The Tumult and the Shouting Dies

The Dormitory Committee's special subcommittee investigating Dormitory admission policy has submitted its final report. No document is published elsewhere in this issue of The Tech.

Apparently, the inquiry was done very methodically and thoroughly. A list was made of all the freshmen and Sophomores living in the dormitories and each individual was checked against the catalog. From the catalog, the committee prepared an attendance list. Only a relatively small number seemed to be in the Dormitories illegitimately, but it was apparent that quite a few had gotten in by methods other than those indicated in the catalog, the housing bulletins, or the information given to barracks residents. The report mentions that in the future the Dormitory Board will avoid such blunders.

Rights of Proxies

One incident that marred the proceedings of the meeting at which the report was submitted was the exclusion from the first reading of the report of the Dormitory Committee members who were present by proxy. The motion under which the report was submitted was the proxy.
Mass. Coaches Will Meet Here

Dever, Julian, Donelli

To Address Mentors

At the invitation of the MIT A.A., the Massachusetts State Coaches' Association will hold its annual spring meeting at Tech tomorrow. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m., and will be followed by a dinner at 11:15 p.m. in the Cross House.

Governor Paul A. Dever will be the featured speaker at the dinner meeting. Other speakers will be Frank Golger, Director of Athletics, Dean Burchard, and Alden Blume.

George Lopez, President of the A.A., will be the host of the speakers at the morning meeting. The principal business of the meeting will include a number of clinics to be held on various sports.

Among the notable who will take part in the clinics are: Allen "Dog" Paul, coach in basketball and football; Guy McKee, Boston University, basketball; and Joe Capone, Boston College, football.

The Athletic Association's spring meeting will be held in conjunction with the Annual Symposium in Athletics, sponsored by the American Association of University Professors.

BASEBALL SQUAD TRIMMED TO 30; SCHEDULE RELEASED

Starting their second year of varsity baseball since the war, Tech's ball players have been working out in Boston. This year some 3000 men, under the watchful eye of their new coach, Warren Berg. The squad has been cut to thirty men, and Big plans aim to turn the roster to eighteen before the season’s opener at Weymouth.

This spring will see the Engineers playing an extensive thirteen-game schedule against teams from all over New England. Nine of the games will be played at home, which means plenty of good baseball for Tech fans during April and May.

SHOULD TECH SWIMMERS GET AN OLYMPIC CUP?
