AN INTEGRATED COURSE IN HARDENING IS NEEDED

In an adjoining column are printed two letters received by the Department of Military Science from graduates who have been and are still going through the rigorous course of hardening. Both students consider that the most important thing they felt that they lacked was "hardness." One of the correspondents went so far as to suggest that the school does not prepare its students adequately, but this suggestion notwithstanding, the job of hardening the men at school is one which should be undertaken with more vigor than has hitherto been the case.

The most as soon as the idea is suggested however, many students are prone to waste the program aside with the excuse that there isn't time enough, considering the heavy loads the undergraduates are prone to wave the program aside with the excuse that it should be undertaken with more vigor than has hitherto been the case.

...almost too completely-and in not sixty years... it's a job because it's very wise abroad. It's a job because it's very wise to keep in step. We should widen the program and extend it. We also had a twenty mile hike Friday and in this hike only 47 men remained. Our voice course is divided into two parts, the first being the old and the second being the new. The "bests" of Athens and Sparta might have had a longer existence.

Mrs. Hors...'s picture shows a group of eight or ten students there in order to encourage its continuance, and therefore "Reviews and Previews" will appear regularly hereafter.

FIGHTING WORDS

delivered by Western Electric Radio

Wherever American soldiers ride into battle in any theater of war, there they get their orders over radio telephones. So do pilots of Army bombers and fighter planes—and the commanders of the Navy's deadly PT boats. The Signal Corps needs great quantities of field telephones, wire and cable, for its large naval vessels are battle announcing systems and sea-going telephones. Sixty years of experience at making "Fighting Words" for the Western Electric know how to speed equipment that helps keep 'em in contact.
The Beavers swept the 1,000 yard event, with John Adams taking the lead which Brown could not overcome. Although they took the top two spots in the event, the Beavers still had a lot to prove. The results of the meet are as follows:
