E. S. Parker Will Talk On Engineer's Unions At Meeting of A.S.U.

Lecture Leads Local Branch of Union of Technical Writers

Edwin S. Parker, President of the Boston Federation of Architectural, Engineering, and Related Unions, spoke on "The Future of the Field" at the Institute last Wednesday night. The speech was sponsored by the American Student Union.

Parker referred to the pressing need for technical writers and to the growing opportunities for technical writing. He also discussed the importance of technical writing in the advancement of technology.

He also discussed the need for better technical training and the importance of professional organizations in improving the status of the technical writer.

The lecture was well received by the audience and many questions were asked after its conclusion.

Drama Option Sections Near Close Of Year's Amateur Theatre Season

With the presentation last Saturday of "Dr. Jekyll & Mr. Hyde," written and directed by William G. Philips, the final section of the Drama Option has been presented. The play was directed by E. F. C. and was based on the novel by Robert Louis Stevenson.

The play was well received by the audience and was a success for the Drama Option.

Gift Of Seniors To Be Made When Class Graduates

Class President McLellan Says Painted Paper To Be Displayed

Former Classes Give Insurance

An immaculate payment, rather than a long term insurance policy, was announced recently by David S. McElhenny, president of the senior class, as the method of paying for the class gift.

In announcing this policy McElhenny said, "I feel that the proper time to present a gift is upon our departure from the Institute and not in later years when we become alumni."

At that time there will be other outside calls made on us which will require more time, money and effort than what we can afford now.

Seniors Will Contribute

This method, or a very similar practice, which has been abandoned, of giving a group of roommates a check which is to be deposited on graduation, is a common practice among the seniors.

That each member of the class will be asked to contribute one dollar apiece. It being felt that such a sum as that collected from each member of the class will be sufficient to purchase a gift, it is to be deposited by each senior in their respective dormitories.

There will be a representative from each dormitory, who will gather the money and deposit it at the Institute.

The seniors are confident that the money will be used for a gift that each member of the class will enjoy.

"King Franklin I" Banner Is Flown

"Roosevelt for King" Movement Adorns Main Flugtag With Standard

A regular banner constructed from an old denim bedspread and bearing the portrait of "King Franklin I" was flying from the Institute flag pole on Sunday morning by way of introducing to Technology the "Roosevelt for King" movement which has gained national notoriety during the past few weeks as the result of the appearance on several college campuses.

HOUR QUIZZES SHOULD LAST SIXTY MINUTES!

Our quizzes in 5:40 and 6:40 are family favorites. A complete survey of the dormitories reveals that everyone agrees that these rooms are the best available facilities for the administration of these quizzes—the desks are sufficiently far apart to prevent any discussion about the answers, and unfair grading is thereby precluded. A survey of some of these quizzes, for example, in 5:40

When the quiz papers are passed out, every student is aware of the fact that he has one hour to complete his work. Frequently, the quiz papers are taken from the pockets of the students as soon as they are marked, and the student himself begins to think of the hours to come, and to worry about the future. This is not necessary. It is natural to suppose that the qualities, in making out the questions, planned them for a period of one hour. But do students receive the full hour supposedly allotted to them? Often, particularly if he sits in the back of the room, he does not receive his paper until six or seven minutes past the hour. In one case the student left the room at 9-250, in 1924, not receiving his paper from underneath his pencil, before three or four minutes after the time at which theoretically every student receives his paper. And at the end of the quiz, at the bell when the exam is over, or ten minutes past the hour, the cry is “all papers in immediately.”

Sixty minutes, we believe, means sixty minutes. Not fifty, nor forty-seven. According to Webster, the definition of “hour” is “one sixtieth of a day, or one of the twenty-four equal parts of a day.” Since this definition is indisputable, and since the examination paper invariably states “hour,” it seems not only unfair to the student but unethical and discourteous on the part of the professor to permit a student to be excused without a pass and a failure to a number of students.

Particularly annoying is the habit now prevailing of giving quizzes in rooms which the two previous contributors to The Open Door observe, and I would like to express my opinion on the subject, but the readers of The Tech may very well not be united in the same spirit as the opinion held by the majority.

In expressing my ideas, I do not critique the style of expression which the previous writer used, for after all, I am more interested in what he has to say than in how he says it. I would like to have understood that the writer who signed himself “A Pupil Annoyed” is not alone in his feelings, but that he represents a majority of the men who constantly eat as Walker, and who will unite with this “dissonant” to obtain good meals.

It is necessary to convey a new idea, and this, a statement that “The Tech” holds a poll to conclusively show that the majority opinion is in favor of a change in the food policy, and that all letters must be signed, but the writer’s name will not be revealed if he so desires. A very interesting point is the fact that all letters must be signed, but the writer’s name will not be revealed if he so desires. Membership Drive Planned
The group, according to Geo-well, has already grown, without any solicitation for converts, to an capital membership of fifty and thirty-two and a drive for membership is to be commenced immediately, he went on to say. Upon payment of an ini-
