DO OR NOT

In spite of the tremendous sums recently appropriated for national defense and the efforts of conscientious workers in Washington, the facts reveal a nation which is still painfully unprepared for any military challenge.

Everybody is placing the blame somewhere. The Administration declares it is the unwillingness of large business industries to cooperate. Political helplessness and just plain bungling of a vital task is slowing down the defense program daily, says the Republicans. Totalitarian propagandists hit directly at the "slow process of democracies."

At any rate, we now have a Council of National Defense. President Roosevelt created it some time ago. The people of the United States feel that this defense business is mostly up to this body, and that any criticism or any praise should be lodged with it. If the Army and Navy still have only 500 first-line fighting planes, why doesn't Mr. Knudsen and Mr. Stettinius get on the ball and see that we get some more in a hurry?

Inside Story

Currently, the most popular features of newspapers and periodicals are departments pertaining to the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940. Question and answer columns, explanations of classes, features, etc., all are designed to clear up uncertainties regarding the conscription bill.

Of particular interest to college men is the news that one such interpretative department soon will go forth with advice strictly for colleges through still another medium of communication, the radio. The American Council on Education is sponsoring a broadcast next Tuesday to answer specific questions of students and faculty members pertaining to the Selective Service Act.

Probably the best point in the broadcast's favor is that it will give accurate information. The executive officer at National Selective Service Headquarters and the chairman of the Advisory Committee on Selective Service are to do the answering. Joe College should grab at this chance to get the inside dope.

Well!!

In view of the fact that a special program of training for women students is being worked out in connection with the general war effort at McGill University, it will be necessary for all women students to be physically examined by the medical authorities of the University prior to October 19th. A fine of $10 will be imposed on any students who do not present themselves before this date.

All students who have not already made an appointment for examination should apply to Dr. Frances Fisher at the Royal Victoria College as soon as possible.
