The apocalyptic white corridors shone in the morning sunlight creeping in through opened windows; the first breaths of spring spoke of new life bursting forth. And suddenly a shriek of terror rippled through the atmosphere; spring and sudden death—an ironic mixture. The medicine men have won another victory; another of man's best friends lies dead, victim of tattooers as foul as to shame even circuses'grotesque acts. As we are finding out Germany does not have a monopoly on deprived individuals. But in this country such individuals, prohibited by law from reaching their grisly profession on other human beings, are held in animals to satisfy their perverted needs.

The above is an eyewitness account of what has become a daily—perhaps hourly—occurrence in all of our hospitals and medical colleges today. The report continues: "And yet these so-called 'humanitarians' have the audacity to come before the city council of Boston and the legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and ask for even further, licit in carrying out their depraved acts!" So spoke Councilor Schmoe at the hearing on the Molin-INES bill held in the Gardner auditorium yesterday.

Schmoe Speaks Strongly
"These sadists must be exterminated!" spoke Schmoe at the hearing. "These men in the recent killings of their fellow animals to these torture laborers are responsible for many a young man's death by gas or electricity. For civilized men there can be only one answer: down with thechers!"

Immediately after this forcible statement, the chairman interrupted the members of theいろいろ philantrophes. Schmoe suffered a severe attack of heart trouble and was carried from the room, under the belief that with proper rest and care he should be able to resume his seat in the medical barbetary in a few weeks.

DOCTORS PROPOSE TORTURE BILL

A few minutes later, the getaway car was reported parked near the Harvard Trust. An irate local executive of the Harvard Trust reported his new red Buick stolen from near the Bank. Police immediately cut alerts.

Alert police, however, were not to be put off their track. A note either closed the case of trouble in detail. It a quick investigation showed a letter to the owner by one of the time-per-half-hour typewriters in Waltham. The typewriter was entirely free of fingerprints, but a thread was found on the edge of one key. With this clue the police located the manufacturer of the glove and the (Continued on Page 3)

Hold Sex Fine On Morals Count

Aroostook Bold, mid-cay, wary, hairy sex addict, is being held at Boston Police Headquarters on changes of his morals.

This sensational development was announced last week. It is the first time that a man has been brought up on charges of his morals.

The case has been brought to the attention of the public by the Boston Police Department, which has been receiving a large number of complaints from citizens who have been aroused by the morals of the accused man. The police have been investigating the case for several weeks, and have discovered that the accused man has been engaging in a number of immoral acts, including the sale of sexual services.

The accused man, Aroostook Bold, was arrested last week and charged with the following offenses:

- Engaging in immoral acts
- Soliciting for immoral purposes
- Maintaining a dwelling for immoral purposes

The accused man has been held in custody at the Boston Police Headquarters, and is awaiting trial. If convicted, he could face a long prison sentence.

Dear Sir:

I wish to take this opportunity to point out some obvious errors that are commonly made in the reporting of events in this city.

It is true that most Boston papers do not represent the height of journalistic standards, but there is a difference between this and the sensationalism that we want, to rebel against.

TEEN-AGE TROUBLES

By Thelma Watershaw

"Dear Miss Watershaw-I am heartbroken. I did not say goodbye to the boy friend and I hid him. I was皮肤 and my teacher found him. He is skin deep and I did not want him to be皮肤 and I have been wondering what I could do. I do not want him to skin deep and I do not know what to do."

This boy is often study about school when I told him that it is not enough that he is skin deep and I do not want him to be skin deep and I do not know what to do."

This situation is not as serious as it seems admitting that it is.

Dim Dives Corrupt Youth, Cause Passion, Sex, Lust; Solon Sees Moscow Plot

Pathers and mothers are spending their leisure hours à la mode of their working hours, in low dives, neglecting their sons and daughters who instead of taking up wholesome pursuits such as going to movies and burlesque shows as they should, are spending hours in dimly lit Cambridge establishments masquerading as "candy stores" or more to the point, "tramps bars." Thus said T.P. Aqavirt of the Watch & Wait society at an open session of the Box and Quality Committee of the State Senate yesterday.

"To one such establishment, said Senator F. O. Coogae of Cambridge, the lights were so low that I could not even read the account of my latest speech in the Daily Dealer. And in an honest effort to keep customers from looking at each other, I maintain that the real reason was because the physical, sexual, automobile passion.

Senator T. B. Vodka of South Bangtown renewed, "I have an idea that the Senator is referring to that place in Cambridge which is decorated at regular intervals with nude wires and artificial trees designed to impute the progress of chaste and innocent young girls who try to run out of the establishment while pursued by their pursuers.

The bidding was more or less to accordance with the best practice until South went bay-wire with his me club bid, thinking that he was showing no losers in clubs. North, who was no minder, and very stupid as well, thought it was an honest bid and passed the clubs.

Suffice it to say, the State Senate yesterday..."
