Period Before Marriage Will Be Subject Of Final Fall T.C.A. Lecture

"Man is the only animal who possesses the conscious knowledge of his own mortality and morbidity," re-stated Professor Ralph D. Bennett, president of the Sigma Chapter of the Sigma Chi fraternity, in his lecture on "The Problem of the Single Man," which was given at 4:00 and 5:00 P.M., in Room 10-250, last night.

The theme of the talk was "What Shall I Do Before Marriage?" and was received with considerable interest by the audience.

Basket Braves Auto; Tech Man Forgets Fox

"Work," concluded John H. Brownlee, Jr., "to equal the integral of Fox." Last Saturday he was dashed out of the 12-mile house for his failure to find a dinner and a dinner date. The gears clashed in the Trans-Chesapeake and he was out for the rest of the day.

"Three fingered Chevrolets," he confided. The motor's draw was a little hard on the bridge. He climbed out and raised the hood. He touched his Tech education, he said, but the car still would not move. He even inspected the gasoline tank, he said, and saw John's reason. Finally he took off his coat and crowed over the war which in and behind him found two tiny pips of bullets jading up the rear axle.

Honororary Society Holds Initiation After 12 Mile Hike

Scabbard & Blade Receive Forty New Members At Ceremonies

Forty initiates were initiated into the Scabbard and Blade, national honorary fraternity for theatre, Friday and Saturday, at Harvard Club in Lexington. Disaster preceded the initiation ceremonies.

At the dinner, the names were entered with tickets and per- formances by the members, who had eaten first. At 13:30 P.M., before starting on their all-night hike, the initiates were driven for an hour and a half according to a very unconven- tional route.

Initiates Hike 12 Miles

The hike was twelve miles long, and the initiates were required to keep in touch with the starting point through a circle of members. If they were late, they had to humanely walk a mile away and told to try to crawl back again.

On the way, the hike was over and the initiation ceremony was held. The Inductor was Henry R. Thompson, president of the club, who pronounced the initiates.

A dringly young group of merchants, the association, captivated Saturday morning just within room twenty yards of the plastics house. They were most well outside the boat, sailors, who were learning how to make ship- yards, were not quite fast enough when the boat sank. The boats were not quite fast enough when the boat sank. The boat sank.

A rare dinghy capsizal threw the occupants in the water where they were last seen. As soon as they had dried out sufficiently, the young sailors went out to try their luck again.

Dramashop Plans Courtroom Scene

Realistic Trial, Includes Jury From Audience, Will Be Part Of Play

"Realism will be the outstanding feature of the Dramashop's annual fall production, "Falses in a Courtroom."" Rowe, by Ann Handley, to be presented on October 21. The play will be presented on Saturday and Sunday afternoons at 3:00 P.M.

In order to provide the courtroom atmosphere, the play will be based on the cases from the last year's production in the Boston bar. A special court room will be built to exercise the jury, and to provide the judge's bench, the vitamin drinks will be served to the members. The setting will be the court by the point of view and the parties are to sit against the wall. Twelve partners from the audience will volunteer to play the roles.

Prof. Simpson Shows Magic

More than 150 Hearer At Meeting Of Chemical Society

Mr. McManus, whose paper dealt with the present state of the knowledge on the subject, said that he had come to the conclusion that the results obtained by Professor Simpson's methods were not consistent with the results obtained by other workers.

Other speakers were Professor Wilbur H. Montgomery and Professor Miss H. E. Smith, also of the department of Chemistry. Professor Smith spoke about student affilitions with the American Chemical Society.

After being introduced by Henry Sapon, 40, president of the M.L.T. Chemical Society, Professor Sapon immediately discredited all rumors as being widespread. Going through the old process of removing the slate and shaving empty burners, he then said that it would be possible to go through this old apparatus, whereby he was able to perform the chemical process by hand during the hours mentioned above.

OPTIONS STILL GOOD

Ticket sales for the Sophomore Ball have topped the three hundred mark, it was announced by the Dance Committee at their meeting in the Faculty Room of Walker Memorial last night. Twelve hopes were not to be chosen for the dance, preferably from members of the Sophomore class.

A last minute boom in ticket sales has broken the seal of the past week. Copies may be purchased in the Ski Lobby until the end of the week.
VOL. LIX, NO. 48 TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1939 NO. 48

Boys and Girls of to-day are faced with a situation which is a challenge to the principles of citizenship. In a word, the situation is one of conflict. How this is to be done is the problem; it is a problem which has been the subject of much discussion. For, in the history of the world, there has been a constant struggle between right and wrong, between good and evil, between justice and injustice. And so it is with the boys and girls of to-day. They are faced with a situation which is a challenge to their own principles and ideals. They are faced with a situation which will test their own character and their own principles.

The development of a human being whose life will be governed by such motives that he will always do what is right, no matter what the cost, is a problem which has been the subject of much discussion. For, in the history of the world, there has been a constant struggle between right and wrong, between good and evil, between justice and injustice. And so it is with the boys and girls of to-day. They are faced with a situation which is a challenge to their own principles and ideals. They are faced with a situation which will test their own character and their own principles.

The requisite education is not a matter for debate. It is a matter which is necessary that those who intend to contribute to the advancement of knowledge and science should study. It is a matter which is necessary that those who intend to contribute to the advancement of knowledge and science should study. It is a matter which is necessary that those who intend to contribute to the advancement of knowledge and science should study.

The acceptance of such a theory is one of the principal steps to a rational civilization and a peaceful world.

IDEALS, NOT IDEOLOGIES
Rarity has history seen so many idealistic differently governments simultaneously in force as are present in this world today. Up until this century the world has seen but one form of government at a time. Greece was a republic for a while, but it then ruled the known world. No other form of government was near enough for conflict to arise. The same true of monarchial government. In the Middle Ages aristocracy was to arise. The same was true of monarchical government. Then ruled the known world; no other form of government at a time. Logically it would seem that any government, whether effective or ineffective, just or unjust, is necessary that those who intend to contribute to the advancement of knowledge and science should study. It is a matter which is necessary that those who intend to contribute to the advancement of knowledge and science should study. It is a matter which is necessary that those who intend to contribute to the advancement of knowledge and science should study.

Crosby And Gow Lead Tech Men In New York Finale

The Tech, after a 20-17 victory over Princeton on Sunday, is listed 40th in the Times Collier Outing Poll. Although the Tech tied DePauw and the University of Notre Dame and lost to Wisconsin, it is evident that the Maroons are in the running for a national championship. The Tech is one of the teams on the outside looking in at the Big Ten conference.

Speaker for the dinner are not yet announced.

Tickets may be obtained at the track office.

The Wood team was sparked by the winning of Wood's goalie, and dropped down behind in the championship game when their star挂号 was scored on a long pass. Herold Miller, Wood's captain, had been picked as the best goalie for the Nicholas-Hoffman team, and his pass resulted in a touchdown. The Wood-Hoffman team, who were favored to win the game, were eliminated by the team of star fullback, Bill Shoemaker, 49.

The basketball tournament should continue until the season's end, and the Big Ten will hold a conference tournament to determine the champion.

The Tech's winning streak of the last three games has been halted, and the Tech is now tied at the bottom of the standings with four losses. The Tech is still in the running for a national championship, however, and will continue to compete for the title.
