John Harvard Eulogy Tours At Cambridge

Boston Univ. Freshman, Shih Ping, Is Crowned Queen Of Evening

John Harvard was honored and then remembered last night at the Senior Banquet, which was attended by all the students of the senior class, and a few other distinguished guests. Harvard's memory was honored by a few speeches, and his name was mentioned in the program.

A small dance was quickly formed around Harvard's statue, which was placed in the Student Memorial. The dance was attended by all the Musical Clubs, and the students of the senior class. It was a great success, and all those who attended enjoyed themselves. The dance was supervised by the seniors of the senior class, and the students of the freshman and sophomore classes.

Oarsmen Defeat Princeton

Harvard Wins Compton Cup As Tracksters Swamp Bates

Fifties, Frosh Take Contests; Varsity, Jayvee Finish Second

Finishing well ahead of Princeton in every race, and only two seconds behind Harvard in the Varsity events, Tech's immortal dawn life in the Compton Cup race held on Lake Campine this last Saturday. The Elektrons lightweight and Frosh crew crossed perfectly配合 [sic] events, frequently stopping the races.

In the Varsity race, the Crimson men won by a distance of 1,004 feet after trailing the Barren for the first mile and being held tight. The second place to Princeton's crew, which conquered Harvard two years ago, was only three feet in the rear.

Boatmen Take Frosh, 110 Points

The Crimson men also had a good showing in the frosh races, which were held last week and are being sold by the office of the Musical Clubs until 1. Proceeds will go to the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Lighting The Dormitories

How satisfactory is desk lighting in the undergraduate dormitories? It has been reported that many students suffered from eye strain, The Tech has just completed an investigation of these lamps.

I. E. S. Lighting The Dormitories

The Tech next attempted to find out just how inadequate lighting is for the preservation of the students' eyes. Dr. Moree, Medical Director of the Institute, issued the following statement: "We have asked any personal concerning the lighting system in the students' rooms in the dormitories, it is my feeling that the best possible type of lamp should be provided. I am in full accord with any investigation which would improve the lighting conditions in the dormitories."

What then is the best type of lamp? We made an inquiry into the situation with the aid of the illuminating engineering division of the department of Electrical Engineering, and came to the following conclusions:

I. E. S. lamps are the best type of desk lamps on the market today. They, more than any other lamp, fulfill the requirement of lighting for the preservation of the students' eyes. Fluorescent lamps have not yet reached a sufficient stage of perfection and are not likely to reach it for a number of years. I. E. S. lamps have proved to be very satisfactory in the Graduate House.

To get new lamps for 625 dormitory residents. The present lamps have very little salvage value and would therefore constitute total loss. We suggest that the Institute consider the purchase of an inexpensive I. E. S. lamp for two reasons: The investment will be relatively small. In a few years a superior lamp is developed which the Institute wants to buy, the loss due to obsolescence will not be excessive.

One manufacturer quotes the required number of lamps at $2.45 apiece (includes freight estimated by The Tech). The total investment for this lamp would thus be $1,531.25. The Tech estimates the additional maintenance cost over the present lights at $45. a year.

The dormitory residents appreciate the comfort their temporary lamps afford them, but also complain much. However, the fact that an estimated half of them buy their own lamps to replace those supplied by the dormitories indicates that an adjustment is needed. Cheap I. E. S. lamp is the answer.

A Change Is Indicated

By a count of 214 to 91, students, who voted in favor of obtaining new lamps for their spring vacation coming at Easter time instead of around April 19.

Of course none of the Institute voted on the question. But the conditions under which the poll was held and a survey of the students who did the voting show that a representative cross section of the Tech expressed their views. At any rate, the majority of almost 75% is almost certainly large enough to throw any misgivings about the choice of the voters.

It is to be hoped that the results of the poll will be motivating. Spring vacation is a time when the students are given to understand, is set at the time it is, chiefly because Tech students allegedly are busy all the rest of the time. The results of the poll may indicate that they do not. With no other case for it to remain where it is, spring vacation should be transported to the spot on the calendar where the students want it.

THE READER SPEAKS

May 1, 1940

Dear Sir:

Dear Sir:

We have observed students sleeping in the halls. Recently, two instances have been brought to our attention. One occurred on the 12th of April, when students were observed sleeping in the halls. The other occurred on the 13th of April, when students were observed sleeping in the halls.

These circumstances have been brought to the attention of the authorities, who have taken appropriate action. The students involved have been given a warning, and future offenses will be dealt with more severely.

Yours truly,

ROBERT J. PAY

Tech Lacrossemen Lose At Hanover To Dartmouth, 7-1

Game Closely Fought but Old Guard Defeats Rain and Mudly Field

Nosed out in the second half, the oarsmen were downed at Dartmouth in a game played at Hanover in pouring rain on Saturday. The Engineers were close, but had little to show for 35 minutes of play instead of 15 minutes at the quarter mark. During the first half, calves played with much not much chance to get the ball in the game, the Dartmouth stroke twice in the first half, to make the half score 2-2, both these scores being due to ball handling deficiency.

Rain Bears

In the second quarter Dartmouth really got going, scoring four goals in a seven-minute stretch, the oarsmen wake up. When the game went on to the second half, a well-coordinated combination movement ended up with three goals for Dartmouth when putting the ball in the nest.

Rain ruined the play in the last 20 minutes. Again play was even as Dartmouth managed to look at another goal in the closing minutes of the game to make the final score 5-2.

Beaver Golfers Win Second Game

Kloch and Wyane Break MIT, Four-Ball Record In Rhode Island Match

The Engineering team continued its successful season, beating Rhode Island at the A.A. Founding School record at a match at Kingston, R.I., on Saturday.

In the final quarter the Rhode Islanders conceded the match to the Engineers, who scored twice to bring the final score 6-3.

Four the fourth straight season, Harvard was the Compton Cup champion of the collegiate golfing world, winning the championship on the 18th hole of the East Course of the Old Matt at Princeton. The Dorm team was also victorious in the Intercollegiate Match Play competition.

All in all, the Dorm team was able to claim the Compton Cup again, with a score of 364, just one stroke better than the previous year's winning score of 365.

Beaver Sailors Lose To Princeton By 12 Points Over Weekend

Beaver Men Lose To Williams, Tied By MIT, Defeated By Harvard In First Three Games Of Regatta History

Losing the Morris Beck Intercollegiate, inside Beaumont for the first time in four years, the Beaver sailors went down to Princeton by twelve points in a classic, close-fought race, on the Charles Lake weekend.

The weather was a mix of both sun and rain, making racing conditions both good and probably bad.

The first challenge of the day, Tech didn't quite start well, only winning one race in the first two races and oofing only fourteen points. Tech kept third up the next three, however, with a win in the first race and a fourth in the second. At the same time, Harvard rolled out a big lead over Tech here as the win was a close one, with a win in the first race and a close victory in the second.

The direction got second two.

Cute Up

After getting second in the third and fourth races of the afternoon, Tech still held position with the lead. In the fifth race of the afternoon, Tech again played well, and won two races to extend its lead to 24 points.

On the opening of the second day, Tech, with the lead, played well, and won all the races to extend its lead to 80 points on the final day.

Tech Tops Harvard in the afternoon, the Tech crews raced out on their numbers and won the races.

On the final day, Tech captured the title with a score of 24 points.

On the final day, Tech captured the title with a score of 24 points.
