John Doe, '45, Given Trophy
For Outstanding Scholarship
By National Honorary Society
When interviewed, Victor Attributes Entire Success
To The Tech Aid
For outstanding scholarship and leadership in extracurricular activities, John Doe, '45, yesterday received the coveted Sigma Alpha Pi trophy at the annual dinner of the National Honorary Society held in the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York.
The trophy, a 1945 gold Plantinum, was presented for his "work in being recruited and will be presented to Doe as a token for the work in his freshman year," he continued.
"I do not believe that I have been recruited, seeing my place in the sun, with proper notice, until now." he added.
Other award winners announced during the evening were: Dr. F. K. J. Blot, '48, who won the prize in the annual All-American Newspaper Critical award given the Tech for work on extracurricular activities.

Six Year Period Sees Rise From "Fair" To
"Notable" Category
Gaining increased recognition for its contributions, The Tech was granted "notable" status six years ago. Previously, the Ann Arbor News-staffed weekly was entitled to a "fair" category status.
Organizers of the annual "notable" survey of college newspapers in the United States, at The Tech's annual banquet, has set a mark which is as yet bewildered nobody could have foreseen six years ago.
