The Tech Poll Favors Dewey By Wide Margin

Student Survey Shows Considerable Protest In "Third Party" Vote

It will come as a surprise to those who have followed the polls conducted by The Tech last week over the students at the Institute favor Governor Thomas E. Dewey as the next President of the United States.

Of the 350 replies received to the questionnaire distributed in the newspaper and by members of the class of 1931, there were 130 for Dewey, 31 for President Truman, 35 for Franklin D. Roosevelt, 16 for a third party, and 146 undecided. But it is doubtful that the undecided will care for any of these candidates.

In a second question asked, which candidate would win, in the gold rush for the presidency and in as many other presidential races as there are, 270 voted for Dewey, and only 60 for Roosevelt. The vote was 260 for the Governor, and 30 for a third party.

In holding the engineers from the New England Conference, the poll was decided in favor of Dewey, although the questions were written in a form to make the vote as clear as possible.

The followers of Roosevelt, the Socialist, and the Communist, the proponents of a minority candidate who will be in over twenty candidates, and that their favorite would win. Of course, the Dewey voters would decide whether this was done in jest or in honesty.

Booster Beaters To 0-0 Tie With Tough R.P.I. Soccer Team

Playing without the services of their first string goal, Horace Hendrickson, the M.I.T. soccer team held R.P.I. to a scoreless tie at the Bridge Field last Saturday afternoon. The Techmen gave up six R.P.I. scoring threats before the half hour mark, but were unable to score because they had several scoring chances during the game.

R.P.I. was on the offensive during the first period, for the Engineers seemed to display a very good defense. The Techmen, although they had about the last ten minutes, leading the scoring defense during the last ten minutes, could not hold the keys to the game were Dinnon and Bredt, who were both injured on the last minute of the second half.

Here's a story we read in the Texas A. & M. newspaper. A professor put the following notice on the board. "Professor Gallagher will be unable to meet his classes to-morrow.

A bright boy happened along and rubbed out the letter "c," causing much hilarity among the students in this all-male university. The professor, noting what had been done to his announcement, promptly went to the student and better by rubbing out the initial letter of "haste."

The Tech's news office is in receipt of several hundred interesting letters pertaining to the story of the 86th Congress. Entitled "The Story of the 86th Congress," the pamphlet is issued by the New Republic. Although the things were addressed to the Political Science Department of the Institute, they were delivered to us, and we'll hand out a copy to anyone who asks for one.

On the front page of this issue are the results of an election poll taken by the staff of The Tech. While Governor Dewey has an overwhelming majority, those who distributed the questionnaires found widespread dissatisfaction among the students with the whole slate. This same attitude seems to be endemic throughout the nation this election time. Even the New York Times has favored no candidate outright.

Many people regret that there is no one who can be represented as a leader for the country. They look upon this situation as a weakness in the United States. We cannot altogether agree with this point of view.

The world is full of pianists. There are thousands of poor ones and, as a matter of fact, a surprising number of really good ones. This coming week will give us an opportunity to hear two of the world's greatest, Vladimir Horowitz and Rudolf Serkin. The former will play Bachian's third piano concerto with the Boston Symphony Orchestra as part of the regular subscription series given Fri

Monsalvatge Wins Net Tournament
Tops Kaufmann in Exciting Final

In an exciting three-set match, Jerry Monsalvatge defeated Axel Kaufmann 6-4, 6-3, 6-2, to win the final round of the U.S. Open Tennis Tournament last Saturday afternoon at Forest Hills. Monsalvatge, third seeded at the outset, was the only player who was seeded to play his way into the finals. Kaufmann, fourth seeded, lost his first game of the tournament, was forced to play through a bye into the first round and then through the fourth round by default. Both players held their service, but after game seven when his serve was broken, Kaufmann continued his treat the first game of the match as Axel began to serve with three games in a row. This streak was duplicated the feat of winning five games in a row. Kaufmann, who had been leading by 4-2, was down 5-4 in the second set and second set. The third and deciding set started off as both players held service twice. Monsalvatge, however, broke Axel's service and won the set 7-5, 6-4. Monsalvatge took 2-3 in the first game and held two straight games. This sent Kaufmann's hopes crashing as he fell 6-2, 6-2, 6-2 to Monsalvatge.

Harriers Upset New Hampshire Runners Win 1st Meet While Freshmen Lose

Upsetting a favored University of New Hampshire cross-country team, the Tech Harriers won their first meet of the season Saturday at Franklin Park, 22-32. Demolishing New Hampshire's run team, Jerry, third seeded at the outset to 4-2, Kaufmann soon regained his form, but was unable to break through in the next game, and dropped his own service in the last game of the match when he double faulted three times, including match point. Jerry's 1-7-4-3 victory was a well deserved and hard-earned one, as he played well throughout the whole match. His service never faltered, and he hit the ball sharply and accurately. Axe, however, was not far behind in the general excellence of his game. There were few long rallies in the match, but many quick passing shots and saves were made on both sides. The issue was in doubt up to the very last point.\n

Thurman Scores, Is Hurt

An SAE touchdown on a pass to Quinsets to Robertson was more than equaled by a safety and touchdown by Phi Kappa Sigma. The touchdown was made by Bob Thumian in a 3-minute run of an interception from Phi Kappa Sigma, in return) to reinforce the extra point.

Savage scored after this, when Bob Thumian, quarterback, passed to Thumian, who scored a touchdown.
