ROOM FOR MORE

Some of you who returned on Registration Day to eat your first meal of the term at Walker were probably startled on first seeing the changes now in effect at the evening repast. Every item on the menu is now served on chinaware, and covers are available so that the main course may be kept warm while the student from the kitchen is preparing the next item of the table. A table with a samovar, flanked by two candles, for serving demitasse at the time after the Institute, where she commutes daily to school. The extent of her travels is no more than a few trips up to Maine in summer. She has an interest in books and music. She would like to see plays. This perhaps is simply asked by the fact that she dislikes the actual process of attending them. She has an interest in music. She praises another. Perhaps a gallant Course Sergeant will man will design Ginny a magic wand. In the instrumental branch of the Institute competition, she is among the best. She also has her picture taken. She doesn’t look too unhappy about it in our photograph. She is a spot. Finally, she has just got to the bottom of the menu and has lately taken to wandering around with a vacant expression on her face, often talking to herself. She is engaged to be married.

Sometimes the Pythian service is a relief from the more serious work which is required. It is a period of relaxation, and the students enjoy it. The Pythian service is an important part of the student’s life at the Institute, and it is always well attended.

Spring Frolic Planned

The Coeducation Committee is planning five informal dances including the annual Spring Frolic, this spring, according to Robert P. Krasner, chairman of the committee.
Among the five dances planned are three informal dances to recr in Pantheon Hall, the first of which will be held on Saturday, March 30, at 8:00 P.M. to 12:00 midnight. Another dance, which will be held in the dormitories in the evening of April 3, will be held in Pantheon Hall, the third of which will be held on Saturday, May 11 and Thursday, June 1. The decision to hold these dances came as a result of a number of requests from dormitory residents. As far as is known, such an experiment has not been tried in recent years.

On Friday, April 13, the committee is sponsoring an acquaintance dance entitled "Spring Frolic." They give no hint as to how they will be invited for this annual event, which will last from 8:00 P.M. until 12:00 midnight.

A competition among the five colleges for the title, "Queen of the April," will be held, and the winner will be determined by the taste of the gents present. The dance will begin at 8:00 P.M. with music by "20th Century," and will close at 1:00 A.M. with music by "The Triumph." The dance will be scheduled and there will be a charge of 50 cents per person. Tickets may be purchased on the last Tuesday before the dance from the officers of the various organizations, and will be available in Pantheon Hall, the dormitories, and the main offices of the campus. The price is $1.50, and tickets may be purchased from the officers of the various organizations, and will be available in Pantheon Hall, the dormitories, and the main offices of the campus.
