KILLIAN SPEAKS ON "RIOTS"

The following letter was received late yesterday as THE TECH went to press; for further comment on this issue see "Editorial," page 2.

To The Student Body
Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Gentlemen:

I am sure you are all aware that recent events arising out of student "riots" have placed the Institute in an untenable position with its neighbors, the City of Cambridge, and the public at large, and have resulted in a grave injustice to a member of the Institute staff. I am equally sure that the student body will wish to join with all responsible groups on the campus, including Student Government, in a determined effort to prevent any further difficulties.

After consultation with Mr. Horace S. Ford, Chairman of the Corporation Committee on Student Activity, Mr. E. Francis Bowditch, Dean of Students, Mr. Marion C. Manderson, President of the Institute Committee, together with other representatives of student government, I have decided to reinvoke, effective this date forward, the following regulations formerly in effect at the Institute and arising out of incidents that took place several years ago in connection with Field Day:

In consideration of the welfare of the students and the rights and conveniences of the public, any student or group of students who participate in the forcible seizure or detention of any other student against his will, thereby render themselves liable to expulsion. Students participating in unauthorized demonstrations or parades of any character off the Institute grounds shall also render themselves liable to expulsion.

Henceforth the presence of a student at an unauthorized demonstration will be considered prima facie evidence of guilt.

These regulations are to continue in effect pending a careful study of this and related problems which I have asked be undertaken by the Institute Committee, representing your student government.

I have also requested Dean Bowditch to invite representatives of the City of Cambridge, including the Chief of Police and the Chief of the Fire Department, to meet with representatives of the Administration and Student Government to discuss ways and means of improving cooperation in handling affairs involving M.I.T. students.

As you all know, I have enduring faith in student government, in the tradition of student independence at the Institute, and in democratic procedures. I have confidence that the student body working with other agencies in the M.I.T. community can insure cordial relations with our neighbors.

I call on the cooperation of all in planning procedures which will be of maximum benefit to the M.I.T. community in the years ahead.

Faithfully yours,

J. R. Killian, Jr.
President

17 Students To Get Hearing Tues. On Disorderly Conduct Charge

By EDWIN EIGEL, '54

Associate Dean of Students Frederick G. Fassett, Jr. is scheduled to appear in Cambridge City Court this morning represented by the Institute's attorney, Phillips Ketchum, to answer charges of disturbing the peace, inciting students to riot, lodged against him last Monday evening, May 5, by Cambridge City Police.

Seventeen students who were involved in the alleged riot were also charged and will appear before the same court sometime next Tuesday.

Continuous complaints by the Mother Superior of the Sancta Maria Hospital adjacent to the Baker House, the use of loudspeakers to incite the alleged riot, and the purported march on Radcliffe dormitories for the purpose of removing large quantities of female "unmentionables"—all were cited by the police.

Rumors Spread

Rapidly spreading rumors circulated since the Monday arrests have inaccurately depicted

Unidentified students cluster about a Cambridge City Police car during a high-point in last Monday's demonstration.

the actions of the police and students. Cambridge Police took unusually drastic action, charging into students as they left the scene to make their arrests. Confusion dominated the scene for the rest of the evening as the students were arraigned and left free on bail. The arrested students declared that the march on Radcliffe was hardly as ambitious as it was later claimed to be by over-anxious Boston newspaper reporters.

The Institute has offered to provide legal representation for any or all of the accused students.

The trip to Radcliffe followed a bonfire rally outside of Baker House Dormitories earlier in the evening. The affair began at about 6:30 p.m. when several students began dropping water-filled balloons out of Baker House windows. They were aimed at other residents of the house. Later the water bombs were dropped on cars passing by the house on Amherst alley. Eventually the students went outside and started a bonfire on Briggs Field, keeping a fire extinguisher handy at all times.

Trip Proposed

Firemen and the police arrived on the scene at about 10:00 p.m. The fire was extinguished and the rally all but dispersed, when a trip to Radcliffe was suggested over a loudspeaker in one of the Baker House windows. This and other loudspeakers, as well as fireworks, had been adding to the confusion all evening.

MITMA Discusses Peace, Equality Argued at Madison

MITMA Discusses New Steel Strike

"The Steel Strike" is the topic of a round-table discussion being presented by the M.I.T. Management Association in the Library Lounge on Monday, May 12, from 5 to 6:30 p.m. Everyone is cordially invited.

Speakers include Professor Dunlop, public member of the Wage Stabilization Board, for the government and Mr. K. Glynn, sub area director of area 1, United Steel Workers of America, for the union. Moderator will be Professor Myers of the Economics Department.

The National Student Conference on Academic Freedom, Equality and Peace took place at Madison, Wisconsin, on April 25, 26 and 27. The Conference was called by a group of New York students who pointed out that they sought, not to "replace existing organizations or participating activities (but) to provide a basis for coordinating . . . a program of cooperation for peace, academic freedom and to end discrimination.

The conference saw the Boston area represented by a regional group which was formed to send delegates. The group had among its members men and women from Students for Democratic Action, The National Student Association, The United World Federalists, The Young Progressives of America, The Harvard Liberal Union, The Harvard Peace Council, Students for Struik and other groups. These were not official representatives of their organizations. Two M.I.T. students who attended the Madison Conference were Elliott Lieb '53 and Robert D. Moore, Jr., '54.

The conference began Friday night, April 25, when the delegates registered and an agenda for the meeting was adopted. Saturday morning's session opened with a report by the sponsoring committee which presented the purposes of the conference. After hearing a panel of speakers the delegates were divided into three "workshops" to discuss each of the three aims of the conference. These workshops were designed not only to seek grounds of agreement among the delegates but to recommend plans for group action.

Because the University of Wisconsin withdrew permission for the use of its facilities, the meetings were held in a Jewish Community Center, a Y.W.C.A., and a Labor Union Hall.

A resolutions committee, which met during the night, drew up the consensus of each workshop and wrote the series of resolutions which were presented to the entire group Sunday morning. The conference adopted, with slight modifications, the resolutions tendered by the workshop on Equality. All the recommendations of the three workshops are still unofficial. The Equality group did suggest a united opposition to the segregated school system in the U. S. and demanded its abolition. It demanded changes in all biased texts and proposed the support of F.E.P.C. by setting up student groups on campuses.

The discussion on the resolutions of the workshop on peace, however, met with greater opposition. The delegates agreed that the United States should seek the initiation of international control and unilateral methods of disarmament, and outlawing of the Atomic Bomb, and bacteriological weapons. A proposal urging educational, cultural, scientific, and athletic exchange of students and participation of the NSA in the forthcoming International Student Unity meeting of the International Union of Students was the last workshop resolution adopted by the conference. Its progress was permanently halted when several students from the University of Chicago, who were predominantly members of NSA and SDA, failed to agree to the complete adoption of the resolution and left the conference.

This group objected to the general policy statements of the conference and, according to several of the delegates from the Boston area, failed to offer any alternative for specific resolutions to which they objected. They were joined by a group of Young Socialists in leaving the conference. The socialists, who concerned themselves

Baker Garden Party Is First Outdoor Affair

On Saturday evening, May 17, Baker House is sponsoring one of the most unusual events ever held at the dorm. The affair, an outdoor garden party, will be held in front of the building. Highlights of the evening include the music of the Techtonians, beach tables with umbrellas on the lawn, Japanese lanterns, and an elaborate lattice trellis along the walk to cut off the glare from the drive.

This first outdoor affair ever to be held at Baker House will begin at 8:30 p.m. and refreshments will be served at 10:30 p.m. Couples will be able to dance on the flagstone terrace and enjoy the night air along Memorial Drive. Hand-painted favors, along with a novel instruction booklet will be given out to the girls.

First preference on ticket sales will go to house residents. Tickets are $1.50.

Members of the social committee working on this affair include Bill Kikillus, '53, Arthur Redman, '53, John Rutigliano, '53, Luis Peralta, '53, Leon Polinski, '52, Bayard Gardiner, '52, Seymour Weintraub, '52, Victor Mizel, '52, and Michael Marasca, '53.

as we like it

Last Sunday night the MIT Baton Society presented the MIT Glee Club and Choral Society with the Boston Pops Orchestra in the annual Tech Night—At The Pops. While the Boston Symphony is in Europe, Arthur Fiedler assembled an orchestra to play three nights a week during the month of May.

As their final appearance of the season the MIT Glee Club together with the Choral Society produced singing of good quality; the precision of their attacks and releases proved their attentiveness to the direction of Professor Liepmann. The Glee Club moved the audience in their effective rendering of the Negro spirituals, "Steal Away" and "The Old Ark Is A Moverin'." The Logarithms in their first appearance at the Pops were received very well.

The orchestra gave a performance which was well-coordinated in spite of the fact that many of its usual players were away in Europe with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

The good performance of both the Choral Society and the Glee Club lead us to expect a successful season in 1952-53.

broadcast over a campus radio station while there are innumerable faiths represented at the Institute. (Although according to the recent change in the Association's constitution, there is no religious restriction on membership, we cannot deny the religious character of the Association.)

WMIT therefore has two choices. One, give every religious organization a chance of broadcast, in which case the station would become a perfect theological institute; Two, remain completely impartial and secular in nature.

I for one, would suggest complete neutrality—the universal religion, if you like to call it—for the station. I hope my voice is heard, though a little bitter it sounds.

Midnight cram sessions the evening before exams may soon be on the way out. The University Hatchet, Washington University, Washington, D. C., informs us that prospects now seem hopeful for eliminating all-night studies in order to pass an exam. Dr. Bernard Fox and Joseph Robbin of W.U. have stated that it is possible to reduce the amount of time necessary to learn certain material by presenting it repeatedly during sleep. Recent experiments verify this. Thirty students who took part in the experiments were divided into three groups with equal ability in learning Chinese. The first group "heard" Chinese words with their correct English equivalents while they slept between 2:30 and 3 a.m. The second group heard the Chinese words but with incorrect English meanings, while the last group

AFTER HOURS

Send Contributions to Ray Fessel, M.I.T. East Campus DANCES

FRIDAY, MAY 9
 M.I.T.—The East Campus House Committee is throwing another small, cozy, couples dance in Burton Lounge, East Campus. There will be dancing to records and refreshments. The dance lasts from 8 to 12 p.m. Admission is $50 per couple at the door.

M.I.T.—The M.I.T. Armenian Club has its big flag of the year when it holds a "Near East Cabaret" at Morris Hall in Walker Memorial. It features Armenian delicacies served in the exotic atmosphere of the Near East. Artie Barsamian and his orchestra will supply the music. This will be the last acquaintance dance of the year, so if you want to make some new contacts, you better get over there. The affair lasts from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. and admission is $1.50 at the door.

Cambridge YWCA—The girls at the Cambridge YWCA are having another one of their regular Friday night dances. There will be dancing to records, a snack bar, cards, and a lounge there. It lasts from 8 to 11:30 p.m. at the YWCA Annex Basement, 7 Temple St., Cambridge, near Central Square. Admission is $40 plus tax.

SATURDAY, MAY 10
 M.I.T.—The Informal Dance Committee of the Walker Student Staff is having its monthly dance at 8:30 p.m. in Morris Hall, Walker Memorial. The dance will be modeled on a beach party, so old clothes are the things to wear. There will be first-rate entertainment and refreshments will be served. Admission is only $1 per couple and it is well worth it.

AFTER THE STORM

It's no use crying over spilt milk. The riot was held, the police arrived, and later on the arrests were made. The thing to do now is to see to it that the excesses do not occur again.

The effect of police intervention has been opposite to that intended; consequently a modus vivendi must be arranged with the police, making such intervention unnecessary. The only way to achieve this is to increase disciplinary authority within the Institute.

The Student Judicial Committee and the Faculty Committee on Discipline were set up for this purpose and have adequate powers to deal with miscreants both on Institute grounds and off.

The threat of sterner application of the rod by an Institute authority will, we are convinced, induce the child to keep his demonstration within decent limits; and it would certainly break down the wall of public disapproval with which we have lately surrounded ourselves.

TIME FOR A CHANGE

With only one or two meetings of the Institute Committee ahead before examinations begin, we believe the time has now come to consider the bases of a reorganization of our student government with more emphasis than ever before.

In the interest of more democratic government, of higher efficiency, and of consideration for members of our student government, we would point out the advantages of some changes which, we feel, should be effected.

First, we suggest that the time when the new Institute Committee takes over be moved forward about two months. This would give the numerous seniors sitting on Instcomm time enough to work on their theses and other pressing last-term work. At the same time, the proposed change would do away with the present system, whereby many activities elect their new officers shortly before or after the Christmas vacation and are represented for the period between such election and the arrival of the new Instcomm Committee in April by their old chief officers. These, more often than not, are no longer connected with their activity, and cannot hope to represent it effectively.

The move would imply having general class elections some time late in November. We see no disadvantage in this.

Second, we feel that the president of Instcomm should be elected in the same way that the other members of the Executive Committee are elected, that is, by the Institute Committee. At present, the elected president of the senior class becomes president of Instcomm ex officio. Quantitatively, the present system is more democratic, since a larger number of voters (i.e. the Senior class) participate in the election. Qualitatively, the proposed system is more democratic, because the electors would represent a complete cross-section of the student body.

Thirdly, we consider it of major importance that Instcomm take up the question of how many people should sit on the Committee, and who they shall be. Now, living groups and class representatives make up less than half the Instcomm membership; the remaining seats are taken by representatives of class A activities and heads of Instcomm subcommittees, who exercise much more influence than should democratically be theirs.

The best remedy is to reduce the number of members from the latter two groups in accordance with the so-called Federation Plan, recommended by Instcomm four years ago.

The plan proposes the creation of a certain number of "activity federations"—publications, entertainment, athletics, and the like—each having one man on Instcomm. The Instcomm subcommittees would be collectively represented by one man, except for the Finance Committee and what is now the Secretariat, who would have one member apiece.

This seems to us the only way of assuring fair representation short of inflating Instcomm to unwieldy size by increasing the number of elected members.

The changes proposed above take time to study, and should therefore be considered as soon as possible; if adopted, there would then be enough time to put them into effect.

DISCRIMINATION?

To the Editor of THE TECH:

I should like to point out that I have nothing against the Association or the faith it upholds. I simply think that it is very unfair to give one religious organization a chance to

Softball League Playoffs Begin

Nine league champions have been crowned and will begin the double-elimination playoff tournament this afternoon on Briggs Field. The Huskies established themselves as the team to beat by slaughtering four straight opponents. They stopped defending league champion Sigma Nu by a lopsided 15-1 score after topping Student House 15-2. Only one league ended in a tie, and Alpha Epsilon Pi won the playoff against Pi Lambda Phi by a 6-5 count. Phi Mu Delta was the only team to defeat a league champion, and they smashed SAE by scoring 22 runs in the second inning as third-baseman Joe Miller banged out three home runs good for eight runs in that wild inning. The final score was 27-15, but SAE, with only this one loss, won league five anyway. East Campus won the big game from Kappa Sigma last weekend, 14-6, and so finished undefeated. Alpha Tau Omega, Graduate House No. 1, Westgate, Phi Delta Theta, and Theta Delta Chi also won four straight games to qualify for the playoffs. The honor of highest-scoring team goes to Sigma Chi, which scored 84 runs in four games, 46 of these coming in one game. The Huskies crossed the plate 75 times in their quartet of contests, and their defense took honor by allowing only 11 runs. Theta Delta Chi let in only 13 runs in three games, and Grad House No. 1 gave up only eight in two matches.

SAE Outpoints Baker To Take Track Title

On a cloudy and cool day last Sunday, Sigma Alpha Epsilon virtually clinched the all-sports trophy by scoring more points than all the other teams combined in winning the intramural track meet. Taking six first places in seven events, SAE scored 45½ points to top their closest rival this year, Baker House, by a sizeable margin. Ted Uhler of Baker House won the shot put, finished third in the broad jump, and tied for third in the high jump to win individual honors. Jim Stolley of SAE won the high jump with a 5'10" leap, and also ran on both winning relay teams. Other individual stars were Bill Mueser, who won the 100-yard dash, and Sinclair Buckstaff, winner of the 440-yard dash. Both men ran on a winning relay team. Guy Peverley came in first in the broad jump and tied for third in the high jump. Bad Weather Fools Attendance The weather kept most of the teams away; in fact, only three groups sent squads to the meet, and only SAE placed in all the events. The winners and Kappa Sigma were the only two entries in the relay events. Any other group sending a full squad to the meet could have finished in fourth place regardless of the personnel used.

2. Baker House	20½
3. Kappa Sigma	15½

primarily with the workshop on peace, constantly argued that peace was impossible without socialism. This combined walkout on the part of both "left" and "right" factions surprised the delegates present and those people who were watching the outcome of the conference with interest. The walkout prevented discussion on the remaining resolution of the peace workshop which included proposals urging the representation of the People's Republic of China in the U. N., immediate cessation of hostilities in Korea, and the withdrawal of all foreign troops with the conclusion of a truce. The workshop also suggested that the conference oppose U. S. aid to the Franco and Malan governments. Nothing at all was said about academic freedom.

After the walkout, ensuing discussion centered on the necessity of continuing the conference with these dissenting members present, but attempts to bring them back failed. The chairman of the Sunday session was a member of the Chicago group, and he left the meeting with them. The conference had no other course but to officially adopt those resolutions which had been passed and to elect "a continuation committee" to prepare for a second and longer meeting which might settle the differences which arose. According to Elliott Lieb, '53, the conference was not intended to "force the adoption of unpalatable ideas." Some students felt that the conference did achieve its goal by providing a focal point for student interest while others felt that a significant segment of student opinion walked out with the Chicago group even though they were small in number,

Atomic Age Talks Here—June 16, 17

The risk of atomic attack on the United States is such that we must consider all economic steps that will minimize damage to both present and future structures, Dr. Robert J. Hansen, Associate Professor of Structural Engineering at the Institute, said yesterday in announcing final plans for a conference on building in the atomic age to be held at the Institute on June 16 and 17.

"Popular conceptions of the atomic bomb," said Dr. Hansen, chairman for the conference, "have created an idea in the minds of many that its effects are nearly irresistible. Actually, important increased resistance can be added for moderate increase in cost."

The conference will present the latest available knowledge on the effects of atomic bombs and on the design of structures for resistance to large blasts. In addition, discussions will be held on the important economic aspects of blast resistant design and of the necessity for dispersion as a national policy.

and that to say the conference achieved unity is to hide the fact that unity was achieved only among people who essentially agreed beforehand.

The New England Regional Conference held its third meeting last night and the six delegates to the Madison session reported their personal impression of events there.

were taken into custody. Others came with us so that all of the blame would not be placed on a few." The group was then taken to Cambridge police headquarters and booked on charges of disturbing the peace. Of the seventeen arrested, sixteen were released on $25 bail each, the other spending the night in jail. Two Harvard University students, who had been bringing home two Radcliffe girls, were also arrested and taken to headquarters but later released.

Fassett Appears

At police headquarters the next morning, Dean Fassett entered a plea of leniency on behalf of the students. With one exception, the students all pleaded guilty to the charge of disturbing the peace. According to Boquist, however, there had been very little noise or commotion of any kind at Radcliffe, and the students have obtained signed statements from people living in the vicinity that they were not disturbed in any way by the group.

While the group was still at police headquarters, one of the police officers present asked for a complaint against Dean Fassett, also on the charge of disturbing the peace. The officer said that in his opinion, Dean Fassett had "incited" the students. The court issued the complaint. President James R. Killian, Jr., has issued a statement defending the dean as a man of "unimpeachable character," and saying that the only explanation of the affair was that it was a case of mistaken identity.
