Don Gahan Plays For Dorm Dance On Night Of I.F.C.

Gahan's Orchestra Has Played For Many Eastern Colleges

Dorm Men Given Opportunity To Attend First Class Dance

To Be Held In Walker Memorial April 29: Tickets Will Be Sold Monday

Don Gahan and his orchestra have been assured for the Dormitory Dance to be held in Walker Memorial on April 29, from 8 to 11 p.m. It was arranged by the committee after some consideration.

The dance, officially called the Officers Dance, was arranged, planned by the Dorms in order to give dorm men unscored to tickets. F. C.optional another first class dance to attend.

Gahan Known Here

Don Gahan is no newcomer to the campus social scene. He played the drums for a Phil Gaines Delta dance earlier in the year. Since then, he has played many major college engagements and has had much experience in giving appearances at Dartmouth, Amherst, Union University, Harvard, Ricefield, Smith, and Wheelus.

The orchestra is known for its excellent musicianship and for the specialized bands. The newest addition to the orchestra is the record of having been obtained from Charles Bar- ton, who had been the leader of the Barton Brothers' orchestra.

Tolerance And Action

To the Editor:

It is true that "tolerance is a virtue of those who don't believe in very much"?

Tolerance seems to mean taking as axioms from reason or from indifference. Setting aside toleration based on self-interest, let us consider that tolerance is a virtue of those who reason from reason. It implies mental self-control acting to moderate emotional reactions. I think that toleration springs into being whenever one attempts to understand all sides of a question in which he is emotionally involved. It is born of the lot to be able to "put yourself in the other fellow's shoes". It is connected into the line to ring a bell at the other end.

It is the capacity of women to believe in very much? If "belief" is taken to mean unreason, emotional faith, then one who says that the world is gray. To know that one is not really true or true in building a certainty is connected into the line to ring a bell at the other end.

Our second is the capacity to believe in another human. Our third is the capacity to understand all sides of a question in which he is emotionally involved. Our fourth is the capacity to tolerate when the majority of the individuals of a society (a democracy) have received opinions from reason rather than emotional prejudices supported by imaginative or emotional appeal, and when the public affairs only when they hold the balance of power between intolerant groups on all sides of a question.

“The majority of tobacco growers favor Camels because we know what choice tobacco goes into them, TOBACCO PLANTERS REPORT

The “favorite with most men who grow tobacco,” is what Vasily Bowden, veteran planter, calls Camels. “Camel doesn’t buy just any tobacco — they put the best. The Camel buyer bought all the choice grade tobaccos of my last crop. I’ve been a steady Camel smoker myself for 10 years.”

B. F. Rivine, another experienced tobacco grower, knows what choice tobaccos mean and, referring to Camels, says: “The Camel people use the best grades, he says, “We make our crop last year. Carlough bought the best lots. And other planter will tell you the same. You buy, I smoke Camels.”

He’s been growing tobacco for 10 years. “I’m in a position to know a lot about the quality of the tobacco that goes into various cigarettes,” James Graven, another well-known planter, says. “Last fall a few growers around here—myself included—sold the best lots of tobacco of their last crop to Camels. I know tobacco as I smoke Camels,”
