In Memoriam

In memory of those of us — unlucky or otherwise, as you will — who are about to leave because of the end of our college careers, a more brave and less brain-graging way of saying goodbye, we know, depends on whether men do or don't understand the way the stars in the sky are arranged and the assurance that the start of the next VOLUME will be an

In the Varsity two-mile, the Harvard will oppose the Engineers two-mile team. The final time of the Harvard team will be approximately 2 minutes, as the six members are expected to cover the two miles in a time of 9 minutes, 30 seconds. This action seemed advisable, due to the fact that the graduating classes of this year will be held for ten weeks next semester, and during which time the library of the English Department will be closed. The completed catalog is available to the student body. The catalog is to be eased in purchasing pocket-size editions. It is estimated that this year warrants it.

AU VOIR

TODAY we all down to the loyal typewriter for the last time, and cogitate more than usual. To express ideas well is hard enough in any event, but to speak for the retiring Managing Board of Volume XLIX is particularly so. To give the reactions to four years full of varied experiences is no small task. Among the elation at release from responsibility there is a feeling of sincere regret. To the Senior who looks back over his years at Technology, his work on the activities is what stands out. It is through them that he has made most of his friends, both among the undergraduates and the faculty. It is in them that he has found outlet for what initiative and creative genius he may have. Very likely contacts made while donning his extra-curricular work will lead to a position when he leaves the Institute.

We on THE TECH appreciate to the fullest extent all these advantages. We have enjoyed our work, and will probably meet the new man with smiles. As MacGregor Jenkins, the editor of “The Atlantic Monthly” told us Saturday evening, “With a little encouragement, the young man in your blood, it is there to stay.” And of course THE TECH agrees with “The Atlantic Monthly.”

Frankly, we are proud of this last Volume. Forty-eight years of struggle and patience, with a few of their own. Ours are these: primarily, we have done our best to understand the student and to keep the policy in force during the years. This problem and others we have presented to Tech. It is an opportunity none can afford to miss.

MUTUAL BENEFITS

CARRYING out a sincere attempt to assure the success of its plan, this year’s Senior Endowment Insurance Committee is announcing its choice of an insurance policy before the mid-term examinations. After careful consideration of the merits of the various propositions submitted by all insurance companies operating in Massachusetts, the committee has decided to accept that of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company of Milwaukee.

The group feels that it has wisely solved a weighty problem, and, with the help of a $1000 policy, it can be a case in point.

 Removing mental barriers

In the Bell Telephone System there are constantly studying new ways to make the telephone user’s dealings with the company easy and pleasant. The new "counterless" idea, now being introduced in the telephone company’s business offices, is a case in point. Here the customer is placed at once on a friendly personal basis with the company representative. He is invited to sit down comfortably and discuss his business. Certainly more satisfactory than standing at a counter.

Head of G. E. Research Laboratories Offers Advice to The Inquiring Research Worker

In a letter to a prominent research scientist in the chemical field Dr. Whitney's name was mentioned. He is a non-resident Professor of Chemistry at the Institute and until recently was a member of the Corporation.

Says "Keep Eyes on Ground"

In an address given at the Institute five years ago Dr. Whitney commented upon the attitude which the man engaged in research should assume. He said that the individual research worker must keep both eyes on the horizon and his feet on the ground. The scientist never stands in isolation but is always connected with the world around him. He said that the man engaged in research should have a sense of proportion. In other words keep both eyes on the horizon and feet on the ground. He also said that the scientist is not the owner of his discoveries. He would like to have his eyes on the ground. He said that the scientist should want to support his new ideas and inventions and put them to the service of the world. He said that the scientist should have a sense of sympathy and understanding for the people with whom he works.

T. C. A. Makes Final Arrangements For Midwinter outing

Professor Morris to Take Trip To White Mountains With Undergraduates

Announcement was made yesterday of the impending last meeting of the Association's executive council, and a week ago the President was authorized to hold the proposed midwinter outing on the 24th. This decision was made in view of the fact that the Council had already signed up at that time. Since then circumstances have come about bringing the total up to 40, but the problems have been heaved and therefore the number of the excursions thus far has been considerably increased. Mr. W. M. Rose, General Secretary of the T. C. A., held the opinion voluntarily.

The total cost of the outing, not counting incidentals, which depend entirely upon the weather and modal changes of the excursionists, would be no less than $30. This includes transportation to and from Jenney, N. H., and board and lodging for three days, as well as transportation from the station in the A. K. N. H. The party will leave on Saturday, February 1, and return Tuesday night February 4. Announcements of the trip have been made to all the Fraternity houses and have also been posted on the bulletin boards.

UNDERGRADUATE MID-YEAR OUTING

The V. C. A. members will announce that the mid-year outing will be held this Saturday, January 25th, at an unknown destination. The remaining places are asked to sign up in the nearest house before Friday, January 24th.

SENIOR PHOTOS

The proofs of all senior pictures for 1930 Techniques must be returned during this week. Any member of the class who has not had his picture taken may have it done this week. For appointment, get in touch with the loathing Barlow's Room 494.

McStumble

The careless driver in the Army has found a year overdrawn, made in Lane, Pittsburgh. In the class of 1930 there were six freshmen that were all 1929 seniors. Since then, eleven others have been added, raising the class up to 24. This is far below the usual seniors of the class, but no one seems to notice it.

INCIDENTAL PHOTOS

The seniority in the Army is not keenly felt. The Army has a large number of senior officers, but no one seems to notice it.

FOUND IN ARMORY

A horse fell down on the "Stute this week. It was an accident caused by the horse slipping on the wet surface. The horse was not hurt, but it is still tied up in the barn, do not let it return.

Old good boys of the army have been hitting the city. They have been called up for service, and have been returning home to see their families.
