CHIEFS RECEIVE CIGARS

Firemen are still seeking the fire helmet, if any, that was last night carried by an intruder who left threatening notes and incendiary devices in the dormitory rooms of the Sorority of the New

SUNDAY NIGHT

Now it can be told. All is quiet now, even in the dormitory study rooms. To the Institute students, faculty supervision of athletics is unknown, censored hands, and sports have always maintained a high reputation. It is altogether fit that the policy of student cooperation be continued in the S. E. I. A. A., if for no other reason than to allow it to continue fostering clean and human sportsmanship. No further comment seems necessary here; the article speaks for itself.

ONE THOUSAND STUDENTS STAGE DORMITORY RIOT AT TECH IN EARLY HOURS OF MORNING

Though, in so many words, did the metropolitan newspapers declare to the world Monday afternoon that the limestone buildings across the Charles house a body of gangsters and hooligans. If it is true, the type of the Boston papers to feature this type of headline, with such a small story underneath, who clearly shows that the occurrence was not so obviously defaming to the reputation of the Institute? Is it not true to type that they cater to the credo of the American public and turn to their books; the lone Tech-sportsman. To the Institute student, are liberally pelted with water bags, firehoses, and suggestions. No further comment seems necessary here; the article speaks for itself.
