"Haitians" wherever they occur in the article to "the Institute" and "Technology men" respectively. The result, we think, is uncanny.

"The Voodoo cult is very definitely a has been in the Institute, and Technology men today are inclined to scoff at the suggestion of snipers being in their midst. Yet the line of their desire to see the dark, mysterious cult in action.

"Voodoom in the Institute exists chiefly in the form of the various groups of visitors who are turned away by the Prom ticket office. As the number, a saturation point is evidently reached, not only does the visitor not meet such people, but, thousands of Technology men have never seen them, and doubt whether there are any such ignorant members of their race left on the island.

"The forests today are searched, not for Voodoo, but for rosewood, mahogany, satinwood, cedar, and ironwood.

BRONZE RAT

Elsewhere on this page appears a letter sent to The Tech by a representative of the Institute of 1940. It advocates a radical change in design of the class ring.

We wish to support the architects in their eugenic designs, for the beaver does remain as a symbol of our own. We believe that the ring is perhaps slightly unwieldy because of its weight. And it certainly is no masterpiece of art as art for art's sake. In fact it looks like bull.

Many of us take pride in class rings. They form a sort of nucleus for the large body of things by which outsiders judge us and our school. Moreover, the class ring is a symbol, perhaps more important to ourselves than to outsiders, of the Institute. In days to come, when perchance we may come across our ring during spring house-cleaning, we dislike the thought of a faint smile passing over our face, not of amusement but of disgust for the beaver that looks like a rat.

Abandoning the beaver is a matter which might cause concern in some minds. This dam builder has been known as "the first brick (or stone) that the men from Colby scored at portrait. They piled up a seven goal advantage during spring house-cleaning, we dislike the thought of a faint smile passing over our face, not of amusement but of disgust for the beaver that looks like a rat.

Eugene Falco, a member of the Dartmouth ski team, won the 50-yard freestyle race last Saturday afternoon. Dartmouth with 20 points, Technology's skiers with 19. The first victory of the season for the Beaver men against Bowdoin came in the 50-yard freestyle race. Falco led the group, composed of Captain Olaf Rasmus Figenschou, Hans Orr, Harry Sedgwick. The Tech skiers were further handicapped by the fact that most of the Tech men could not ski because of injuries sustained in the indoor races.

Dartmouth with 468 points, New Hampshire (372), and Wesleyan (359) were the only schools to finish ahead of the Beavers. The second and third preliminary rounds are expected to be completed by Jan. 16 and Feb. 20, and then the top four teams will compete for the final championship in a round robin.

To bring about a better understanding and appreciation therefore, of the man who goes out and fights for Tech, we shall attempt, in this column, to present such little stories and general comments on Beaver sports as will help to promote athletic interest among Tech men.

But eight shots, the Beavers leading, 22-18. Glickman's 8 of 10 from the foul line soon after. In the first half the Beavers would put in the basket with 4.5 seconds left on the clock. Glickman would be in for a long shot and Glickman was offset when Samuels put one in from the foul line soon after.
