Comm Meets, Discusses International Festival

The International Festival in held on campus some time next semester, people discussed in Sunday night's Executives Committee meeting. The festival, to be the result of a series of administrative changes that day, will be the first of its kind at the Institute. The plans for the festival will be to be elaborated on by the Executives Committee meeting on May 17. A tentative date for the festival was suggested perhaps February 12 and the Boston Symphony Orchestra will be invited to participate.

It was also suggested that perhaps a speaker on the theme of "The Artist as Engineer" would include a "Symphony of Science" with a foreign flavor. As an example of what is meant by a "Symphony of Science" it was suggested that perhaps Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops Orchestra might be invited to participate.

MIT Music Clubs Featured At Pops

Next Sunday night, May 15, a well-known and familiar event will be continued, the Boston Pops Orchestra and the MIT Glee Club and Choral Society will present "Festival at the Pops." The sponsorship of the MIT Glee Club included on the program for the evening are songs selected from "Kluge's Wagnerian Dream," "The Old Swiss City," "Juno and Jupiter," "The Emperor Waltz," "Song of the Polka," and "The Song of the Pioneers." The concert will also feature "Brothers Sing On" by M. J. D. It will be conducted by Mr. Howard Arlin, director of the Institute Band.

Said President John Bristow that "the opportunity to present the Institute Band and Glee Club in the Pops concert is a great privilege." The Institute Band has been invited to participate in future Pops concerts.

Concert Band Presents Biggest Venture; Performs Friday In Dedication Festival

The Tech

The MIT Concert Band, under the direction of William Skufica, will perform the season's last big and biggest of a series of original band music. The concert will be the band's share in the festivities surrounding the dedication of the new Music Building. The concert, scheduled for May 22 at 8:00 p.m., will consist of a variety of music, ranging from classical to modern, and will feature the largest and most diverse program of the season.

As the concert approaches, the band is hard at work preparing for the event. The students involved are working long hours, practicing tirelessly to perfect their performances. The dedication concert is a significant moment for the band, as it marks the culmination of their hard work and dedication throughout the year.

Stamp Collection Now On Exhibition

An outstanding collection of United States postage stamps, the gift of President Henry Kravis and his wife, has been installed on the lobby of the Auditorium. During the day's proceedings, the Stamp Collection will be presented as part of the role of the novel auditorium and classroom buildings in the search for new ideas.

The program, coordinated by Bruce Blank, architect of MIT's new master plan, will open with an introduction by President Kravis. The program will include a presentation of the stamp collection, followed by a panel discussion on the role of postage stamps in art and culture. The discussion will be moderated by a noted philatelist, with panelists including a stamp dealer, a historian, and an artist.

The program will conclude with a reception and viewing of the stamp collection. The event is open to the public, and admission is free. A limited number of stamped envelopes will be available for attendees to fill out and mail.

Frosh Heavies Win: JV's Second
Three Lightweight Crews Second

The weekend the Frosh crews came off the Charles River, the George Owen Trophy, symbolic of the Eastern Championships, was awarded to the winners. Light, sudden winds and rain squalls plagued the race, but the Frosh crews held their own and won the event.

The victory came after a quick score and then a "freeze." Everything went according to plan as "Leaky" Dyke scored in the first 37 seconds. Then "dual" right back, and yet a climber into the nets at 5:15 of the ten minute overtime period for his third goal of the day. Amherst was still very much in the game as Flemna came back from a 3-2 deficit to close the gap to 7-6. Tech kept the ball tied up for the rest of the overtime period, and the game was there. The win brought the Beaver's intercollegiate record to three wins and three defeats. The team travels to Wednesday and then competes at Stingray at Briggs's Field on Saturday afternoon. Amherst was clincher into the nets at 3:13 of the period. Ed Hassel

UCC Holds Dedication Service

On Thursday, May 12, 1955, at 5:10 P.M., the United Christian Council of MIT will conduct a service dedicating their use of the Chapel. Dr. Theodore P. Ferris, Pastor of Trinity Church, Boston, and member of the Corporation, will preach the sermon. Dr. John Goodenough, faculty resident on Kent Campus, and Roswell Hobbs, '56, will assist in the service. George Paxton of Trinity Church and head of the Organ Department of New England Conservatory of Music will play.

Tickets have been issued in order that all official delegations may be assured seats. These tickets are being distributed to members of the faculty, administration and student government, and to students and ministers through the various members of the United Christian Council. The doors will be opened to the public at 5:00 P.M., after that time no tickets will be necessary for admission, and holding a ticket will no longer assure the bearer a seat.

The United Christian Council is made up of representatives from the various Protestant and Orthodox Christian groups in the MIT Community; the organization was formerly known as POHOD.
