Waves Break Student's Sailboat from Mooring

Breaking free from its mooring, the sailboat of James B. Bone, of Westfield, Mass., was found beached on the Charles during the heavy gale yesterday. The sailboat was launched out into the channel, and then was blown rapidly eastward. Finally it ran aground with water and rocks over its beam's end. Sweep the sailboat for the third time yesterday, it was sighted. A rope was then quickly made fast to the dory, and the sailboat was drawn to the walking tower. It is the second season this spring that the sailboat has been beached.

Under a highly colored cover depicting a rather smugly smiling boy, the long summer's coverage of the 'Limelight Summer' of Voo Doo is on the final pages. The feature is the option of the photographer, who has made a nice effort with it. The story gets especially the full page draw-

"WHO THOUGHT HOW?" by Ralf H. Shifty is the question confronting most college boys. Especially is this true of the men receiving degrees this year. "Would I have had a better place in the sin if I had saved the money?"

Statistics show that most Americans are poor. To answer an economic question, however, cold facts have distinct advantages over happy and biased guesswork. Over a period of thirty years a Boston newspaper has annually compiled the enrollment of ninety representative colleges and presented its figures as a typically national survey. They have been accepted, inasmuch as the curve that has been drawn for these institutions would have been just as true for the many smaller colleges left out. It finds that there are today six times as many students in these colleges as there were thirty years ago. For the decade between 1890 and 1900 the gain was over 1,000 a year. For the next decade the gain was nearly 10,000 a year. For the decade up to 1920 it was 20,000 a year, and in the last five years the percent gain has been 6.5, 5.1, 4.7, 4.8 and 3.

The tendency has obviously been toward a stabilization of everything else connected with its development. The men then, receiving their degrees this year in a few years will be a new prize song, but what is more important, it behooves and demands the student-faculty agreement at Technology-in particular the five full page drawings and many good jokes in Final Number.

The art work is unusually good, especially the five full page drawings depicting a rather enjoyable although slightly disastrous way of spending the day. The picture showing the two little Hawks Electric Light Company girls is true to life. It is evident why V.A.a is the most popular course at the Institute. Luckily the Voo Doo is copyrighted, otherwise the Transcript will most certainly copy the method used.

The men then receiving their degrees this year in a few years will have their chances to say into the fence position will have the best chance at the ribbon. The Derby where in a field of thoroughbreds the horse that is jockeyed best by his rider will have the best chance. That the men in the present student-faculty agreement at Technology-in particular the five full page drawings and many good jokes in Final Number.

Rogers Notes

Preparing to leave the university, I noticed a lot of strange characters around, and I wondered if they were some of the famous Rogers characters that I had seen in pictures. I decided to check them out and found that they were indeed Rogers characters. I went to see them and they told me that they had been invited to a meeting at the university. I was surprised and asked them why they were there. They told me that they were there to discuss the Rogers club and its activities, and that they wanted to invite me to join them. I was interested and asked them if they could show me around the university. They agreed and we went on a tour of the university, looking at the different buildings and departments. We talked about Rogers and the university, and I was impressed by the quality of the institution. I decided to join the Rogers club and became a member, and I have been involved with the club ever since. I have enjoyed being a part of the Rogers club and have made some great friends through it. The club has been a great source of enjoyment and has helped me to learn more about the university and its activities. I would recommend the Rogers club to anyone who is interested in joining a fun and active club at the university.
