Blakeslee Is New Chairman Dorm Comm.

Assume New Duties Dinner To Be Held The Hotel Statler

Dore R. Blakeslee, 2nd, 10-45, elected chairman of the Dormitory Committee in the general elections this week. The election was approved last night by the Institute Committee, and Blakeslee will take over as head of the Dormitory Committee at a dinner Monday evening, June 11, at the Hotel Statler.

Blakeslee was elected during the past week by twelve hall representatives on the Dormitory Committee, a chairman and a representative from each of the six graduate halls, and two members large from the entire dormitory. These men will form the nucleus of next term's Dormitory Committee. Chairmen of sub-committees and other officers will be elected at the first regular meeting Monday evening. The voting throughout the election was rather light, as indicated by a vote of only about 100 for chairman.

Guest Speaker

Edward R. Schwarz, Head of the Textile Division of the Mechanical Engineering department will be the speaker at Monday's dinner. The dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the reception scheduled for 7:00 p.m. All members of the Dormitory Committee, as well as those forming the nucleus of the new committee, have been invited to attend. J. Spencer Standish has been chairman of the dinner in charge of all arrangements for the dinner.

The following members of the Dormitory Board: Prof. Leigh Hamilton, chairman; Burnett L. Rhind; Dean Harold L. Ash; and Prof. Avery A. Ash. The other invited guests are: Mr. K. Dow, Manager of the Walker Memorial Service; and Mr. William Longmire, Manager of the Graduate all chairmen on the new committee are: Robert W. Hanpeter, Secretary, and David R. Longmire, Assistant Secretary.

Freshman Rules To Be Enforced In Coming Term

Technique, 5:15 Club, Dorms, I.F.C., T.C.A. Elections Are Approved*

That Freshman Rules will continue to be enforced was the decision of the Institute Committee at yesterday's meeting. In an effort to enlist the cooperation of all the upper classes in the enforcement of these rules, it was voted to reestablish the Freshman Rules Committee which will assume the responsibility for enforcing freshman rules. This committee is to work in close cooperation with the Veteran's Committee set up at last week's meeting. How the rules will be enforced or who is to do the actual enforcing was not decided, however. The necessity for wholehearted cooperation from everyone was stressed heavily, because the lack of cooperation in the past has resulted in a serious laxity in the enforcement of freshman rules.

Elections Approved

Tech Turns Out To Greet Patton

Yesterday afternoon a large crowd of students turned out to watch General George S. Patton, Jr., pass by on his way from Bedford Field to the Hatch Shell on the Charles Basin. All the members of the V-12 Unit who were not otherwise occupied lined the sidewalk in front of the Graduate House to see the General.

General Patton, commander of the Third Army, famed for its dash across France and Germany, headed the procession in an open car. He was wearing a battle dress jacket, resplendent with ribbons, and his famous varnished helmet bearing his four-star insignia. The General stopped briefly in front of the Charlesgate Hospital to greet the crowd assembled there and to permit photographers to take pictures.
