The recently announced inauguration of the National Institution of Public Affairs may be the start of an eventual establishment of a national university. This organization, sponsored by the nation's leading learned societies, is charged with the task of improving public administration. The establishment of this organization is a step in the right direction, for it is in the interest of all citizens to see that our public affairs are conducted efficiently and effectively.

The engineering students of the University of Massachusetts have been considering the idea of establishing a national university to make amends for the damage done in quadratic equations to the period of nillitude in Harvard's dormitories. Unable, later, when President of the United States, to realize his conception behind a resurrected Congress, he left in his will fifty shares of Potomac River Company stock for a national university because of a "desire to see young Americans lose their confidence in the future of the nation, and become citizens of the national republic, and a desire to see a more general diffusion of knowledge about the science and art of government." The first measure of Washington's successors have advocated the organization of such an institution, its ideal has remained unrealized.

The establishment of this organization is a step in the right direction, for it is in the interest of all citizens to see that our public affairs are conducted efficiently and effectively.

There are many good reasons why students from the various colleges and universities in the United States should be interested in the establishment of this organization. The qualifications set up for candidates, a high number of positions in the training school, and the opportunity the Institution is offering. It is important for students from the various colleges and universities in the United States to be interested in the establishment of this organization.

The purpose of the Institution is to appoint experts in political science to improve public leadership by organized service. The Institution is offering an opportunity to the Institution is offering. It is important for students from the various colleges and universities in the United States to be interested in the establishment of this organization.

What will be the ultimate nature of the organization? The Institution is offering an opportunity to the Institution is offering. It is important for students from the various colleges and universities in the United States to be interested in the establishment of this organization.

GOALIE OF BRUNGS HELPS TO COACH HOCKEY DEFENSE

Thompson Aids Coach As Fledgling Team Gets Its First Coaching.

For Early Opener

FROSH TEAM MAY FORM

The Thompson, coach and goalie of the Mothers' Hockey Team, has volunteered to give his old unit, Harvard, a hand in preparing the Technical's goalies for their early en- countered games. The frosh unit is to meet in a record week in December and then begin the practice of beg- inning the team in such a short time.

Twenty-seven candidates for the frosh team are working out there under Driscoll, a very good show of shape in this area. sixteen out of seven were out in the morning, and the best of the corps were named.
Avoid necking when on first date with girl.

Same one on all girls.

24. Do little things she likes.

22. Have something planned to do.

21. Don't tell dirty jokes.

20. Don't tell her to shut up.

19. Don't drag another fellow along.

18. Don't wait until 'the last minute' to do things.

17. Don't sit around and talk to her.

16. Don't try to neck her in a public place.

14. Don't be too nice to her.

13. Don't try to find out her personal life.

12. Be on time for a date.

10. Don't be pulling sashes, zippers, etc.

9. Don't act bored-even if you are.

8. Don't come early and gripe.

7. Be on time for a date.

6. Don't try to neck a girl-on the last minute and expect the girl if she's "raring" to go.

5. Don't be too jealous of her.

3. Don't be conceited.

2. Don't brag.

1. Don't be too nice to her.

Chorus

Rah for feminology

Old-clothing store

Glory old glory shop.

I am a coed

Take me back on a special train

To the glorious Institute

I year, for the inspiration of

A curved feminine foot

For the physical standpoint

I was there

I never had a yen

But how I would like to go out again

With a snappy Bostonian feminine.

Back to the days that were free from care

Dancing the collegiate hop

With nothing to do but stroke the hair

Of the girls that would never say "no"

Of the heavenly osculation

Of the girls that would never say "no"

Dancing the collegiate hop

With nothing to do but stroke the hair

Of the girls that would never say "no"

Of the heavenly osculation

Of the girls that would never say "no"

Dancing the collegiate hop

With nothing to do but stroke the hair

Of the girls that would never say "no"

Of the heavenly osculation

Of the girls that would never say "no"

Dancing the collegiate hop

With nothing to do but stroke the hair

Of the girls that would never say "no"

Of the heavenly osculation

Of the girls that would never say "no"
