CONCRETE-MIXER COMPLEX

I t is a source of considerable wonder to me how we are still wondering when it became the custom for certain Technology students to use the Byzantine architecture of what the Boston papers are so prone to call a "riot." Whenever there is a hardy concrete mixer nearby. If this custom keeps up, it will be well right in time for me to be an X-year graduate. We can picture a prospective employer asking where the men went to school, and on hearing that he comes from Technology, answering in his sweetest tones, "Tech, huh? That's where men learn to riot when a mixer rumbles. Sorry, old man, we can't man went to school, and on hearing that he comes from Tech-

TRACK TEAM HAS INFORMAL MEET

Saturday's warm weather brought out so many runners that Track Coach Harland decided to put on a handicap meet. As a whole the freshmen came through in fine order. However, there were a few upsets which brought some newcomers to the foreground.

Creator capped first place in the 40-yard dash, just barely nosing out two others.
