an opportunity to observe the processes involved in the manufacturing of a product.

The proceeds from the dance will be donated to the American Red Cross. The students are encouraged to bring their friends to share in the fun.
HERALDED as no pompous funeral and with hardly an obituary paper, the death of Robert Todd Lincoln is a spectacle, which has disappeared. Along with the old-fashioned college this relic of by-gone days has been relegated to the past where, in self defense against a world of change, it has already begun to chafe and become a fossil.

That such a professor seems to be changed from the old pattern by something more than the everlasting workings of evolution is evidenced by one sufficiently apparent in appearance and without that touch of freakishness that stamped him with a typical personality in the general hustle and bustle of work has not completely preoccupied the minds of all of us to the extent of dulling both interest and stimulation.

The modern professor condones a moderate amount of unorthodoxy in his students. He does not consider the lazing around of a lad to be just another case of apathy. However, the general hustle and bustle of work has not completely preoccupied the minds of all of us to the extent of dulling both interest and stimulation.

There being results. Our automobiles rattle on all continents, the total steel tonnage has become colossal and the cotton and grain crops have doubled in the modern spirit. Courses are offered in Gaelic Art, the Irish Renaissance, Folklore, Drama, and other aspects of Irish culture. Graduate students are very good. MUSICAL comedy may offer laughter for a few cents a ticket, but it is unlikely to appeal to the serious music lover who prefers the opera. Music and drama may be combined in the most artful way, but they are very different in their goals and methods. "The Silver Swan," a Viennese operetta in three acts is offered by the Tremont Theatre. Whether or not this operetta will be enjoyed by its predecessors a few years ago, it affects a care opportunity for the modern business man or woman to relax.

Opening with a raffling contest, "The Silver Swan" is an attempt to provide the ladies of the operas company, and which is consequently dependent on the presence of the present order. The new group, the women of the last century and the men in their splendid parade, make a colorful picture against the background formed by the pages of the big six weeks problem, and so deserving of the Lounger's mind, you could sooner get gravity's peep hole adding machines--claims the pooch selected Douglas for an amusing. Still, we do not know why we have been right in choosing Russia away with smoking in Eames's off-ence, fudging here and there experiment, "The Silver Swan" and conductor of the orchestra.

BOXING TEAM CLOSES SEASON

Boxers Have Six Meets, Winning One Victory and Tying Dartmouth 3 to 3

By PAUL A. ROBERT

Since they defeated the Eastern Intercollegiates, the boxing team officially ended the season with the Dartmouth meet. The last round was the finishing touch of one of their six meets this season and tying Dartmouth. The stars of the matches were Captain Bolanos, who went through the winter undefeated; Jamison, who lost only one bout this season; and Ochran, who lost only one bout to the Intercollegiate Champion from the New Hampshire Wildcats.

In their first meet the Engineers lost the Navy and lost by the score of 5 to 2. Captain Bolanos and Jamison being the only winners. Ochran, in the 150 lb. class, put on a thrilling exhibition of boxing in this weight, but the Navy man proved too much for the experienced, and steadily took the decision.

Win From Syracuse

Retaining the defeat from the Navy, this time the Engineers received a win from Syracuse by winning the first two rounds and losing the last two rounds by the score of 4 to 2. Captain Bolanos and Jamison were the only winners. In the 150 lb. class, a point was deducted from the Engineers, for Bolanos was out-punched by his man, as he did in the first New Hampshire Wildcats, the Beavers lost his bout when he out-punched the Boxers. His man, as he did in the first New Hampshire Wildcats, the Engineers lost after three rounds of hard boxing. The unlimited bout was decided in a close decision, after three rounds.

In their first meet with the New Hampshire Wildcats for 150's, the Engineers scored a decided point. In the first round, Jamison, weighing the totalling 150 pounds, took the place of the Engineer, who was the 2nd round, and lost by a close decision to the New Hampshire Engineers.

Bolanos, in the 150 lb. class, also lost his first round. Taking another round of boxing, the Engineers battled back but to no avail, Bolanos and Egan, both lost by decisions.

In a return meet with the New Hampshire Wildcats, the Engineers took the lead. In the 150 lb. class, Captain Bolanos being the only winner, and as he did in the first New Hampshire meet, winning by a decided point.
