Miss Isabella Irwin, Head Cashier, Foresees Cash Shortage at Institute

Made Arrangements for Large Cash Supply Last Saturday

Miss Isabella Irwin, in charge of the cashier’s office described by Sup- erintendent Ford as the person responsible for the strong cash position in which the office found itself at the start of the bank holiday, explained last evening what caused her to keep unnec- essarily large amounts of cash on hand during this past week. According to Miss Irwin the first trouble at the cashier’s office came during the early part of last week, following the closing of the Ohio and Michigan banks. Some checks were closing, the cashier’s office accommodated all men by sending a limited amount of cash drawn on the closed banks.

CONFIDENCE RESTORED

A MOST universal acclamation has been given by economists to President F. D. Roosevelt's drastic action in declaring a national emergency followed by appropriate steps. It is apparent that the days of daily-failing are over and that decisive Federal action will be taken.

Out of the wreckage of the present banking situation will come a new and better system of banking. It is the belief of the Federal Reserve Board and the Secretary of the Treasury that the system of banking must be made more secure for the American people. The Federal Reserve Board, by taking control of the nation's banking system, has made a decisive step toward a new and better system of banking.

Economists differ in the manner in which they would see the situation solved, some of them still cannot see the principle. The banks must shift from immediate liquidity to long time planning, with a new sense of values. The objective of our industrial and financial leaders is the establishment of a new prosperity, nationwide and untrammeled.
