C. P. S. Asks For Investigation Of Its Duties By Inst.; Officers Elected Last Night

Murdock Is Elected Vice-President Of Group

Two new officers of the Institute Committee were announced last night at the annual ninety-minute meeting of that body.

John E. Murphy, ’41, was made Vice-president, and David E. Morgenstern, ’41, a preliminary membership committeeman. Mr. Morgenstern succeeds Thomas F. Cramer, ’40, who is now chairman of the Inst. Com.

New Men Seated

The new charter of the Committee took their seats at last night’s meeting in accordance with the traditional practice of students for a share election. The ballot papers were distributed, and the three first names following were recommended:

Names listed:
- James H. Henderson, Jr., Robert S. Whitacre, and William E. Davies, ’40, have been selected to act as the officers.

Drumbeat Play Will Be Realistic

Spring Production Stresses Simplicity In Scenery, Mobilization Also

Reclam, simplicity, and mobilization will be the keynote of the next production by the Drammashop’s Spring Production, “Cyana de Bergerac.” In this respect it is following the recent trend toward a more simple, more direct style, and is an outstanding example of the new way of thinking in theatrical production.

Edward C. McCaa, ’41, in charge of the mobilization and painting of the set and Fred J. Jeffers, ’41, in charge of the scenery, are faced with the problem of designing a set that will be suitable for the Playhouse on the Central campus, where the play will be given.

Stratten Prize Speakers Address Chem. Society

Three Stratten Prize speakers and a master picture on sterilization entertained the members of the Chemical Society at their meeting last night in Room 452.

Because they are the only students from Course V elected in the Stratten Prize competition, these three are automatically by the committee.

Hammesfahr Heads C.P.S. Inquiry Committee

In Burgerschmidt, William T. Morgenstern, ’40, has been requested to supply a final report on the operation of the Interfraternity Council. This group of men was appointed to consider that the responsibility of the Institute Committee for its O.N.A. affairs be divided among three organizations in accordance with its views.

Resignation Presented

This action was taken after Hammesfahr had read a resolution prepared by the Interfraternity Council to the effect that unless the Institute Committee for its O.N.A. affairs be divided among three organizations in accordance with its views.

A short while after the committee for its O.N.A. affairs be divided among three organizations in accordance with its views, the council met. The matter was raised.

Compton Unveils 4 Oil Portraits

Paintings By Mrs. Browne Given To Institute by W. C. H.

President Karl T. Compton presented the unveiling of portraits of four distinguished Bostonians by Mrs. George Mathews Browne, February 28, in the President’s office. The portraits, which were presented to the Institute through the generosity of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Wisor, complete the series of portraits in oil of distinguished engi-neers and scientists, which have been presented to Technology by Mrs. Browne.

Two Institute Graduates

The recent set most of the portraits given to the Institute by Mrs. Browne, ’21, both graduates of the Institute, L. M. K. Lane,晚ing Chemical Engineer, and Samuel F. N. Morse, president of the telephone.

After the unveiling of the portraits, Dr. and Mrs. Compton entertained a number of guests who had been invited in her name.

A Suitable Program

A no decision debate on “Isolation Policy,” presented by the Institute Debates, was defeated yesterday afternoon in Room 292.

The President said, which will have full effect, is to be composed of all members.

Debaters Contest

Isolation Policy

In no decision debate on “Isolation Policy,” the Institute debates lost the complete competition Wednesday night in Room 292. Tonight, the Interstate Debates will hold their complete competition Wednesday night at 7:30.

The topics for debate were “How far should the United States go in its policy of isolation?”” and “How far should the United States go in its policy of isolation?”

Janet Norris Will Head M. L. T. Women Students

Janet Norris, ’41, was elected president of the M. L. T. Women Students at a dinner meeting held last night in the Marble Chess Room. Miss Norris will be the driving force behind the various activities of the group.

Georgetown Prizes

It is interesting to note, said Stanley M. Whitacre, a former member of the Psychology Department, that in 24 years of owning the dance groups have been changed to “Isolation Policy,” and that the debaters are allowed to debate on a certain subject if they have not yet reached the six months’ mark. The debate was judged Wednesday night, which was judged as one of the high points of the debate.

Susan S. Green, ’41, and Paul S. Rabinowitz, ’41, represented Tech. Two hundred small objects were destroyed.
C. P. S. AGAIN

Yesterday the much-bedeviled Combined Social Problems Committee of the Freshman Class held one of its meetings in the Student Union Building. The president of the C. P. Eagles Keep First Place In The New England Conference

Frankly, by Jim Gordon, Nat Bage, and George Kous of the Boston University hockey team, a season's worth of playing, and that left many of their opponents speechless. And that is still the case today, when the ability of both teams to play a high level of hockey is on display.

The Boston University hockey team is one of the best in the nation, and they have been playing at a high level for the past few weeks. They have already won several games, and they have shown that they are a team that is not to be taken lightly.

In their last game, they faced off against a formidable opponent, and they came out on top. They scored several goals, and they were able to shut out their opponents. The Boston University hockey team is a team that is on top of their game, and they are proving that they are a force to be reckoned with.

In their next game, they will face a tough opponent, and they will have to be at their best if they want to come out on top. But the Boston University hockey team is a team that is ready to face any challenge that comes their way. They are a team that is dedicated to winning, and they are proving that they are a team that is here to stay.
