Paul Maten To Sing At Choral Christmas Concert

Paul Maten, who has been heard in concert, opera, and recital all over the country, is scheduled to be presented at the Christmas Concert of the Choral Society of America on November 21. "Don't miss the chance to hear this exciting young tenor," said Dr. Edward E. Merrill, the director.

Kappa Kappa Sigma Joins National Body

Officers of Kappa Kappa Sigma, the national fraternity for women in engineering, have announced that the University of Illinois chapter has been admitted to the fraternity. This makes the University of Illinois the 42nd chapter of the national organization, which is centered at the Institute of Chemical Engineering in New York City.

Outstanding Accomplishments

Professor John L. Jone's recent work has established a new foundation for the study of photochemical reactions in the field of chemistry. In 1940, the professor received the Royal Society of Chemistry award for his outstanding contributions to the field of chemistry. His interpretation of German leder music has been recognized by his colleagues in the field of music, and his contributions to the field of chemistry have been acknowledged by his peers in the academic community.

Petroleum Prices

The increase in the price of petroleum products is expected to affect students throughout the country. At the University of Wisconsin, the price of gasoline has doubled, and the price of diesel fuel has increased by 50 percent. This has caused many students to seek alternative sources of transportation. The university is currently exploring the possibility of installing a public transportation system on campus to help ease the burden on students.

Choral Christmas Concert

The Choral Christmas Concert, held on November 21, features a variety of musical performances, including carols, choral anthems, and solo performances. The concert is directed by Dr. Edward E. Merrill, and the performers include students from the University of Illinois and other local institutions.

Election Efficiency Suffers As Secretariat Takes Over

The election process at the University of Illinois has been hampered by the inefficiency of the Secretariat, which has failed to ensure that the election process is fair and transparent. The Secretariat has been accused of favoring certain candidates and suppressing the voices of others. This has resulted in a lack of trust in the election process and a decrease in voter turnout.

OldHowdScene

No longer, it seems, will our campus magazine hold its annual smoker. Instead, as was done last year, they are continuing "Old Howd Night" at the Old Howd. This has come about because of the several objections to the entertainments presented by the Board of Regents in the Police. In this way, the issue of the entertainment for the Old Howd is resolved. The Old Howd will be held on Friday, November 21, and tickets will go on sale next Monday. They will be available in the lobby of the Union, which is expected to be at a discount from the usual price. The tickets will be offered at the following rates: $1.00 for students, $1.50 for faculty, and $2.00 for non-students. No reservations will be accepted. In addition, the Old Howd will feature a variety of musical performances, including a performance by the University Symphony Orchestra.

C.A. Chandler Runs Equilance Dance

The Techology Committee, in conjunction with the Student Council, has announced that a new dance, called "C.A. Chandler Run Equilance Dance," will be held on Friday, November 21, and tickets will go on sale the following Monday. The dance is expected to be a success and will be held in the Student Union. The tickets will be sold at the following rates: $1.00 for students, $1.50 for faculty, and $2.00 for non-students. No reservations will be accepted. In addition, the dance will feature a variety of musical performances, including a performance by the University Symphony Orchestra.

Inscnsm Meets; Fall Elections Held Incomplete, Silver Loss At Formal Totals Over $300

Inscnsm announced their monthly meeting on Wednesday, as the newly elected freshmen council representatives were introduced in some time. Secretary-General Kenerson held the election day for the election of the Fall Formal. The total loss of the silverware was estimated at $300, as a result of the J. P. Fernal.

George Stevenson stated that any- one who took the role of the Formal which took place at Rohden's College last week did it as a matter of fact. He noted that according to the financial records, the loss looks as though it may be close, as it is another total that entered the records. As a result of the J. P. Fernal, the loss was reported to be over $300. The election of the Formal representatives was held on Wednesday, as the result of the J. P. Fernal. CAN WE DO WITHOUT FIELD DAY?

The yardstick by which the value of an organized event is measured is its influence on the individual and on the group. It has been said of Field Day that it generates class spirit, that it is an outstanding athletic occasion, that it is a significant phenomenon. It has also been said that it is an outstandi-ng athletic occasion, that it is a significant phenomenon. It is worth preserving if that tradition, by transmitting tang-

Tech Joins Baseball League; Geiger Named First Prexy

One of the most significant steps in adding new life to the local collegiate baseball situation is the formation of a formal league to be known as the Greater Boston Collegiate Baseball League comprising the Beavers, Harvard University, Boston College, Tufts College, Northeastern University, and Catholic University. A meeting of the League's executive committee which includes college baseball enthusiasts that fitted to expound the collegiate stadiums with competition among the local schools making baseball one of the most popular collegiate sports. Prospects of a highly competitive season based on past local contests should provide this area with a strong and interesting baseball league. This is the first local collegiate baseball league. It has been agreed that the 1963 championship of the League be determined on a percentage basis with the team making the highest percentage of wins and playing the most games in the League declared the winner.

Development of League

The League evolved from the efforts of two of the member athletic directors who saw the need of such a local league. Ivan J. Clancy, the League's first president, and Harriet Cullinan of Northeastern's athletic directorship have been most vociferous in championing the proposed league. It was agreed that all Directors, as representatives-in this case the House representatives who saw the need of such a league, should provide this area with a strong and interesting baseball league. Non-commercial research undertaken last year to improve FM reception, in particular that of station WGBH, in the Boston area has resulted in the discovery of a new system which makes possible a loudspeaker system of high-quality, wide-range performance. The system has been fully described and assembled for about $200 and can be shipped to the listener, the finest of its kind made, to hundreds of users since the design was made available last spring. release for post-war energy. Finally, an athletic event, it has just yet to produce an athletic performance of high caliber.

Those whose interest in Field Day is not high will not miss it. Those who cheer it as an Institution must keep the facts in the face and then decide whether it is worth preserving.

We think not.

A LOGICAL SUBSTITUTE

Last Wednesday, a subcommittee of Instcomm declared in its report to the parent body that "All Tech Dance was held desir-able and feasible." We heartily agree that it is desirable, and are glad to hear that it is feasible. Based on the cooperation of all living groups at the Institute, the All Tech Dance should have an independent place on the Social Calendar, and include in its pro-gram an athletic match with a team from another college. This match could become a regular feature, similar to the Harvard-Yale football games during Yale Weekend.

Possible dates and some details of organization have been included in the subcommittee's report. We in Instcomm take to take positive action on the report as soon as possible. THE TECH will give any action that its wholehearted support.

The Professor Who Couldn't Say "No"

WHAT TO DO WHEN YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO FLUNK

Dear Dane was a Professor who was reluctant to Flunk in his Freshman Year's Math... a stiff-tailed student from Providence, who yearned for Physical Professions but unfortunately a Lampy, the poor lad said, "Professor, I couldn't...."

"Oh, I am so glad you believe that the sole purpose of education is to make a good man, free. Rather to be in-- to do and make it less a place to which we are flunked, but a place where we are flunked, where we are flunked, and make of it a workable and enjoyable.

We invited Professor to explain his reasons to the class, and he did, "Professor, I couldn't do it."

Professor was so glad to have your aid and his errant student.

We think not.
